U.S. Agrees To British Demand

Washington (AP) —The United States surrendered to British demands Tuesday and cleared the way for U.S. airlines to increase round-trip jet economy (tourist) fares across the Atlantic 5% — matching an increase already imposed by financially troubled European carriers.

The Civil Aeronautics Board announced it is modifying its previous position opposing the increase at the recommendation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

This was done by notifying the two affected U.S. companies — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines — that they should not subject themselves to "penalties for the violation of laws and regulations of foreign countries."

Threatened

The British had threatened to cancel U.S. landing rights in Britain and seize U.S. planes landing there if the United States did not join in the increase.

Pan Am and TWA said they expect to post the fare increases after giving legal study to the CAB letter.

However, Pan Am said it planned to continue existing rates for the next several days "until the situation clarifies." TWA likewise seemed in no hurry to act.

The U.S. capitulation does not mean the bitter dispute is completely settled, however, or that the United States is abandoning is opposition.

Don't Think

"I don't think we'll give up," a State Department official said.

He indicated that for the time being there is not much the United States can do until enactment of legislation the White House has drafted for Congress.

It would give the Civil Aeronautics Board the right to regulate international air fares of U.S. carriers — authority it does not have now —and put it in a strong bargaining position to retaliate against any foreign nation's cancellation of U.S. rights.

Opposition flared to the U.S. backdown on Capitol Hill. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, issued a statement saying:

"The State Department has now surrendered the interests of United States flag airlines and their stockholders and the American traveling public, which constitutes more than half of the transatlantic air passengers."

Dictation

Celler said the United States had given in to "British dictation." He termed this regrettable.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee called the reasons for backing down "completely unfathomable."

"We were bargaining from a position of strength and we reacted to foreign threats by backing against a wall that was never there and completely capitulating without a fight," he said.

Estimated

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., chairman of the Senate Aviation Subcommittee, expressed dismay.

Health Dept. Asks 1-Plant Milk Ruling

The Health Department has asked the City Legal Department for an opinion on the legality of processing both Grade A and ungraded milk in one plant, Director George R. Underwood told the City-County Health Board Tuesday.

Dr. Underwood said a previous opinion had ruled it legal under Lincoln's ordinances, but that the city of Omaha was prohibiting such processing under an ordinance similar to Lincoln's.

He said interpretation of the law hinged on a "semantic" problem.

Lincoln Dairy Co.

Dr. Underwood told The Star the only dairy processing both kinds of milk here is the Lincoln Dairy Co.

The Health Board approved a leave of absence for a graduate nurse, Grade I, Miss Ida Reichardt, to work on a degree in public-health nursing at the University of Minnesota and okayed the resignation of Mrs. Betty Knaub, a graduate nurse, as of June 1, 1963.

It also approved April expenditures totalling $16,030.99 and okayed the purchase of a new one-ton air-conditioner for the second floor at the Health Department, 935 R, to replace one needing repairs.

ETV Network Still Stuck In Committee

Legislation to establish a statewide educational television network remained stuck in the Education Committee Tuesday when a motion to advance attracted but two favorable votes.

Four ayes are necessary to send a bill to the floor of the Legislature.

Two committee members were absent when the vote was taken, and indications are that they will provide the required majority vote when the committee meets again Thursday at 8 a.m.

Companion Issues

At issue are LB666 and LB667, companion bills to create an educational television commission and finance establishment of a statewide network.

According to present financing provisions, the ETV network would be funded from the general fund in an amount recommended by the Budget Committe and as appropriated by the Legislature.

A motion Tuesday to provide that the network be financed only by revenue derived from a state income tax failed when it received but one vote.

The committee previously knocked out provisions for a special property tax levy.

LB667 was amended so as to allow the commission to contract with common carriers—telephone companies—to provide interconnecting channels between broadcasting towers.

The amendment does not tie the state to any future commitments.

Other amendments include a prohibitnon against broadcasting of "propaganda or attempts to influence legislation."

In-class telecasts will be available to schools and colleges "on the basis of the actual cost of production, exclusive of general overhead expense."

Motion to advance failed 2-1, with two not voting and two absent.

Minow Quits FCC Post

. . . KENNEDY TABS HENRY TO FILL SPOT

Washington (UPI)—Newton N. Minow, who shook the broadcasting industry with his complaint that television is a "vast wasteland," resigned Tuesday as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Now 37, Minow told President Kennedy he was quitting his stormy, two-year battle to improve the quality of television and radio programs to return to Chicago to "work in the field of developing new educational materials."

Encyclopaedia Britannica announced that Minow is becoming executive vice president and general counsel of the reference book firm.

Maurice B. Mitchell, Britannica president, said Minow "has agreed to join the administrative group at Encyclopaedia Britannica."

The President, accepting Minow's resignation "with reluctance" and with praise for his "impressive results," appointed E. William Henry, 34-year-old FCC commissioner, to succeed Minow.

Henry, a Memphis, Tenn., lawyer appointed to the FCC only last August, has indicated in recent speeches he follows Minow's belief that the FCC should not be neutral but a "positive and affirmative" force in protecting the public interest in broadcasting.

In its current issue, Broadcast Magazine quoted Minow as saying "you ain't seen nothing yet," and added that broadcasters may look back on Minow's regime "as one of benevolence."

Asked whether he would continue to follow Minow's "tough line," Henry replied: "I suppose that is going to be the usual tag put on it, at least in the beginning. I hope I can be successful in the way Mr. Minow has been successful."

Minow told the president in a letter dated May 1 that many of the goals he had set when he took office March 2, 1961, had been reached.

Most of all, he said, "there is a greater awareness on the part of the public and the broadcasting industry of the massive responsibilities of broadcasters to serve the public interest."

"By no means do I consider the job done," he added, "it never will be. But the goals I came here to serve have been well advanced."

Minow cited the U.S. lead in communications satellites, the increase in the number of educational television stations, a more effective FCC, the use of ultra-high frequency channels for greater diversity in television service and reduced interstate telephone rates.

Minow's resignation followed a broadcasting magazine report he would quit in May. Asked about the report three months ago, Minow said it was "wishful thinking."

To take Henry's seat as commissioner, the President named Assistant Atty. Gen. Lee Loevinger, head of the Justice Department's anti-trust division. William H. Orrick Jr., deputy undersecretary of state for administration, will be named to succeed Loevinger, the White House said.

After Faulty Radar Fixed

. . . WEATHER LOOKS GOOD

By ARTHUR EDSON

Cape Canaveral, Fla (AP)—A new "final" countdown was underway early Wednesday leading up to another attempt to launch astronaut Gordon Cooper on 22 orbits of the earth.

Cooper, who got within a dramatic 13 minutes of blast-off time Tuesday was scheduled to make the second effort between 7 and 9:30 a.m. CST Wednesday.

Space officials announced once more they are certain everything is ready. The weather was pronounced favorable in likely landing areas around the globe, including the spot 80 miles southeast of Midway Island in the Pacific, where Cooper would come to earth after a successful 34-hour flight.

The faulty radar computer system, which played hob with the flight Tuesday when everything looked so fine, has been repaired and tested.

Relaxed

The astronaut spent a relaxing afternoon Tuesday after his long wait in the earth-bound spaceship.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said Cooper spent part of the afternoon in a boat off Cape Canaveral, where he fished and napped.

"Typical fisherman's luck," Cooper was reported to have said. "No fish."

Companions

Cooper's fishing companions were Walter C. Williams, Project Mercury operations director, and his fellow astronauts Walter Schirra and Donald Slayton.

A data system connected with a radar station in Bermuda caused Tuesday's postponement, and naturally there was disappointment.

Realistic

"This was a very realistic simulation," he said. "I was just getting to the real fun part . . . we'll try again Wednesday."

Out in Tecumseh, Okla., his mother, Mrs. Hattie Cooper, was a bit more eloquent.

"That poor little fellow," she said. "Oh, I know he's disappointed."

Disappointment

"Just a disappointment," Mrs. Trudy Cooper said.

And that it was, particularly since until this surprising (to the public) announcement was made, you couldn't have asked for a prettier picture.

The weather, which had been watched so suspiciously, was lovely.

Engine Fixed

And a balky diesel engine, which had stalled the flight for an annoying, suspenseful 2 hours and 9 minutes had finally been fixed.

The liquid oxygen was in the monster's tanks.

And then—

With scarcely a previous hint that any more trouble was brewing, the stunning word came: It's all off.

Data Useless

The computing system had become so rickety the data it was sending in was useless. This data is necessary to determine whether all is well as the capsule reaches the critical point of going into orbit.

Williams said:

"We could not, we would not go without it."

Chief engineer Dalton Webb said from Hamilton, Bermuda:

"The fault occurred early and not at the last moment and related to a small part of the complex equipment."

And here at the Cape Arthur Brittingham, RCA radar expert, put it this way:

"All we knew was, we were getting bad data. That was the problem. If we knew what the trouble was, we would have fixed it."

Looking back now, it seems incredible that for most of the anxious morning no one, except the space experts themselves, was thinking about a data breakdown in far-off Bermuda.

No, the problem seemed simple, infuriatingly simple.

Embarrassing

At 7 a.m. space officials' faces turned as embarrassingly red as the early morning sun.

Heavens to Betsy! These scientific wonder boys, who can figure to a split second where a space craft should be 34 hours after takeoff, suddenly found themselves stymied with a problem familiar to all owners of a power lawnmower.

Cooper's mother, once more, put it neatly.

"Maybe they can get a good mechanic," she said, "and get it up after all."

Veteran space flight watchers dipped deep into their memories. Not one could recall anything like this.

But at last the trouble was solved. It was nothing but a bad fuel pump. And the gantry was pulled away, to permit the launch vehicle, with space capsule on its top, to stand there, naked and poised for the great adventure.

Other astronauts have been locked into place before, only to meet with disappointment. But in their cases it was obvious to all that trouble was brewing.

Cooper was like a bridegroom, deserted at the altar just as the services were starting.

But he was ready for more. His only complaint: "I was a little bit tired" from staying in one position for so long.

Soviet Trawlers Didn't Linger At Cape Canaveral

Miami (UPI) — Three Russian fishing trawlers were spotted off the Florida coast Tuesday, but the Coast Guard said the vessels kept moving and "were not hanging around Cape Canaveral or anywhere else."

A spokesman said all 3 of the ships were beyond the 3-mile limit proceeding southward toward Cuba at a normal speed.

The Coast Guard said "at least 30 Russian trawlers have used this route to Cuba in recent weeks"and that there was no cause for alarm.

Earlier, Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla, told House colleagues in Washington he had been tipped two Russian fishing trawlers, loaded with antennae and radar, were located in U.S. territorial waters off south Florida. His presumption was they were there to observe the aborted space shot.

Storm Causes Heavy Damage

By TOM PERRY
Star Staff Writer

Heavy rain, high winds and large hail whipped Lincoln and other Nebraska communities Tuesday night, causing considerable damage.

Largest loss seemed to be at Dorsey Laboratories at U.S. 6 and Interstate 80, where wind and water damage may run as high as $20,000, according to Vice President Charles L. Boswell.

About 4,000 square feet of the office wing's roof was blown off and rain fell in on office equipment.

Some windows in the cafeteria were broken.

Safety Patrol headquarters in Lincoln said considerable water and wind damage was done to the Seward home of Trooper Don Krull.

Planes Damaged

Slight damage to several planes tied on the flight line at Union Airport was reported by a Lincoln Aviation Institute employe, who told The Star that one plane was torn loose from its moorings during the first onslaught of wind. It was retied during a lull without damage, he said.

Some wires were down around town and some traffic lights put out of order during the storm. Signals at 9th and 10th and Van Dorn were out for over an hour.

At Lincoln Air Force Base, Hangar No. 959 was evacuated during the storm as a precautionary measure. The hangar had previously been evacuated when a similar one collapsed recently, but it had been put into service again.

Baseball-Size Hail

Large hail was seen by many Lincoln residents. After the first part of the storm, a number reported hail the size of baseballs, lemons and golf balls. In northeast Lincoln it seems to have been smaller—"about the size of marbles," according to one observer.

Tornadoes were seen in the vicinity of Seward, but apparently did not touch ground.

The State Safety Patrol reported trees down near Raymond and Agnew and on U.S. 6 west of the Pleasant Dale corner, and the Grand Island police said trees there were blown down.

Nebraska 2 was covered with about a foot of mud some 6 miles west of Nebraska City for the distance of 6 car lengths. The patrol said no highways were rendered impassable by the storm, however.

Ruhnke Queries Cities, Utilities

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth Tuesday mailed questionnaires to 89 public power utilities and municipalities requesting their views on future legislative action in the power field.

Ruhnke's action followed 41-0 enactment of LB220, creating a Nebraska Power Review Board to help settle the state's power difficulties.

"My purpose in mailing these letters is to see just what the industry thinks LB220 will do," Ruhnke told The Star.

"I would also like to know what more they would like to do, if anything."

Ruhnke asked in his letter that utility boards take a position on a number of questions, and reply by June 1 if possible.

"Interested legislators will summarize the replies to see what action the industry believes is desirable since LB600, LB476, LB483 and LB181 have been indefinitely postponed," the senator wrote.

Those 4 measures were all generation and transmission reorganization proposals killed by the Public Works Committee. LB600 was revived by the Legislature, but was dead again 24 hours later.

Ruhnke's questions:

1. Does your district believe that if LB220 passes in its present form that it will be all the legislation needed to solve the problems in the fields of generation, transmission and retailing of electricity?

2. If the answers is no, would your district suggest any of the following:

a. Does your district favor a committee of the industry similar to that set up under LB605 in the 1961 session?

b. Does your district favor a study of a Legislative Council committee during the interim?

c. Does your district favor having an outstate individual or firm study the entire alignment of generation, transmission and distribution districts in Nebraska?

d. Would your district be willing to pay its share of the cost?

—AIR FARE HIKE OKAYED—

U.S. Agrees To British Demand

Washington (AP) —The United States surrendered to British demands Tuesday and cleared the way for U.S. airlines to increase round-trip jet economy (tourist) fares across the Atlantic 5% — matching an increase already imposed by financially troubled European carriers.

The Civil Aeronautics Board announced it is modifying its previous position opposing the increase at the recommendation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

This was done by notifying the two affected U.S. companies — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines — that they should not subject themselves to "penalties for the violation of laws and regulations of foreign countries."

Threatened

The British had threatened to cancel U.S. landing rights in Britain and seize U.S. planes landing there if the United States did not join in the increase.

Pan Am and TWA said they expect to post the fare increases after giving legal study to the CAB letter.

However, Pan Am said it planned to continue existing rates for the next several days "until the situation clarifies." TWA likewise seemed in no hurry to act.

The U.S. capitulation does not mean the bitter dispute is completely settled, however, or that the United States is abandoning is opposition.

Don't Think

"I don't think we'll give up," a State Department official said.

He indicated that for the time being there is not much the United States can do until enactment of legislation the White House has drafted for Congress.

It would give the Civil Aeronautics Board the right to regulate international air fares of U.S. carriers — authority it does not have now —and put it in a strong bargaining position to retaliate against any foreign nation's cancellation of U.S. rights.

Opposition flared to the U.S. backdown on Capitol Hill. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, issued a statement saying:

"The State Department has now surrendered the interests of United States flag airlines and their stockholders and the American traveling public, which constitutes more than half of the transatlantic air passengers."

Dictation

Celler said the United States had given in to "British dictation." He termed this regrettable.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee called the reasons for backing down "completely unfathomable."

"We were bargaining from a position of strength and we reacted to foreign threats by backing against a wall that was never there and completely capitulating without a fight," he said.

Estimated

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., chairman of the Senate Aviation Subcommittee, expressed dismay.

Health Dept. Asks 1-Plant Milk Ruling

The Health Department has asked the City Legal Department for an opinion on the legality of processing both Grade A and ungraded milk in one plant, Director George R. Underwood told the City-County Health Board Tuesday.

Dr. Underwood said a previous opinion had ruled it legal under Lincoln's ordinances, but that the city of Omaha was prohibiting such processing under an ordinance similar to Lincoln's.

He said interpretation of the law hinged on a "semantic" problem.

Lincoln Dairy Co.

Dr. Underwood told The Star the only dairy processing both kinds of milk here is the Lincoln Dairy Co.

The Health Board approved a leave of absence for a graduate nurse, Grade I, Miss Ida Reichardt, to work on a degree in public-health nursing at the University of Minnesota and okayed the resignation of Mrs. Betty Knaub, a graduate nurse, as of June 1, 1963.

It also approved April expenditures totalling $16,030.99 and okayed the purchase of a new one-ton air-conditioner for the second floor at the Health Department, 935 R, to replace one needing repairs.

ETV Network Still Stuck In Committee

Legislation to establish a statewide educational television network remained stuck in the Education Committee Tuesday when a motion to advance attracted but two favorable votes.

Four ayes are necessary to send a bill to the floor of the Legislature.

Two committee members were absent when the vote was taken, and indications are that they will provide the required majority vote when the committee meets again Thursday at 8 a.m.

Companion Issues

At issue are LB666 and LB667, companion bills to create an educational television commission and finance establishment of a statewide network.

According to present financing provisions, the ETV network would be funded from the general fund in an amount recommended by the Budget Committe and as appropriated by the Legislature.

A motion Tuesday to provide that the network be financed only by revenue derived from a state income tax failed when it received but one vote.

The committee previously knocked out provisions for a special property tax levy.

LB667 was amended so as to allow the commission to contract with common carriers—telephone companies—to provide interconnecting channels between broadcasting towers.

The amendment does not tie the state to any future commitments.

Other amendments include a prohibitnon against broadcasting of "propaganda or attempts to influence legislation."

In-class telecasts will be available to schools and colleges "on the basis of the actual cost of production, exclusive of general overhead expense."

Motion to advance failed 2-1, with two not voting and two absent.

Minow Quits FCC Post

. . . KENNEDY TABS HENRY TO FILL SPOT

Washington (UPI)—Newton N. Minow, who shook the broadcasting industry with his complaint that television is a "vast wasteland," resigned Tuesday as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Now 37, Minow told President Kennedy he was quitting his stormy, two-year battle to improve the quality of television and radio programs to return to Chicago to "work in the field of developing new educational materials."

Encyclopaedia Britannica announced that Minow is becoming executive vice president and general counsel of the reference book firm.

Maurice B. Mitchell, Britannica president, said Minow "has agreed to join the administrative group at Encyclopaedia Britannica."

The President, accepting Minow's resignation "with reluctance" and with praise for his "impressive results," appointed E. William Henry, 34-year-old FCC commissioner, to succeed Minow.

Henry, a Memphis, Tenn., lawyer appointed to the FCC only last August, has indicated in recent speeches he follows Minow's belief that the FCC should not be neutral but a "positive and affirmative" force in protecting the public interest in broadcasting.

NEWTON W. MINOW

In its current issue, Broadcast Magazine quoted Minow as saying "you ain't seen nothing yet," and added that broadcasters may look back on Minow's regime "as one of benevolence."

Asked whether he would continue to follow Minow's "tough line," Henry replied: "I suppose that is going to be the usual tag put on it, at least in the beginning. I hope I can be successful in the way Mr. Minow has been successful."

Minow told the president in a letter dated May 1 that many of the goals he had set when he took office March 2, 1961, had been reached.

Most of all, he said, "there is a greater awareness on the part of the public and the broadcasting industry of the massive responsibilities of broadcasters to serve the public interest."

"By no means do I consider the job done," he added, "it never will be. But the goals I came here to serve have been well advanced."

Minow cited the U.S. lead in communications satellites, the increase in the number of educational television stations, a more effective FCC, the use of ultra-high frequency channels for greater diversity in television service and reduced interstate telephone rates.

Minow's resignation followed a broadcasting magazine report he would quit in May. Asked about the report three months ago, Minow said it was "wishful thinking."

To take Henry's seat as commissioner, the President named Assistant Atty. Gen. Lee Loevinger, head of the Justice Department's anti-trust division. William H. Orrick Jr., deputy undersecretary of state for administration, will be named to succeed Loevinger, the White House said.

Only 'Give--Take' Can Solve Rail Feud

Washington (AP)—A 3-man presidential panel said Tuesday only give-and-take bargaining can solve the railroad "featherbedding" dispute. It suggested a safety guideline for elimination of unneeded firemen—a major point in the controversy.

President Kennedy said "there is no time to be lost for completing their agreement in this critical dispute . . . the government stands ready to provide assistance if it is needed to help the parties reach a just and equitable settlement but the ultimate dependence must be upon their own efforts."

Panel chairman Samuel I. Rosenman said that unless a solution is found before June 12 only new legislation providing either for federal seizure or compulsory arbitration can head off a nationwide rail strike.

The railroads late Tuesday sent the heads of the 5 operating railroad brotherhoods a telegram inviting them to resume bargaining sessions in Washington Thursday morning.

By law, no strike can be called until 30 days after the presidential panel makes its report. The report went to the President Monday night and was made public Tuesday.

The railroads say outmoded work rules, some dating back half a century or so, cost them $600 million each year. They call these rules "featherbedding."

J. E. Wolfe of Chicago, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, said on behalf of management that "in accord with President Kennedy's plea, the railroads support the emergency board report."

He offered to start negotiations quickly and accepted the arbitration proposal.

"We sincerely hope the unions will join with us in a final solution of our differences as contemplated in this board report," Wolfe said.

Union spokesmen expressed hope that the board's findings could be "a useful aid" in reaching agreement to avert a possible national rail strike.

A joint statement in New York by the chiefs of 5 railroad unions said:

"It is not a matter of accepting or rejecting the report, but rather one of recognizing that the report can be a useful tool in the search for a fair and equitable settlement of all matters in dispute, which must be brought about through true collective bargaining."

LIQUOR LAW OF LAND IN IOWA

NU Journalists In First Again

Washington, D.C.—The University of Nebraska School of Journalism, for the second consecutive year, was recognized in White House ceremonies Tuesday for its number one ranking among the nation's accredited journalism schools.

President John F. Kennedy presented University officials with the first-place trophy of the 1963 William Randolph Hearst competition.

Accepting for the University were Dr. Ben Greenberg of York, president of the Board of Regents, Dr. William E. Hall, director of the School of Journalism, and Judy Harrington of Lincoln, a senior journalism student who won the individual second-place national award.

Dr. Hall and Miss Harrington will accept for the school the additional first place prize of $2,000 from the Hearst Foundation in New York Wednesday and will be guests of the Nebraska senatorial delegation

The students whose award-winning depth reporting articles were responsible for the school's first place honors are:

—Anda Anderson of Lincoln, a story on the Gresham bank embezzlement and the bank's subsequent failure, the human aspects of a community disaster that received attention over the entire country. Miss Anderson's second story on public power dealt with the conflicts in the area of distributing power to the retail customer.

—Norman Bealfs of Morrill, "Nebraska Football Fans in a Winning Year," dealing with the effect this had on the University and the state, a second story examining Nebraska's innovation in agricultural research and the men behind it.

—Cloyd Clark of Elwood, "The Teacher Who Flunked Red Grange," an entertaining story of a young English teacher who failed the famous football player in school.

—Donald Ferguson of North Platte, "Are Fraternities Dinosaurs?" This story, run in newspapers coast-to-coast, asked and tried to answer the question: "Can fraternities become contributing members of the modern academic community?"

—Judy Harrington of Lincoln, "The Plight of the Escaped Mental Inmate." This story told of inept law and its result on escaped mental inmates.

—Linda Jensen of Hastings, an editorial published in the Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper at the University. It was written in response to an attack on the Nebraskan's policies.

—Nancy Whitford Ostberg of Lincoln, formerly of Madison, "The Return of the Classics to the Classroom," a story telling of the renewed use of the classics of literature in the modern English classroom.

Dr. Hall explained that the stories this year were designed for regional interest —the midwest — instead of national interest.

This year's win against the nation's other accredited journalism schools was more decisive than last year's, Dr. Hall said

"While Nebraska edged the University of Kansas last year by 10 points, this year's margin over second-place University of Texas was 85 points."

Four Nebraska students, Miss Harrington, Miss Anderson, Beatty and Clark, placed individually in the top ten nationally on the basis of points won during the 7 months of competition. Seven Nebraska students this year scored at least once in the monthly competitions as opposed to 4 last year.

The winners came from a class in depth reporting taught by Prof. R. Neale Copple, started 3 years ago to upgrade the quality of newswriting instruction. Prof Copple also credited the students' training in other journalism courses and in College of Arts and Sciences courses.

Articles written by the depth-reporting students have all been published, and have resulted in money awards to the school and the students in excess of $20,000.

Prof. Copple noted the importance of financial assistance for the program from the Newspaper Fund Inc. of the Wall Street Journal and the Reader's Digest Foundation.

Dr. Hall also praised the support of newspapers in Nebraska for their scholarships, summer internships and opportunity for students to take part in field trips.

OK Given To Ground Water Bill

A bill known as the "City, Village and Municipal Corporation Ground Water Permit Act" received 5-0 approval of the Legislature's Public Works Committee Tuesday and was sent to the floor for further action.

The bill, LB769, introduced by the committee, was said to represent compromise between irrigators and urban representatives on legislation relating to municipal use of ground water.

Also reported out, in amended form, was a bill sought by the Kansas-Nebraska Gas Co. to enable it to acquire the Big Springs gas field for underground storage of gas reserves. The measure, LB335, was sent to the floor on a 7-0 vote.

Introduced by Sens. Richard D. Marvel of Hastings and Cecil Craft of North Platte, LB335 sets up circumstances under which a gas utility can exercise eminent domain to acquire underground storage.

The committee on a 6-0 vote killed LB121, authorizing county boards to regulate and control traffic on county roads. The bill had been introduced by Sens. William Moulton of Omaha and Matt Wylie of Elgin.

Redistricting Bill Error Correction Is Introduced

A new bill correcting an error in the Legislative redistricting bill already passed into law was introduced in the Legislature Tuesday as the 796th measure of the session.

The government and Military Affairs Committee brought in the measure after Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett last week called attention to the fact that an error in the earlier bill inadvertently orphaned about 30 acres in the Omaha area, leaving it out of any legislative district.

The original bill, LB629, increased the size of the Unicameral from 43 to 49 members and for the first time gave formal recognition to area as a factor in apportionment.

The new corrective bill was placed directly on general file without the customary public hearing.

BIRMINGHAM'S ATMOSPHERE 'IMPROVING'

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI) — Federal observers said Tuesday Birmingham's racial atmosphere is "improving," but that troops will remain because there still is the chance of trouble developing quickly."

The only incident Tuesday involved a lone picket who turned up outside the building where the Army has set up a command post near the Negro section.

Police arrested the demonstrator, identified as Jerry Dutton, a member of the National States Rights Party, and charged him with parading without a permit.

He carried a sign which read: "Invade Cuba, not Alabama," and "JFK uses troops to capture bloc vote in '64."

President Kennedy ordered 3,000 troops trained in riot tactics into the vicinity of Birmingham Sunday night following a pre-dawn riot that resulted in 22 injuries and saw almost an entire city block burned.

The riot was touched off by two racial bombings that came shortly after an unofficial committee representing the city's business men had worked out an integration agreement with Negroes. City officials, who took no part in the negotiations, have said repeatedly they are not bound by the agreement.

Both sides have pledged that despite the violence they will honor the agreement, which provides for the integration of facilities at downtown variety and department stores, an upgrading of job opportunities for Negroes and establishment of "communications" between whites and Negroes.

A 60-90 day deadline was set on most points, and businessmen apparently are waiting for a further easing of tensions before attempting to implement any of the changes. No start in that direction has yet been made

Burke Marshall, the Justice Department's top expert in the civil rights field, returned to Washington earlier in the day to give Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy a first hand report of the situation here.

Another department official, Edwin Guthman, told newsmen:

"Mr. Marshall's feeling is that the atmosphere is improving."

Guthman said before departing Marshall held "a number of conversations with a number of people . . . and was confident city police and county authorities can keep order . . . "

Guthman would not disclose the names of those with whom Marshall talked.

Newsmen asked Guthman for comment on Alabama Gov. George C Wallace's statement indicating he would seek a court injunction to force troops out of the state:

"I think it is rather obvious the President has the authority to move troops from one base to another," Guthman said.

FOREIGN STUDENTS BEATEN BY CZECHS

Vienna (UPI) — Czech youths beat up African and Middle Eastern students and slashed the tires of an African diplomat's car in a series of incidents in Prague last Saturday, according to reliable reports reaching Vienna Tuesday.

The reports said a mob of about 300 Czechs ganged up on two students from Africa and the Middle East around mid-day in Prague's downtown Wenceslas Square near the Hoael Ambassador.

The students were beaten for 15 minutes, the reports said. Czech police did not intervene. The reason for the incident was not known.

The Ambassador Hotel was the scene of the second incident that same evening, according to the reports. Two African students were said to have made critical remarks about the Soviet Union while conversing with two Cubans. This led to an argument in which 3 Czechs became involved, the report said.

When the Africans left the hotel, the 3 Czechs jumped them and beat them up. The reports said Czech police intervened and gave a severe beating to the Czechs.

A short time later, according to the reports, a car with diplomatic plates drove up to the hotel and a crowd gathered. When the African diplomat entered the hotel, Czechs slashed all 4 of the car's tires.

Sources here said the incidents were indicative of the growing tensions between Czechs and Africans because of the latter's favored treatment as compared with that of Czech students.

Czech resentment also is fanned by the Communist government's economic aid to the underdeveloped countries which many Czechs believe is a major cause in the deterioration of their own standard of living.

JFK Won't Motor Through Alabama

Washington (AP)— The White House said Tuesday that President Kennedy will not travel by motorcade through 3 northern Alabama cities Saturday during a visit to a state which has been torn by racial strife.

The chief executive is skipping previously announced visits to Tuscumbia, Sheffield and Florence.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Tuesday that "no, sir," there was no change in the presidential schedule as a result of the racial disturbances in Birmingham.

He said he had announced incorrectly Monday that Kennedy would drive through the 3 communities. He said he had been working from an erroneous schedule which never had been approved.

Kennedy is going to Alabama in connection with the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Wallace Says Units On Duty; Fears Rioting

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—Gov George Wallace told President Kennedy Tuesday that federal troops "are now on duty" in Birmingham and said their presence is an open invitation to renewed rioting by what he called "lawless Negro mobs."

In a telegram to the President, the 3rd in 3 days, the governor said "advance echelons of a military striking force" have already been sent to Birmingham.

Wallace told the President that "you have publicly indicated that federal troops were only on a standby basis" on military installations at Montgomery and Anniston

The governor demanded that the military forces be withdrawn from Birmingham or that the President "make the true facts of your military operations known to the citizens of the nation."

Wallace said that a brigade headquarters and a provisional division headquarters have been set up in the racially troubled city along with federal communications personnel and equipment.

Continuing, the governor's telegram said, "local newspapers Tuesday morning carried front-page pictures of uniformed federal military troops, identified as liaison troops, 'marking time' in Birmingham."

"Therefore," Wallace said, "federal military troops are now on duty in Birmingham. Their unwarranted presence is an open invitation to resumption of street rioting by lawless Negro mobs, under the assumption they will be protected by federal military forces."

Unicam Overrides Veto On Delegates

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday overrode on a 28-10 vote Gov. Frank Morrison's veto of legislation allowing political party state conventions to choose delegates-at-large to national political conventions.

Action came on a motion from Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of LB432.

It was the governor's first veto of a bill this session. He previously successfully vetoed two states rights resolutions

Twenty-six votes are required to enact a bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor

Stromer argued that the bill "in no way takes away choice by the people" in that district delegates will continue to be chosen by the voters.

State convention delegates are named by county convention delegates who are elected by the people, he pointed out.

'Name Contest'

Delegates-at-large are presently chosen on the basis of "a name recognition contest," Stromer contended.

Recent records show that 8 out of 10 statewide Republican delegates and 7 out of 9 statewide Democratic delegates have been chosen from metropolitan areas, he noted

The bill, he said, will "breathe some life into political parties in Nebraska." Today, "they barely have a reason to exist." he said.

Thirty-five states have similar provisions in effect, Stromer declared

Morrison's veto statement, he said, represented "a whitewash of the facts."

No other lawmakers spoke on the motion to override. The vote.

For: Bowen, Brandt, Bittenbaugh, Carpenter, Craft, Danner, Edewine, Forrester, Foster, Gerhart, Hasebroock, Kun, Klaver, Lusinger, Mahoney, Marvel, McGinley, Moulton, Nelson, Gottschalk, E Rasmussen, Reeves, Russillo, Skarda, Stromer, Syas, Thompson, Wylie.

Against: Babensky, Burbach, Claussen, Damrow, Orme, R Rasmussen, Ruhnke, Stalder, Stryker, Warner.

Not Voting: Adamson, Fleming, Gerdes, Kremer, Payne.

Stromer later told newsmen that "it is unfortunate that the governor has not asserted leadership in strengthening political parties."

The Legislature, he said, "has seen fit to breathe new life into our party structure and I hope the governor will follow its lead "

Senate Debate Limit May Aid Quick Passage Of Grains Bill

Washington (AP) — Unanimous consent Tuesday to limit Senate debate on the corn and livestock feed grains bill brightened administration hopes for its final passage before next Tuesday's wheat referendum.

Protesting senators spent 3 hours in debate before agreeing reluctantly to a timetable worked out by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. But the agreement was first stripped of provision for a final Senate vote Thursday.

A Senate vote could come by then on the House-passed measure, but it may come later. The time limit merely applies to several amendments Republican senators plan to offer after debate opens Wednesday.

With their 67-33 majority Democrats predict they will defeat the amendments so the bill can be passed in the same form it came from the House and sped to President Kennedy. But each amendment offered could eat up an hour of debate and there is no limit on the number of amendments that may be offered.

Dirksen conceded that efforts to amend the bill probably face defeat.

Objections to the debate limit were raised first by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who finally said he would yield because "I find I'm about the only one willing to stay the execution."

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., complained that if a definite time for a final vote was set in advance he might be forced to present his amendments late at night or even early in the morning.

Chicago Officials Stoned—Blame Birmingham

Chicago (AP)— Chicago's police chief Tuesday blamed racial trouble in Birmingham, Ala., for the stoning of Chicago police and firemen after a Negro youth was wounded in a burglary investigation.

"This was an outgrowth of the Birmingham situation," Police Supt. O. W. Wilson said. "It wouldn't have happened a year ago."

John Ascher, deputy chief of patrol, described the violence of hundreds of Negroes as anti-police rather than racial. Many of the policemen stoned are Negroes, he said.

The West Side area were the shooting occurred has been marked by considerable unrest in recent weeks, Ascher said. Residents are uncooperative with authorities, he added, and tires of police vehicles parked around the district station have been slashed.

He suggested the unrest may stem in part from a tie-up of public aid funds because of the Illinois general assembly's inability to agree on new welfare legislation.

Mel Mawrence, department spokesman, said he believes the stoning was an isolated incident and not linked to, or comparable with, racial disturbances in Chicago in the past. Previous disturbances grew out of attempts by Negroes to move into white neighborhoods or use beaches frequently by white persons.

"I do not believe there will be a recurrence," Mawrence said. Ascher said he has enough men in the district to handle any situation that might take place.

Twenty-five squad cars of police quelled the rock-throwing jeering crowd in the predominatly Negro neighborhood after it had milled around for two hours. Trained police dogs were brought to the scene but were not used.

Wilson's deputy, Merlin Nygren, said the disturbances began after Conley Dillon, 14, Negro, was wounded by police notified that a warehouse burglary was in progress.

The arrival of 3 police squads flushed Dillon and 6 other Negro youths from the warehouse, police said. The youths ran and Dillon was struck about a block from the warehouse by a police warning shot that investigators said apparently ricocheted.

Joseph Nuger, manager of the warehouse, told police $2,500 worth of fixtures was taken.

Only 'Give--Take' Can Solve Rail Feud

Washington (AP)—A 3-man presidential panel said Tuesday only give-and-take bargaining can solve the railroad "featherbedding" dispute. It suggested a safety guideline for elimination of unneeded firemen—a major point in the controversy.

President Kennedy said "there is no time to be lost for completing their agreement in this critical dispute . . . the government stands ready to provide assistance if it is needed to help the parties reach a just and equitable settlement but the ultimate dependence must be upon their own efforts."

Panel chairman Samuel I. Rosenman said that unless a solution is found before June 12 only new legislation providing either for federal seizure or compulsory arbitration can head off a nationwide rail strike.

The railroads late Tuesday sent the heads of the 5 operating railroad brotherhoods a telegram inviting them to resume bargaining sessions in Washington Thursday morning.

By law, no strike can be called until 30 days after the presidential panel makes its report. The report went to the President Monday night and was made public Tuesday.

The railroads say outmoded work rules, some dating back half a century or so, cost them $600 million each year. They call these rules "featherbedding."

J. E. Wolfe of Chicago, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, said on behalf of management that "in accord with President Kennedy's plea, the railroads support the emergency board report."

He offered to start negotiations quickly and accepted the arbitration proposal.

"We sincerely hope the unions will join with us in a final solution of our differences as contemplated in this board report," Wolfe said.

Union spokesmen expressed hope that the board's findings could be "a useful aid" in reaching agreement to avert a possible national rail strike.

A joint statement in New York by the chiefs of 5 railroad unions said:

"It is not a matter of accepting or rejecting the report, but rather one of recognizing that the report can be a useful tool in the search for a fair and equitable settlement of all matters in dispute, which must be brought about through true collective bargaining."

NU Journalists In First Again

Washington, D.C.—The University of Nebraska School of Journalism, for the second consecutive year, was recognized in White House ceremonies Tuesday for its number one ranking among the nation's accredited journalism schools.

President John F. Kennedy presented University officials with the first-place trophy of the 1963 William Randolph Hearst competition.

Accepting for the University were Dr. Ben Greenberg of York, president of the Board of Regents, Dr. William E. Hall, director of the School of Journalism, and Judy Harrington of Lincoln, a senior journalism student who won the individual second-place national award.

Dr. Hall and Miss Harrington will accept for the school the additional first place prize of $2,000 from the Hearst Foundation in New York Wednesday and will be guests of the Nebraska senatorial delegation.

The students whose award-winning depth reporting articles were responsible for the school's first place honors are:

—Linda Jensen of Hastings, an editorial published in the Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper at the University. It was written in response to an attack on the Nebraskan's policies.

—Nancy Whitford Ostberg of Lincoln, formerly of Madison, "The Return of the Classics to the Classroom," a story telling of the renewed use of the classics of literature in the modern English classroom.

Dr. Hall explained that the stories this year were designed for regional interest —the midwest — instead of national interest.

This year's win against the nation's other accredited journalism schools was more decisive than last year's, Dr. Hall said.

"While Nebraska edged the University of Kansas last year by 10 points, this year's margin over second-place University of Texas was 85 points."

Four Nebraska students, Miss Harrington, Miss Anderson, Beatty and Clark, placed individually in the top ten nationally on the basis of points won during the 7 months of competition. Seven Nebraska students this year scored at least once in the monthly competitions as opposed to 4 last year.

The winners came from a class in depth reporting taught by Prof. R. Neale Copple, started 3 years ago to upgrade the quality of newswriting instruction. Prof. Copple also credited the students' training in other journalism courses and in College of Arts and Sciences courses.

Articles written by the depth-reporting students have all been published, and have resulted in money awards to the school and the students in excess of $20,000.

Prof. Copple noted the importance of financial assistance for the program from the Newspaper Fund Inc. of the Wall Street Journal and the Reader's Digest Foundation.

Dr. Hall also praised the support of newspapers in Nebraska for their scholarships, summer internships and opportunity for students to take part in field trips.

Unicam Overrides Veto On Delegates

OK Given To Ground Water Bill

A bill known as the "City, Village and Municipal Corporation Ground Water Permit Act" received 5-0 approval of the Legislature's Public Works Committee Tuesday and was sent to the floor for further action.

The bill, LB769, introduced by the committee, was said to represent compromise between irrigators and urban representatives on legislation relating to municipal use of ground water.

Also reported out, in amended form, was a bill sought by the Kansas-Nebraska Gas Co. to enable it to acquire the Big Springs gas field for underground storage of gas reserves. The measure, LB335, was sent to the floor on a 7-0 vote.

Introduced by Sens. Richard D. Marvel of Hastings and Cecil Craft of North Platte, LB335 sets up circumstances under which a gas utility can exercise eminent domain to acquire underground storage.

The committee on a 6-0 vote killed LB121, authorizing county boards to regulate and control traffic on county roads. The bill had been introduced by Sens. William Moulton of Omaha and Matt Wylie of Elgin.

Redistricting Bill Error Correction Is Introduced

A new bill correcting an error in the Legislative redistricting bill already passed into law was introduced in the Legislature Tuesday as the 796th measure of the session.

The government and Military Affairs Committee brought in the measure after Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett last week called attention to the fact that an error in the earlier bill inadvertently orphaned about 60 acres in the Omaha area, leaving it out of any legislative district.

The original bill, LB629, increased the size of the Unicameral from 43 to 49 members and for the first time gave formal recognition to area as a factor in apportionment.

The new corrective bill was placed directly on general file without the customary public hearing.

BIRMINGHAM'S ATMOSPHERE 'IMPROVING'

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI) — Federal observers said Tuesday Birmingham's racial atmosphere is "improving," but that troops will remain because there still is the chance of trouble developing quickly."

The only incident Tuesday involved a lone picket who turned up outside the building where the Army has set up a command post near the Negro section.

Police arrested the demonstrator, identified as Jerry Dutton, a member of the National States Rights Party, and charged him with parading without a permit.

He carried a sign which read: "Invade Cuba, not Alabama," and "JFK uses troops to capture bloc vote in '64."

President Kennedy ordered 3,000 troops trained in riot tactics into the vicinity of Birmingham Sunday night following a pre-dawn riot that resulted in 22 injuries and saw almost an entire city block burned.

The riot was touched off by two racial bombings that came shortly after an unofficial committee representing the city's business men had worked out an integration agreement with Negroes. City officials, who took no part in the negotiations, have said repeatedly they are not bound by the agreement.

Both sides have pledged that despite the violence they will honor the agreement, which provides for the integration of facilities at downtown variety and department stores, an upgrading of job opportunities for Negroes and establishment of "communications" between whites and Negroes.

A 60-90 day deadline was set on most points, and businessmen apparently are waiting for a further easing of tensions before attempting to implement any of the changes. No start in that direction has yet been made.

Burke Marshall, the Justice Department's top expert in the civil rights field, returned to Washington earlier in the day to give Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy a first hand report of the situation here.

Another department official, Edwin Guthman, told newsmen:

"Mr. Marshall's feeling is that the atmosphere is improving."

Guthman said before departing Marshall held "a number of conversations with a number of people . . . and was confident city police and county authorities can keep order . . ."

Guthman would not disclose the names of those with whom Marshall talked.

Newsmen asked Guthman for comment on Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's statement indicating he would seek a court injunction to force troops out of the state:

"I think it is rather obvious the President has the authority to move troops from one base to another," Guthman said.

FOREIGN STUDENTS BEATEN BY CZECHS

Vienna (UPI) — Czech youths beat up African and Middle Eastern students and slashed the tires of an African diplomat's car in a series of incidents in Prague last Saturday, according to reliable reports reaching Vienna Tuesday.

The reports said a mob of about 300 Czechs ganged up on two students from Africa and the Middle East around mid-day in Prague's downtown Wenceslas Square near the Hoael Ambassador.

The students were beaten for 15 minutes, the reports said. Czech police did not intervene. The reason for the incident was not known.

The Ambassador Hotel was the scene of the second incident that same evening, according to the reports. Two African students were said to have made critical remarks about the Soviet Union while conversing with two Cubans. This led to an argument in which 3 Czechs became involved, the report said.

When the Africans left the hotel, the 3 Czechs jumped them and beat them up. The reports said Czech police intervened and gave a severe beating to the Czechs.

A short time later, according to the reports, a car with diplomatic plates drove up to the hotel and a crowd gathered. When the African diplomat entered the hotel, Czechs slashed all 4 of the car's tires.

Sources here said the incidents were indicative of the growing tensions between Czechs and Africans because of the latter's favored treatment as compared with that of Czech students.

Czech resentment also is fanned by the Communist government's economic aid to the underdeveloped countries which many Czechs believe is a major cause in the deterioration of their own standard of living.

JFK Won't Motor Through Alabama

Washington (AP)— The White House said Tuesday that President Kennedy will not travel by motorcade through 3 northern Alabama cities Saturday during a visit to a state which has been torn by racial strife.

The chief executive is skipping previously announced visits to Tuscumbia, Sheffield and Florence.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Tuesday that "no, sir," there was no change in the presidential schedule as a result of the racial disturbances in Birmingham.

He said he had announced incorrectly Monday that Kennedy would drive through the 3 communities. He said he had been working from an erroneous schedule which never had been approved.

Kennedy is going to Alabama in connection with the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Chicago Officials Stoned—Blame Birmingham

Chicago (AP)— Chicago's police chief Tuesday blamed racial trouble in Birmingham, Ala., for the stoning of Chicago police and firemen after a Negro youth was wounded in a burglary investigation.

"This was an outgrowth of the Birmingham situation," Police Supt. O. W. Wilson said. "It wouldn't have happened a year ago."

John Ascher, deputy chief of patrol, described the violence of hundreds of Negroes as anti-police rather than racial. Many of the policemen stoned are Negroes, he said.

The West Side area were the shooting occurred has been marked by considerable unrest in recent weeks, Ascher said. Residents are uncooperative with authorities, he added, and tires of police vehicles parked around the district station have been slashed.

He suggested the unrest may stem in part from a tie-up of public aid funds because of the Illinois general assembly's inability to agree on new welfare legislation.

Mel Mawrence, department spokesman, said he believes the stoning was an isolated incident and not linked to, or comparable with, racial disturbances in Chicago in the past. Previous disturbances grew out of attempts by Negroes to move into white neighborhoods or use beaches frequently by white persons.

"I do not believe there will be a recurrence," Mawrence said. Ascher said he has enough men in the district to handle any situation that might take place.

Twenty-five squad cars of police quelled the rock-throwing jeering crowd in the predominatly Negro neighborhood after it had milled around for two hours. Trained police dogs were brought to the scene but were not used.

Wilson's deputy, Merlin Nygren, said the disturbances began after Conley Dillon, 14, Negro, was wounded by police notified that a warehouse burglary was in progress.

The arrival of 3 police squads flushed Dillon and 6 other Negro youths from the warehouse, police said. The youths ran and Dillon was struck about a block from the warehouse by a police warning shot that investigators said apparently ricocheted.

Joseph Nuger, manager of the warehouse, told police $2,500 worth of fixtures was taken.

Wallace Says Units On Duty; Fears Rioting

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George Wallace told President Kennedy Tuesday that federal troops "are now on duty" in Birmingham and said their presence is an open invitation to renewed rioting by what he called "lawless Negro mobs."

In a telegram to the President, the 3rd in 3 days, the governor said "advance echelons of a military striking force" have already been sent to Birmingham.

Wallace told the President that "you have publicly indicated that federal troops were only on a standby basis" on military installations at Montgomery and Anniston.

The governor demanded that the military forces be withdrawn from Birmingham or that the President "make the true facts of your military operations known to the citizens of the nation."

Wallace said that a brigade headquarters and a provisional division headquarters have been set up in the racially troubled city along with federal communications personnel and equipment.

Continuing, the governor's telegram said, "local newspapers Tuesday morning carried front-page pictures of uniformed federal military troops, identified as liaison troops, 'marking time' in Birmingham."

"Therefore," Wallace said, "federal military troops are now on duty in Birmingham. Their unwarranted presence is an open invitation to resumption of street rioting by lawless Negro mobs, under the assumption they will be protected by federal military forces."

Senate Debate Limit May Aid Quick Passage Of Grains Bill

Washington (AP) — Unanimous consent Tuesday to limit Senate debate on the corn and livestock feed grains bill brightened administration hopes for its final passage before next Tuesday's wheat referendum.

Protesting senators spent 3 hours in debate before agreeing reluctantly to a timetable worked out by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. But the agreement was first stripped of provision for a final Senate vote Thursday.

A Senate vote could come by then on the House-passed measure, but it may come later. The time limit merely applies to several amendments Republican senators plan to offer after debate opens Wednesday.

With their 67-33 majority Democrats predict they will defeat the amendments so the bill can be passed in the same form it came from the House and sped to President Kennedy. But each amendment offered could eat up an hour of debate and there is no limit on the number of amendments that may be offered.

Dirksen conceded that efforts to amend the bill probably face defeat.

Objections to the debate limit were raised first by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who finally said he would yield because "I find I'm about the only one willing to stay the execution."

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., complained that if a definite time for a final vote was set in advance he might be forced to present his amendments late at night or even early in the morning.

Two Killed When Car Hits Truck

Rushville — Two persons were killed Tuesday afternoon when a passenger car struck a highway department asphalt truck which was halted on U S 20 one mile east of Rushville while patching the highway

Safety Patrolman Dan Schenck of Chadron said the truck box was elevated and the passenger car plowed under the truck box pushing the engine back into the front seat

The victims were Mrs Effie Foreman, Springview, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Frank, 80, and Gilbert Stoll 28 of Chadron

Foreman was listed in very critical condition at the Rushville community hospital

Stoll was an employe of the State Highway Department and was standing at the rear of the truck along with another State Highway Department employe, Warren Beamish 45 of Chadron Witnesses said the Foreman car drove directly into the rear of the truck striking both Stoll and Beamish Beamish was thrown clear and suffered only a bruised leg, but Stoll was thrown against the truck and died instantly

Schenck said the passenger car had passed a flagman for the highway project and the workmen on the job were wearing orange-colored jackets

The deaths bring Nebraska's 1963 highway death toll to 103 compared with 97 a year ago Tuesday

To Be To And Fro

The school board also approved preliminary plans for Maude Rousseau School at 33rd and Calvert The new structure will feature a multi purpose auditorium surrounded by classrooms rather than the present building plan of an auditorium unit segregated from the classroom wing

Architects Clark and Enersen were instructed to prepare working drawings and specifications for the school building

Summary Of Conditions

A high pressure area centered over the northwestern portion of Wisconsin will move to the central portion of the Great Lakes by Wednesday evening and will become stationary over the Lakes At the same time a trough will continue along the eastern slope of the central and southern Rockies

With the high remaining stationary and the trough also stationary the front that is located east to west across the central portion of Missouri and Kansas will also remain stationary as weak waves move eastward along the front

Thus with considerable Gulf moisture overrunning the front scattered showers and thunderstorms will develop in the trough across the western portion of Nebraska during late afternoon and will drift eastward across Nebraska during the night These showers and storms should reach Iowa during the early morning hours [illegible] with the same redevelopment across the western sections again during late afternoon

Thus skies over the Nebraska and Iowa area will be considerably cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms with little change in temperature through Thursday morning

NU Faculty Scuttles No-Exams Idea

Faculty members at the University of Nebraska scuttled a proposal that would have eliminated end of semester examination periods after heated debate at the Faculty Senate meeting Tuesday

The proposal to amend the school calendar and eliminate the period for 3-hour comprehensive examinations was defeated in a shouted-down voice vote, and a 1964 65 calendar very similar to present university practices was adopted

Faculty members defended the exams as necessary "to give these students a time to review" and as the only time a student is faced with the necessity to assemble his knowledge of a subject"

'No' To Quarters

Other calendar change proposals included a modified quarterly system to replace the semester system now in use It also was treated roughly by the faculty commentary

Having warmed up on the examinations issue, further revolt occurred as Miss Helen Snyder, dean of women, offered amendments to rules governing students participating in campus extracurricular activities

A proposed 5 grade average requirement for activity participation squeeked by following an intensive questioning of grade averages required of football players

Dr L J Lowles assistant dean of student affairs, who is charged with the responsibility of checking varsity athletes' averages admitted that the conference rules of a 4 average (just passing at NU) was the requirement

Further argument over whether other student participants should be governed by the 5 average brought a ruling by Chancellor Clifford Hardin that "university rules should be met" and a mumbled retort from the back of the room "EXCEPT by football players"

In addition to adding the scholastic average requirement for participation in campus activities, the senate approved changes barring freshmen from major roles during their first semester, including all major officials of organized houses and housing units under the activities requirements, and exempting all but major roles in university productions from meeting the activity standards

A committee, headed by Dr Robert Morgan of Alliance is studying how health education can be incorporated into the programming Most members of the committee are doctors who serve on local school boards

Among the 14 Nebraska physicians who have practiced medicine for 50 years and honored at the association's banquet Tuesday night were two Lincoln doctors, Dr M I Arnholt and Dr C H Arnold

Fireman's Back Injured In Fall

A Lincoln fireman was taken to Lincoln General Hospital and held for observation Tuesday night after he fell from a fence he was crossing to fight a fire

A hospital spokesman said Fred Bartzatt of 5927 St Paul suffered possible back injuries

He was crossing a fence bridged by two ladders to get to a fire at the rear of the Statler Floral Co, at 6220 Platte when he fell

The fire originated in a trash can and spread to the roof of a small shed at the rear of the property, according to the fire department, which classified the damage as small

School Milk Rules Stronger

. . . MEET LITTLE DAIRY OPPOSITION

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

A new set of milk regulations—stronger and more specific—was introduced for approval of the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday and met with only minor opposition from dairy representatives and parents present

The chief change—a requirement that school milk come from a dairy which processes Grade A milk only—met with no opposition

Other specifications listed for dairies furnishing milk to public schools were

—All milk must be delivered in leakproof plastic cartons

—Milk must be under 45 degrees in temperature when delivered

—Milk must meet all requirements of the City County Health Department

Schedule Questioned

Dairy representatives questioned one hour delivery periods specified by the directions as being "too tight" when a dozen or more schools were being served by one company Also suggested was the elimination of a little used specification that milk prices could change in the event of general market increase or decrease

Board members decided to hold the final approval of the milk standards changes until the May 20 meeting in order to gain information before making several minor changes

Jake Breslow of the Lincoln Dairy Co, who had earlier voiced opposition to changes in the regulations, did not appear at the Tuesday board meeting

'Eating With Spoon'

Mrs J H Vance, Riley School PTA president, added her approval of the new regulations, and expressed the view that a lower temperature limit should be placed on the milk at delivery, because recent milk deliveries to the school have been partially frozen "and the kids are eating it with a spoon"

Glenn Kreuscher also expressed the parents' views that the rule restricting dairies to those processing Grade A milk only "will solve practically all our problems"

He added that because of the high bacteria counts recorded on some dairy herds producing ungraded milk, it is "tremendously dangerous" to use Grade A milk in schools that has been processed at a plant also processing ungraded milk

$409,000 Price Tag On Proposed Index

School board members were given a price tag on the cost of a proposed index scale for teachers salaries Tuesday $409 429

That is what the index system would mean in additional cost with no increase in salaries or instaff, according to figures released by Dr Steven Watkins, schools superintendent

To the taxpayer a $400 000 increase would mean 2 mills of the property tax levy to supply the increased amount

Better For Teachers

The index proposed by the Lincoln Education Association for all Lincoln public school teachers assigns a percentage figure to each year of seniority and level of education, so that longer tenure teachers would receive larger pay increases than they now do under "across the boards" raises

Total cost for teachers' salaries at the present staff and wage levels, would be $7,606,308, if the index schedule were applied

A $200 yearly wage increase would bring the salary total to $7 947 980 including the index schedule cost of $519 414

Over $8 Million

A $300 increase would bring the salary total to $8,110 788 which includes the additional index cost of $575 095

The board members took no action on setting teacher salaries or ruling on the proposed index schedule

In other salary action, Watkins presented salary proposals for 80 maintenance employes calling for increases of $3,470 and increments of $7 890, and a total wage bill of $366,835

Proposed increases for school custodial employes included increments of $15 386 and increases of $24,260 for the 221 employes for a salary cost total of $737,128

Two Killed When Car Hits Truck

Rushville — Two persons were killed Tuesday afternoon when a passenger car struck a highway department asphalt truck which was halted on U.S. 20 one mile east of Rushville while patching the highway.

Safety Patroleman Dan Schenck of Chadron said the truck box was elevated and the passenger car plowed under the truck box, pushing the engine back into the front seat.

The victims were Mrs. Effie Foreman, Springview, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Frank, 80, and Gilbert Stoll, 28, of Chadron.

Foreman was listed in very critical condition at the Rushville community hospital.

Stoll was an employe of the State Highway Department and was standing at the rear of the truck along with another State Highway Department employe, Warren Beamish, 45, of Chadron. Witnesses said the Foreman car drove directly into the rear of the truck, striking both Stoll and Beamish. Beamish was thrown clear and suffered only a bruised leg, but Stoll was thrown against the truck and died instantly.

Schenck said the passenger car had passed a flagman for the highway project, and the workmen on the job were wearing orange-colored jackets.

Summary Of Conditions

A high pressure area centered over the northwestern portion of Wisconsin will move to the central portion of the Great Lakes by Wednesday evening and will become stationary over the Lakes. At the same time a trough will continue along the eastern slope of the central and southern Rockies.

With the high remaining stationary and the trough also stationary, the front that is located east to west across the central portion of Missouri and Kansas will also remain stationary as weak waves move eastward along the front.

Thus with considerable Gulf moisture overrunning the front, scattered showers and thunderstorms will develop in the trough across the western portion of Nebraska during late afternoon and will drift eastward across Nebraska during the night. These showers and storms should reach Iowa during the early morning hours and dissipate with the same redevelopment across the western sections again during late afternoon.

Thus skies over the Nebraska and Iowa area will be considerably cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms with little change in temperature through Thursday morning.

Saratoga Add Bid Openings Set June 10th

A June 10 bid opening was set for Saratoga School additions and remodeling work which will include complete rewiring, new lighting and new boilers for the elementary school.

Architect Ellery Hall Davis said the new classroom wing, which will be built at the south end of the building following the razing of the older portion of the building, will provide 11 rooms.

He estimated that the remodeling, construction of the classrooms and a kitchen wing, would probably be completed by the fall of 1964.

To Be To And Fro.

During the coming year, Supt. Steven Watkins told Board of Education members, 7 classrooms of children from Saratoga would be transported daily from the school to Park and Randolph Schools, and returned to Saratoga at the end of the school day.

The school board also approved preliminary plans for Maude Rousseau School at 33rd and Calvert. The new structure will feature a nultipurpose auditorium surrounded by classrooms rather than the present building plan of an auditorium unit segregated from the classroom wing.

Architects Clark and Enersen were instructed to prepare working drawings and specifications for the school building.

Funeral Thursday For Marie Cross, Retired Teacher

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at First Presbyterian Church for Miss Marie Cross, 73, of 1901 E, a retired teacher and former head of the Latin department at Lincoln High School.

Miss Cross, who died Tuesday, began teaching in the fall of 1907 at age 16 following her graduation from Fairbury High School. She was a graduate of Peru State Teachers College and a cum laude graduate of the University of Nebraska.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Genevieve C. Clark of Fairbury, and a cousin, Jeanne Janish of Carson City, Nev.

STUDENTS APPLAUD PRINCIPAL

A cheer from all 800 students at Pershing School greeted Mrs. Loretta Mickle as she returned to her office after receiving a plaque as "Elementary Principal of the Year" in a national competition sponsored by the Organization of Classroom Teachers and Croft Publishing Co. The students massed at the school entrance to add their congratulations to those of Superintendent of Schools Steven Watkins who presented the award to Mrs. Mickle earlier. (Star Photo)

NU Faculty Scuttles No-Exams Idea

Faculty members at the University of Nebraska scuttled a proposal that would have eliminated end-of-semester examination periods after heated debate at the Faculty Senate meeting Tuesday.

The proposal to amend the school calendar and eliminate the period for 3-hour comprehensive examinations was defeated in a shouted-down voice vote, and a 1964-65 calendar very similar to present university practices was adopted.

Faculty members defended the exams as necessary "to give these students a time to review" and "as the only time a student is faced with the necessity to assemble his knowledge of a subject."

'No' To Quarters

Other calendar change proposals included a modified quarterly system to replace the semester system now in use. It also was treated roughly by the faculty commentary.

Having warmed up on the examinations issue, further revolt occurred as Miss Helen Snyder, dean of women, offered amendments to rules governing students participating in campus extracurricular activities.

A proposed 5 grade average requirement for activity participation squeeked by following an intensive questioning of grade averages required of football players.

Dr. L. F. Fowles, assistant dean of student affairs, who is charged with the responsibility of checking varsity athletes' averages, admitted that the conference rules of a 4 average (just passing at NU) was the requirement.

Further argument over whether other student participants should be governed by the 5 average brought a ruling by Chancellor Clifford Hardin that "university rules should be met" and a mumbled retort from the back of the room: "EXCEPT by football players."

In addition to adding the scholastic average requirement for participation in campus activities, the senate approved changes barring freshmen from major roles during their first semester, including all major officials of organized houses and housing units under the activities requirements, and exempting all but major roles in university productions from meeting the activity standards.

Medics Back TV Proposals

Omaha (AP)—The Nebraska State Medical Association's House of Delegates Tuesday endorsed two legislative bills which would establish a statewide educational television network. The bills are LB666 and LB667.

Dr. Rudy Sievers of Blair, president of the association, said "We endorsed the legislation with the hope that health education would be included in the programming of educational television."

A committee, headed by Dr. Robert Morgan of Alliance, is studying how health education can be incorporated into the programming. Most members of the committee are doctors who serve on local school boards.

Among the 14 Nebraska physicians who have practiced medicine for 50 years and honored at the association's banquet Tuesday night were two Lincoln doctors, Dr. M. F. Arnholt and Dr. C. H. Arnold.

Fireman's Back Injured In Fall

A Lincoln fireman was taken to Lincoln General Hospital and held for observation Tuesday night after he fell from a fence he was crossing to fight a fire.

A hospital spokesman said Fred Bartzatt of 5927 St. Paul suffered possible back injuries.

He was crossing a fence bridged by two ladders to get to a fire at the rear of the Statler Floral Co., at 6228 Platte when he fell.

The fire originated in a trash can and spread to the roof of a small shed at the rear of the property, according to the fire department, which classified the damage as small.

School Milk Rules Stronger

. . . MEET LITTLE DAIRY OPPOSITION

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

A new set of milk regulations—stronger and more specific—was introduced for approval of the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday and met with only minor opposition from dairy representatives and parents present.

The chief change—a requirement that school milk come from a dairy which processes Grade A milk only—met with no opposition.

Other specifications listed for dairies furnishing milk to public schools were:

—All milk must be delivered in leakproof plastic cartons.

—Milk must be under 45 degrees in temperature when delivered.

Schedule Questioned

Dairy representatives questioned one-hour delivery periods specified by the directions as being "too tight" when a dozen or more schools were being served by one company. Also suggested was the elimination of a little-used specification that milk prices could change "in the event of general market increase or decrease."

Board members decided to hold the final approval of the milk standards changes until the May 20 meeting in order to gain information before making several minor changes.

Jake Breslow of the Lincoln Dairy Co., who had earlier voiced opposition to changes in the regulations, did not appear at the Tuesday board meeting.

'Eating With Spoon'

Mrs. J. H. Vance, Riley School PTA president, added her approval of the new regulations, and expressed the view that a lower temperature limit should be placed on the milk at delivery, because recent milk deliveries to the school have been partially frozen "and the kids are eating it with a spoon."

Glenn Kreuscher also expressed the parents' views that the rule restricting dairies to those processing Grade A milk only "will solve practically all our problems."

He added that because of the high bacteria counts recorded on some dairy herds producing ungraded milk, it is "tremendously dangerous" to use Grade A milk in schools that has been processed at a plant also processing ungraded milk.

$409,000 Price Tag On Proposed Index

School board members were given a price tag on the cost of a proposed index scale for teachers salaries Tuesday: $409,429.

That is what the index system would mean in additional cost with no increase in salaries or instaff, according to figures released by Dr. Steven Watkins, schools superintendent.

To the taxpayer, a $400,000 increase would mean 2 mills of the property tax levy to supply the increased amount.

Better For Teachers

The index, proposed by the Lincoln Education Association for all Lincoln public school teachers, assigns a percentage figure to each year of seniority and level of education, so that longer-tenure teachers would receive larger pay increases than they now do under "across the boards" raises.

Total cost for teachers' salaries at the present staff and wage levels, would be $7,606,308, if the index schedule were applied.

Over $8 Million

A $300 increase would bring the salary total to $8,118,788 which includes the additional index cost of $575,095.

The board members took no action on setting teacher salaries or ruling on the proposed index schedule.

In other salary action, Watkins presented salary proposals for 80 maintenance employes calling for increases of $3,470 and increments of $7,890, and a total wage bill of $366,835.

Proposed increases for school custodial employes included increments of $15,386 and increases of $24,260 for the 221 employes for a salary cost total of $737,128.

Hand Injured

Louis Emry, 52, of 3725 No. 63rd, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital after he cut his right hand on the license plate of his car Tuesday night, police reported.

School Cafeteria Prices Going Up

Prices will go up from 8 cents to 10 cents in school cafeterias next fall, following Tuesday approval by the Lincoln School Board.

Miss Esther Eisenbarth, general manager of lunchrooms, asked that 8-cent dishes now served in cafeteria-style portions be sold for a dime.

The foods include most soups, hot dishes, sandwiches, salads, vegetables and desserts. Regular hot lunch prices won't be affected.

The increase will allow larger portions, aid in changemaking, and permit an increase for lunchroom and cafeteria workers above the present $1 hourly maximum.

Grinding Toward An End

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If there is anything more risky than a prediction of the outcome of public power proposals in the current Legislature, it fails to come to mind. There hasn't been anything in a long time that could stand up to public power when it comes to the in's and out's of politics and pressures. Because of the many and varied interest groups in the power picture, it is next to impossible to say what will happen next on this subject.

Two Matters At Issue

The issue has brought about narrow splits in the Legislature and the feelings of senators have been running high. A lot of political debts have been paid off and a lot more contracted in the past few weeks of debate over public power. Still, the Legislature appears to be headed in a direction that is not altogether bad or insignificant. Much depends, of course, on what takes place on specific matters but two general matters appear strong at the moment. Passed just Tuesday by the legislators on final reading was a bill for creation of a power review board for the settlement of disputes between different power agencies.

But any realignment of agencies on a statewide basis appears to be doomed. The second possibility is the satisfaction of municipal interests by removal of the requirement for a vote of the people for the acquisition of retail power facilities in 1972 from Consumers Public Power District.

In and of itself, this proposal is of merit as it only makes sense that municipalities be permitted to take over their retail distribution systems in 1972 if they so desire. This has been the intent of all public power law and operations since the state went into the power business in the 1930's.

Removal of the requirement of a vote of the people is not an action advocated without some reservations. With the demonstration of pure politics and pressure we have seen in this session of the Legislature, one might wonder if the power business should not be kept as close to the people as possible. Certainly, a majority of the Legislature has not demonstrated nearly the concern for the general public interest in the subject of power as it has concern for this and that area of special interest. Politics has often taken over where the interest of the people should have been supreme. This is not a good recommendation for removal of the vote requirement but it is hoped that the people can maintain a little better control of things at the local level.

This, of course, raises the question of administration at the local level. Lincoln has not yet determined whether, when it does take over all power operations here, there will be an elected or appointed power board or whether there will be any power board at all. The matter at this stage of the game would be in the hands of the City Council. If the retail power operation escapes a public accountability at the local level, the people in general could be in pretty bad shape. That matter, however, is one to be solved at the local level, not by the Legislature. And there is plenty of time to solve it if the senators provide the problem by guaranteeing municipalities their retail systems in 1972.

The Legislature could greatly improve the situation for the state if, when it approved the elimination of the voter requirement, it required municipalities to continue to purchase power from Consumers Public Power District or Nebraska Public Power System to the extent of purchases for that city as of 1972. This would eliminate a move by municipalities into the generation business at the expense of existing statewide generation and the ruination of public power for all but the larger areas of Nebraska.

It would leave the cities free, of course, to purchase or manufacture all power needs in excess of those in existence as of 1972. In other words, the cities could take care of all growth in any way that suited them, thereby freeing them to seek the cheapest electric energy available.

Toward Other Solutions

If legislation in the Unicameral came to such a pass, it could contribute toward the solution of other statewide problems in 1965. If municipalities were out of the way in 1965, it would mean that much less of a controversy and then the Legislature might be able to align the generation and transmission of power at wholesale in an efficient and constructive manner. It seems almost impossible to believe that this state does not need a consolidation of agencies at the generation and wholesale transmission level of things. The power review board would assist the settlement of disputes at this level as such agencies now exist but it would not eliminate all controversy.

What the different agencies wanted to take into court, they would so take, and the needless cost of endless disputes would go on, to the burden of the ultimate customer. It does not appear even possible that the statewide power situation will be straightened out in any major way during this session of the Legislature.

Change In The Making

New standards for the appraisal of property for tax purposes are expected to be ready this summer. They are being drafted by the state tax commissioner under terms of bills enacted this year by the Legislature. These bills aim at an eventual re-evaluation of the entire state under what should be uniform standards.

This action should go a long way toward helping the tax system in Nebraska. Besides its limited tax base, this state has been hurt by the fact that the assessments against real property have not been uniform except in few areas of concern. There has been no real unity between counties and not enough even within counties themselves.

This new procedure may be of more than average value to Lincoln and Lancaster County as it could be of assistance in the elimination of duplicate assessing and taxing operations in the city and county. The enactment of statewide standards could be the vehicle by which the city and county could come to agreement on the matter of assessments, a major stumbling block at this time to consolidation.

Certainly, Lincoln is going to have to realize that any consolidation cannot be achieved without some upsetting of the applecart. Not all taxpayers are going to be satisfied regardless of what the combination assessment figures finally show. Changes that might be in order on both the city and county rolls could well be softened by the use of uniform and equitable state standards.

It is hoped, at least, that city and county officials stay alert to the state moves and take advantage of any consolidation opportunities offered through this avenue. No one, to date, has given consolidation the attention it should have.

Cowboy Diplomacy

When it comes to official and legislative thinking Nebraska can generally hold its own with any state in the field of error. But our good neighbor Iowa, with whom we have lived so long and pleasantly, has suddenly surged out in front of the pack.

Two items form points of reference.

The Iowa Senate is laboring with a measure to increase its sales tax. But it is also striving to protect its interstate trade. It is proposing an increase in the tax from 2 to 3 per cent, but lest it discourage state line Minnesota and Nebraska patrons from trading in Iowa, it is suggesting that the tax be not levied in 17 counties touching those two states. All we ask is how is Iowa going to tell a Minnesota or a Nebraska man from an Iowa man, and how does it propose to audit its state line storekeepers?

In another field, Iowa and Nebraska cannot get together on a true and mutually satisfactory boundary since the Missouri River divides the two states and has a habit of moving bankline property back and forth. The Carter Lake community, once connected with Iowa but presently attached to Nebraska is a big stumbling block.

An Iowa House committee has just suggested rerouting the river, diverting it westward sufficiently to restore Carter Lake to the Iowa side.

Disregarding the cost of such an undertaking this could touch off the most interesting boundary relationship in all history, a sort of a geographical rodeo with each state lassoing land on the far shore all the way from Sioux City to Rulo.

Company B Reunion

Oldtimers of Nebraska City's famed Company B of the National Guard finally got around to a reunion of those who served on the Mexican border in 1916.

We would say that a first reunion 47 years after the fact is not overdoing it. In fact, so much time has elapsed and so many things have happened that the border matter needs explaining.

It began when a revolutionary chieftan, Pancho Villa, led some of his hearties across the border, shot up a town and committed other depredations. The United States responded with vigor, ordering a punitive expedition calculated to seek out and capture Mr. Villa without regard to which side of the border he happened to be on. The operation was handed to Gen. Frederick Funston, but finally devolved on Gen. John J. Pershing, the same who later achieved distinction by commanding the American Expeditionary Force in France during World War 1.

It marked the first big going away of the National Guard since the Spanish American war. Martial spirit ran high but not as hard as Mr. Villa ran. The result was we never caught him. He was ultimately plugged by several of his own countrymen and died a rather small scale brigand. But the expedition served to get the guard ready for World War I and, at least, in part explained why the boys of '16 did a bang-up job of it at San Mihiel in the Argonne and at Metz.

It did another thing for the Nebraskans. It made them very familiar with Deming, New Mexico, and the hot and uninteresting terrain thereabouts. It is now an attractive little city and many pay a substantial price to build homes on the very ground made dusty by Nebraska guardsmen who considered it anything but beloved.

World War I veterans are more or less forgotten men, but the border boys are even more so, which is a sad commentary on American appreciation.

Key Rules Member Playing Stay-Away

WASHINGTON—One result of the Alabama race riots has been the prolonged absence of one Alabama congressman from Washington. He is Carl Elliott of Jasper, who happens to be the man Kennedy got appointed to the House Rules Committee for the specific purpose of breaking the Republican-Dixiecrat hold on that bottle-neck committee and thereby unblock Kennedy legislation.

What hasn't been widely publicized is that Rep. Elliott has now turned against Kennedy on certain impor*tant issues. That is one rea*son he is remaining in Alabama.

Specifically Elliott is against the Youth Employment Corps legislation, now before the Rules Committee. This is a measure to create camps for unemployed youths in order to keep them off the streets and reduce juvenile crime. The corps would operate somewhat similar to the CCC camps before the war which cleaned up the forests, drained swamps and improved the recreation areas.

Elliott is against this bill because the youth camps would be integrated and the race question has become so hot in Alabama, partly as a result of the Birmingham demonstrations, that any congressman who voted for integration, even indirectly, would be defeated.

If Elliott remains away from Washington, there will be a tie vote in the Rules Committee and the youth corps bill will be defeated. If he returns to Washington, he'll vote no, and it will also be defeated. And because Kennedy is unpopular in Alabama, Elliott may vote against other vital measures.

The only Washingtonians so far known to have approached the Catholic papal delegate, Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, regarding birth control are Mrs. Florence Mahoney and Mrs. Ymelda Dixon. They never hesitate to ask the representative of Pope John in Washington when the Vatican is going to see the light of day regarding birth control and the world's population increase.

The other day, Mrs. Ma*honey entertained another* prominent Catholic, Dr. John Rock, who also advocates birth control and appears to have made some progress in converting other Catholics.

"The papal pronouncements imply that the church will welcome a development of improved, reliable, natural methods of fertility regulation," Dr. Rock told listeners. "The need is to find new techniques and effective methods which all religious groups can morally accept."

Racial Peace A Construction Job

WASHINGTON — Violence in Birmingham is a setback for Operation Communications, a race-relations technique developed with exemplary patience and infinite care by the Kennedy administration.

The technique will be renewed with even greater urgency because those involved in it have everything to gain by the establishment of orderly change in race relations all over the United States. Without it the losses could extend to undetermined dimensions for all Americans

The President and his brother, the attorney general, realized months ago that racial peace was a construction job as well as a legal and political matter. When they looked for ways to build the necessary foundations, they were forced to recognize certain realities.

Almost daily they were being scalded by the steam built up by racial tensions. They knew they would have to take responsibility for what happened, whether they altogether deserved it or not, and they could be reasonably sure something would happen.

They knew they could depend on the federal courts, with some temporary stalls in a few quarters. They expected church support. But they have learned from the experience of other Presidents, and some of their politicians for the most part were but pliant weapons in the struggle.

Their first disheartening discovery was that while they could talk to the opposing factions in any given situation, the factions would not talk to each other, had never had any real system of communications and did not want one.

Efforts to overcome that situation were made, but generally with indifferent success. Fear of losing status among the whites involved seemed to grow in proportion to the determination of the younger Negroes to improve theirs. What this means in human terms has been shown in dispatches from Little Rock, from Oxford and now from Birmingham.

Faced with this roadblock, the administration turned to leaders of public opinion in troubled areas. They did better there, but it is one of the sadder aspects of this age of bland conformity that they found so few towering figures who could and would appeal to the public conscience.

The next hard look had to be at the real money and power and social structure underlying such rich communities as Birmingham. Obviously it was not all local. Obviously, too, the men who really pulled the strings had so far chosen to stand aside.

The lines were opened up to such people in various ways. Some were possible only to the federal government, with its superior access to the story of just who runs this country anyway. Like doctors, administration conciliators probed that anatomy of power.

Fear Rise Of Black Muslims

WASHINGTON — Whether a reconciliation of Negroes and whites can come within the framework of the American system is the unanswered question in Birmingham, and not only there but in the North as well as the South.

If Birmingham proves that it cannot, then extremism and violence will spread. There is a time bomb that ticks steadily away as the moderates lose in the struggle to make a beginning at proving to the Negro minority that equal opportunity can be a reality. That is the Black Muslim movement.

In actual membership its present strength is not large. With its fanaticism and its hocus-pocus of secrecy most Negroes are repelled. But its influence — its attraction— is believed to be growing. The peril is, above all, in that if only as a symbol the Muslim doctrine of complete separation from and hostility to white America will seem to offer an alternative.

The attitude on both sides of the color line has been: Don't look now and maybe it will go away. With reasonable progress toward a racial solution it would go away. But, as Birmingham has proved, a few bomb throwers can set off a corresponding reaction of violence from the other side.

Is the Black Muslim movement subversive? That is a question security officers in the government are not prepared to answer. One reason is a curious development that in a sense puts the Black Muslims beyond surveillance.

Black Muslims have been jailed for various offenses. No matter what the prison routine or what duties they are supposed to be engaged in they take the privilege of observing at certain stated times the religious custom of bowing to the East. Four or five court decisions have already held that they have this right since the Black Muslims are a religious movement. If it is, in fact, a religious movement, the power of government is severely limited.

In this is a wry commentary on the racial tragedy as it has unfolded in recent months in the South. The Negro leaders and most of the rank and file have had a deep religious motivation. Their Christianity has made itself manifest in many ways. In the most searing and dreadful of the photographs showing police dogs leaping at prone or kneeling figures the image of the Christian martyr in the arena was vividly recalled.

The tradition of faith is deeply rooted, being part of the long, painful climb up from slavery. How long it can survive is another unanswered question. Part of the Black Muslim doctrine is that Christianity is a white religion used for centuries by the colonial oppressors and enslavers. In contrast, the Muslim faith, as expounded by the leaders of the movement in this country, is anti-white and as such allied to the tide of color rising in Africa and Asia.

The truce in Birmingham was fragile enough. It represented hundreds of hours of painstaking effort. In retrospect, it can be argued that the government in Washington should have done far more. That was said of President Eisenhower over Little Rock when finally, after the highly publicized negotiation with Gov. Orville Faubus, it became evident that law and order could not be maintained without federal troops.

Those in the administration, notably Assistant Attorney General Burke Marshall, who had worked so hard and so patiently for a reconciliation short of violence and imposed force, were both proud and immensely relieved when it seemed to have been ratified. Over Saturday and into the early hours of Sunday, until word of the riots came, the United States Information Agency and the Voice of America had put in many hours preparing to tell the world how the conflict had been resolved by peaceful means.

Surveys show that the effect of Birmingham is worse, and particularly in Africa, than the violence at Oxford, Mississippi, last year over the admission of a Negro student, James Meredith. The pictures of the police dogs widely printed have been highly damaging. In the Oxford episode what impressed even hostile critics was that the government of the United States sent in 20,000 troops to insure the integration of a single Negro student.

This was massive proof of concern for equality of opportunity. The limits on the poser of the federal government in the Birmingham situation are hard to explain to peoples whose only concept of police power is that which resides in the central government. States rights is a singularly American doctrine. Little Rock, Oxford, Birmingham — these have been priceless gifts to America's enemies everywhere.

U.S. Carrying Big U.N. Financial Load

U THANT
. . . trouble meeting the payroll . . .

NEW YORK—It's coming up time for UN to sit down again to ponder what has become its most chronic problem: the question of keeping the organization from falling on its face, fiscally.

Early reports from the 21-nation budgetary committee hinted that the committee had the gall to consider recommending that the U.S. increase its basic dues from 32.02 per cent of the total contributed by the 100 nations to 36 per cent. But when budget hearings open, this suggestion may not be presented. Perhaps the committee remembered a note of certain impatience contained in a State Department memo of last March which concluded:

"The United States position on any possible future contribution above regular scale assessment for peace-keeping operations will be decisively influenced in the months ahead by the financial support which other members of the United Nations actually provide."

This had mainly to do with the support of the UN military effort in the Congo, which was at that time costing about $10,000,000 a month. We were picking up a vast percentage of the tab. The Soviet Union, France and all except 18 other nations in the club refused to contribute anything. We took our beef to the World Court but the court has no authority to carry out its decision.

Moral influence occasionally has difficulty finding the right password into UN.

Our precise contribution to the work of UN is not an easy figure to obtain. The 32.02 per cent commitment came to a comparatively modest $23,734,542 last year. But then there are contributions to many separate agencies of UN, the support of the Palestine refugees, the maintenance of the police force in the Gaza strip, and the aforementioned Congo army. It came to somewhat over $200,000,000.

There are two ways to look at a figure of that size. It can be said that it represents just a little over $1 a head for every American, a good and reasonable investment in peace. But there are also a lot of Americans who resent the assumption by so many powers — most of them beneficiaries of direct foreign aid — that in a pinch at UN the U.S. will always come up with the necessary cash to keep the organization going.

There was no alarm in the voice of a member of the Secretariat who told me last night that unless fresh funds are forthcoming, U Thant will not be able to meet the payroll after Sept. 1. He was sure that funds would appear, and he left no doubt as to the identity of the earmarked donor.

The Soviet Union's basic contribution, or share of the rudimentary dues, is 14.97 per cent. That puts it in second place to America. Then comes the United Kingdom, 7.58, France 5.94, Republic of China 4.57 and Canada, 3.12. The Soviets, prime cause of so many UN headaches, are the second largest basic contributors to the organization, but are highly selective about contributing to UN good works in humanitarian fields.

The UN bond sales, the shot in the arm that saved the ship last year, are going so-so. Neither Russia nor France has bought a single bond. We match whatever any nation buys — with a ceiling of $100,000,000. So far we've matched $59,373,840 worth, ranging from Britain's purchase of $12,000,000 worth down to Viet Nam's $10,000 and Cameroon's $9,569.

Copyright, 1963, By UPI

Some of the new nations in the club have borrowed money from the U.S. with which to pay their dues and thus become eligible for UN's many commendable doles. Others just don't pay. The charter rules that if a nation falls more than two years behind in its dues, it forfeits the right to vote in the assembly. But the assembly must pass on this, and it just doesn't have the heart to "post" a nation and deprive of its bar privileges . . .

Besides, there's always Sam, everybody's favorite uncle . . .

Paper Boy

When I was seven and eight and nine
I carried papers round the block;
An early morning route was mine
And I was governed by the clock.

Today I longer lie in bed,
To sleep an extra hour or more,
Assured that when the night has fled
I'll find my paper at the door.

The rain may fall, the wind may blow,
The cold may leave the fingers numb,
But notwithstanding storms, I know
The paper boy will come.

For that the weather must be fair.
But notwithstanding gale or squall,
That faithful youngster will be there.

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If there is anything more risky than a prediction of the outcome of public power proposals in the current Legislature, it fails to come to mind. There hasn't been anything in a long time that could stand up to public power when it comes to the in's and out's of politics and pressures. Because of the many and varied interest groups in the power picture, it is next to impossible to say what will happen next on this subject.

Two Matters At Issue

The issue has brought about narrow splits in the Legislature and the feelings of senators have been running high. A lot of political debts have been paid off and a lot more contracted in the past few weeks of debate over public power. Still, the Legislature appears to be headed in a direction that is not altogether bad or insignificant. Much depends, of course, on what takes place on specific matters but two general matters appear strong at the moment. Passed just Tuesday by the legislators on final reading was a bill for creation of a power review board for the settlement of disputes between different power agencies.

But any realignment of agencies on a statewide basis appears to be doomed. The second possibility is the satisfaction of municipal interests by removal of the requirement for a vote of the people for the acquisition of retail power facilities in 1972 from Consumers Public Power District.

In and of itself, this proposal is of merit as it only makes sense that municipalities be permitted to take over their retail distribution systems in 1972 if they so desire. This has been the intent of all public power law and operations since the state went into the power business in the 1930's.

Removal of the requirement of a vote of the people is not an action advocated without some reservations. With the demonstration of pure politics and pressure we have seen in this session of the Legislature, one might wonder if the power business should not be kept as close to the people as possible. Certainly, a majority of the Legislature has not demonstrated nearly the concern for the general public interest in the subject of power as it has concern for this and that area of special interest. Politics has often taken over where the interest of the people should have been supreme. This is not a good recommendation for removal of the vote requirement but it is hoped that the people can maintain a little better control of things at the local level.

This, of course, raises the question of administration at the local level. Lincoln has not yet determined whether, when it does take over all power operations here, there will be an elected or appointed power board or whether there will be any power board at all. The matter at this stage of the game would be in the hands of the City Council. If the retail power operation escapes a public accountability at the local level, the people in general could be in pretty bad shape. That matter, however, is one to be solved at the local level, not by the Legislature. And there is plenty of time to solve it if the senators provide the problem by guaranteeing municipalities their retail systems in 1972.

The Legislature could greatly improve the situation for the state if, when it approved the elimination of the voter requirement, it required municipalities to continue to purchase power from Consumers Public Power District or Nebraska Public Power System to the extent of purchases for that city as of 1972. This would eliminate a move by municipalities into the generation business at the expense of existing statewide generation and the ruination of public power for all but the larger areas of Nebraska.

It would leave the cities free, of course, to purchase or manufacture all power needs in excess of those in existence as of 1972. In other words, the cities could take care of all growth in any way that suited them, thereby freeing them to seek the cheapest electric energy available.

Toward Other Solutions

If legislation in the Unicameral came to such a pass, it could contribute toward the solution of other statewide problems in 1965. If municipalities were out of the way in 1965, it would mean that much less of a controversy and then the Legislature might be able to align the generation and transmission of power at wholesale in an efficient and constructive manner. It seems almost impossible to believe that this state does not need a consolidation of agencies at the generation and wholesale transmission level of things. The power review board would assist the settlement of disputes at this level as such agencies now exist but it would not eliminate all controversy.

What the different agencies wanted to take into court, they would so take, and the needless cost of endless disputes would go on, to the burden of the ultimate customer. It does not appear even possible that the statewide power situation will be straightened out in any major way during this session of the Legislature.

Change In The Making

New standards for the appraisal of property for tax purposes are expected to be ready this summer. They are being drafted by the state tax commissioner under terms of bills enacted this year by the Legislature. These bills aim at an eventual re-evaluation of the entire state under what should be uniform standards.

This action should go a long way toward helping the tax system in Nebraska. Besides its limited tax base, this state has been hurt by the fact that the assessments against real property have not been uniform except in few areas of concern. There has been no real unity between counties and not enough even within counties themselves.

This new procedure may be of more than average value to Lincoln and Lancaster County as it could be of assistance in the elimination of duplicate assessing and taxing operations in the city and county. The enactment of statewide standards could be the vehicle by which the city and county could come to agreement on the matter of assessments, a major stumbling block at this time to consolidation.

Certainly, Lincoln is going to have to realize that any consolidation cannot be achieved without some upsetting of the applecart. Not all taxpayers are going to be satisfied regardless of what the combination assessment figures finally show. Changes that might be in order on both the city and county rolls could well be softened by the use of uniform and equitable state standards.

It is hoped, at least, that city and county officials stay alert to the state moves and take advantage of any consolidation opportunities offered through this avenue. No one, to date, has given consolidation the attention it should have.

Cowboy Diplomacy

When it comes to official and legislative thinking Nebraska can generally hold its own with any state in the field of error. But our good neighbor Iowa, with whom we have lived so long and pleasantly, has suddenly surged out in front of the pack.

Two items form points of reference.

The Iowa Senate is laboring with a measure to increase its sales tax. But it is also striving to protect its interstate trade. It is proposing an increase in the tax from 2 to 3 per cent, but lest it discourage state line Minnesota and Nebraska patrons from trading in Iowa, it is suggesting that the tax be not levied in 17 counties touching those two states. All we ask is how is Iowa going to tell a Minnesota or a Nebraska man from an Iowa man, and how does it propose to audit its state line storekeepers?

In another field, Iowa and Nebraska cannot get together on a true and mutually satisfactory boundary since the Missouri River divides the two states and has a habit of moving bankline property back and forth. The Carter Lake community, once connected with Iowa but presently attached to Nebraska is a big stumbling block.

An Iowa House committee has just suggested rerouting the river, diverting it westward sufficiently to restore Carter Lake to the Iowa side.

Disregarding the cost of such an undertaking this could touch off the most interesting boundary relationship in all history, a sort of a geographical rodeo with each state lassoing land on the far shore all the way from Sioux City to Rulo.

Company B Reunion

Oldtimers of Nebraska City's famed Company B of the National Guard finally got around to a reunion of those who served on the Mexican border in 1916.

We would say that a first reunion 47 years after the fact is not overdoing it. In fact, so much time has elapsed and so many things have happened that the border matter needs explaining.

It began when a revolutionary chieftan, Pancho Villa, led some of his hearties across the border, shot up a town and committed other depredations. The United States responded with vigor, ordering a punitive expedition calculated to seek out and capture Mr. Villa without regard to which side of the border he happened to be on. The operation was handed to Gen. Frederick Funston, but finally devolved on Gen. John J. Pershing, the same who later achieved distinction by commanding the American Expeditionary Force in France during World War I.

It marked the first big going away of the National Guard since the Spanish American war. Martial spirit ran high but not as hard as Mr. Villa ran. The result was we never caught him. He was ultimately plugged by several of his own countrymen and died a rather small scale brigand. But the expedition served to get the guard ready for World War I and, at least, in part explained why the boys of '16 did a bang-up job of it at San Mihiel in the Argonne and at Metz.

It did another thing for the Nebraskans. It made them very familiar with Deming, New Mexico, and the hot and uninteresting terrain thereabouts. It is now an attractive little city and many pay a substantial price to build homes on the very ground made dusty by Nebraska guardsmen who considered it anything but beloved.

World War I veterans are more or less forgotten men, but the border boys are even more so, which is a sad commentary on American appreciation.

Key Rules Member Playing Stay-Away

WASHINGTON—One result of the Alabama race riots has been the prolonged absence of one Alabama congressman from Washington. He is Carl Elliott of Jasper, who happens to be the man Kennedy got appointed to the House Rules Committee for the specific purpose of breaking the Republican-Dixiecrat hold on that bottle-neck committee and thereby unblock Kennedy legislation.

What hasn't been widely publicized is that Rep. Elliott has now turned against Kennedy on certain important issues. That is one reason he is remaining in Alabama.

Specifically Elliott is against the Youth Employment Corps legislation, now before the Rules Committee. This is a measure to create camps for unemployed youths in order to keep them off the streets and reduce juvenile crime. The corps would operate somewhat similar to the CCC camps before the war which cleaned up the forests, drained swamps and improved the recreation areas.

Elliott is against this bill because the youth camps would be integrated, and the race question has become so hot in Alabama, partly as a result of the Birmingham demonstrations, that any congressman who voted for integration, even indirectly, would be defeated.

If Elliott remains away from Washington, there will be a tie vote in the Rules Committee and the youth corps bill will be defeated. If he returns to Washington, he'll vote no, and it will also be defeated. And because Kennedy is unpopular in Alabama, Elliott may vote against other vital measures.

The only Washingtonians so far known to have approached the Catholic papal delegate, Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, regarding birth control are Mrs. Florence Mahoney and Mrs. Ymelda Dixon. They never hesitate to ask the representative of Pope John in Washington when the Vatican is going to see the light of day regarding birth control and the world's population increase.

The other day, Mrs. Mahoney entertained another prominent Catholic, Dr. John Rock, who also advocates birth control and appears to have made some progress in converting other Catholics.

"The papal pronouncements imply that the church will welcome a development of improved, reliable, natural methods of fertility regulation," Dr. Rock told listeners. "The need is to find new techniques and effective methods which all religious groups can morally accept."

Racial Peace A Construction Job

WASHINGTON — Violence in Birmingham is a setback for Operation Communications, a race-relations technique developed with exemplary patience and infinite care by the Kennedy administration.

The technique will be renewed with even greater urgency because those involved in it have everything to gain by the establishment of orderly change in race relations all over the United States. Without it the losses could extend to undetermined dimensions for all Americans.

The President and his brother, the attorney general, realized months ago that racial peace was a construction job as well as a legal and political matter. When they looked for ways to build the necessary foundations, they were forced to recognize certain realities.

The UN bond sales, the shot in the arm that saved the ship last year, are going so-so. Neither Russia nor France has bought a single bond. We match whatever any nation buys — with a ceiling of $100,000,000. So far we've matched $59,373,840 worth, ranging from Britain's purchase of $12,000,000 worth down to Viet Nam's $10,000 and Cameroon's $9,569.

Some of the new nations in the club have borrowed money from the U.S. with which to pay their dues and thus become eligible for UN's many commendable doles. Others just don't pay. The charter rules that if a nation falls more than two years behind in its dues, it forfeits the right to vote in the assembly. But the assembly must pass on this, and it just doesn't have the heart to "post" a nation and deprive of its bar privileges . . .

Paper Boy

When I was seven and eight and nine
I carried papers round the block;
An early morning route was mine
And I was governed by the clock.

Today I longer lie in bed,
To sleep an extra hour or more,
Assured that when the night has fled
I'll find my paper at the door.

The rain may fall, the wind may blow,
The cold may leave the fingers numb,
But notwithstanding storms, I know
The paper boy will come.

Old friends may fail on me to call—
For that the weather must be fair.
But notwithstanding gale or squall,
That faithful youngster will be there.

Steel Contract Reopening In Air

Pittsburgh (AP) — The question of whether basic steel labor contracts will be reopened is still "up in the air," President David J McDonald of the United Steelworkers said Tuesday.

McDonald made the comment after the union's executive board breezed through a scheduled two-day meeting in about two hours. A reason for the abrupt ending was not given.

The board was called together for a briefing on the status of continuing discussions of the joint union-management human relations committee, a group which studies mutual problems but does not negotiate in the general sense.

McDonald would not say whether the discussions are bearing fruit He said no understandings had been reached on anything so far.

A formal statement by McDonald and his comments to newsmen contained no clues as to whether the committee discussions were laying the foundation for agreements which could avert a possible steel strike.

The union can demand a reopening of current contracts at any time and would be free to strike 90 days after reopening.

McDonald was asked if the recent selective price increase by some steelmakers is having any bearing on the discussions. He indicated it isn't, adding.

"Prices are industry business."

The union chief said he feels it will be at least "a few weeks" before he would be able to determine whether current discussions will produce some "understandings."

China, Soviets Plan Meet To Thresh Out Ideological Split

Tokyo (UPI) — Communist China announced Wednesday it will open talks with the Soviet Union in Moscow July 5 to thresh out the ideological controversy splitting the world's two Communist giants.

The official Communist New China News Agency, in a report monitored here, said Communist Chinese Party official Yang Sangkun met with Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chervonenko Monday in Peking on details of the talks.

The Peking announcement said Yang informed the Soviet ambassador China has agreed to a Soviet proposal that the talks "be held in Moscow from July 5."

The Chinese, who last week announced they plan to send a high-level Communist Party delegation to Moscow, had suggested at the time the talks be held in mid June The Russians previously had proposed mid-May.

Observers believed the meeting had been put off until July to avoid conflict with a visit Soviet Premier Nikita S Khrushchev is scheduled to make in June to Yugoslavia, ideological arch-enemy of China

The July date also means the Russians will have more time to prepare their case on the ideological dispute at their Communist Party Central Committee meeting, which was rescheduled Tuesday to start June 18. The Moscow-Peking dispute is expected to be one of the chief issues before the Soviet party meeting.

The Chinese announced earlier their delegation will be headed by Ten Hsiao-ping, general secretary of the Peking Communist Central Committee, and Peng Chen, member of the Politbureau and the Secretariat of the Central Committee

The Moscow talks will provide the first formal confrontation between Russian and Chinese Communist Party delegates on ideological differences that burst into the open late last year and threatens to split the world Communist movement

Franco, Salazar Holding Summit

Merida, Spain (UPI) — The two strongmen of the Iberian Peninsula arrived unexpectedly in this Spanish town Tuesday for a two-day summit meeting

Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco, 70, and Portuguese Prime Minister Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, 74, motored from their respective capitals for the unheralded meeting.

The purpose of the conference, expected to take two days, could not be established immediately

The two men have met in the past, but not frequently for such close neighbors Their last meeting, also in Merida, was on June 22, 1960

Between them they have ruled the Iberian Peninsula since the 1930s Although their interests have not always been identical, they have been drawing closer together in recent years

Portugal is a member of NATO Spain is not, although it cooperates closely with the United States on defense

Although Franco and Salazar both are at an age where most men are tired, neither has given any indication he is thinking about stepping down. There are no clear lines of succession in either case.

The aides they brought with them to the meeting indicated they would discuss international rather than domestic problems Both were accompanied by their foreign ministers and their ambassadors to each other's capital

Spain and Portugal have a mutual defense agreement calling for either nation to aid the other in event of an attack.

Beatrice In New Air Service Move

Beatrice is making another attempt to regain the air service it lost April 1, State Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt disclosed Tuesday.

Sandstedt said the city has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for a special hearing to reconsider its previous decision deleting the city from a segment between Lincoln and Kansas City, Mo.

The CAB turned Beatrice down even though the city made an unprecedented offer to pay the subsidy cost to Frontier Airlines for operating there.

Sandstedt noted that the CAB is not required to grant a rehearing on a final decision.

Beatrice has asked the State Aeronautics Department for assistance, and Sandstedt said it will help if the board agrees to a rehearing.

"They're (Beatrice) quite emphatic from a community standpoint they need this service," Sandstedt commented.

The aeronautics director said Beatrice will probably emphasize that other Nebraska cities received an extension of time to prove they can support commercial air service, while it was denied this opportunity.

The CAB, in dropping service to Beatrice, noted it was only 40 miles from Lincoln and could be served through the Capital City.

Newly Tuned Piano's Funny Sound A Good Sign

By TOM KEITH
Star Staff Writer

That piano that sounds out of tune just after the piano tuner finishes his work may be in tune after all — according to the tuners.

Chuck Burbach, recording secretary of the National Piano Tuners' Association (NPTA), said a person "with little or no musical background and used to working with a piano out of tune" may not like how his tuned piano sounds "until he is used to it again."

Odd things turn up inside pianos. "We find all types of things — pennies, pencils," Burbach said. "I even found a tooth once." He thinks he holds a record — finding 28 pencils in one piano.

Surprisingly, many piano tuners — good ones — can't play the instrument. Walter Boshart, NPTA central region vice president, drew a comparison with "an aircraft mechanic: he can repair the airplane but can't fly it."

Tuned For Cliburn

Both Burbach and Boshart have tuned pianos for Van Cliburn, and one NPTA member regularly tunes the White House piano.

Professional tuners tune pianos by taking the basic note with a tuning fork, Burbach said, then they do the rest by ear.

A piano has 10,000 moving parts, and the average tuner "probably tunes on the average of 500 to 750 a year," Boshart noted.

He recommended that a person wanting to keep his piano at the height of perfection "should have it tuned with the change of each season, or 4 times a year. The person who wants to keep his piano in good condition should have it tuned a minimum of twice a year."

Love And Adeptness

To be a piano tuner, he said, "you have to have a sincere love for music and a certain amount of mechanical adeptness."

Boshart explained: "Tuners first made the whole piano by hand. Then when factories started manufacturing them, the tuner was the final man on the assembly line.

"As years went by, tuners worked in stores and formed guilds. Following World War II, the government paid to have tuners learn the trade. Now you either pick it up by apprenticeship or by attending seminars such as this."

He said 1,450 invitations were sent tuners in Nebraska, Iowa and the surrounding area to attend the two-day seminar.

Family Ties

The two tuners agreed that "family ties are frequently responsible for helping a man become a piano tuner. Some tuners are the third of 3 generations." Burbach's grandfather was a tuner, too.

Boshart said several types of wood are used in the mechanism of today's piano — "maple for the action parts, while pine for the keys, and spruce for the sound board."

He summed up: "Today we have a fine instrument in the piano."

Nebraska Tuners Pick Beatrice Man

Shan Dunlap of Beatrice was elected president of the newly formed Nebraska Chapter of the National Piano Tuners' Association Tuesday to climax a two-day seminar.

Also elected were R. W. (Bob) Nally of Omaha, vice president, and Clarence Stout, of Holyoke, Colo., secretary-treasurer.

Rite Thursday For Railroader F. R. Mullen

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church for Francis R. Mullen, 86, of 2205 Worthington, retired general manager of the Burlington lines west.

Mr. Mullen, who died Tuesday, was born at Pulaski, N.Y. In 1888 he learned to operate the telegraph for a New York railroad.

He came to Lincoln with his family in 1889 and became a telegraph operator in 1893 for the Burlington at Havelock. He was promoted to dispatcher in 1897 and trainmaster in 1907.

From 1911 until 1931 he served successively as superintendent at Sterling, Col., Omaha, Wymore and Lincoln.

In 1932 he was appointed general superintendent at Lincoln and was general manager of the Burlington lines west from 1936 until his retirement in 1947.

He is survived by his widow, Belva; 4 nephews, John F. Lawlor, Charles O. Lawlor and John L. Mullen, all of Lincoln, and James Daly of Syracuse, N.Y., and two nieces, Mrs. Fred Deutsch of Norfolk and Mrs. Frank Jenkins of Omaha.

NAACP Handbills Hit Vote By Sen. Stromer

"Shall we re-elect Sen. Marvin Stromer in 1964?" asks a handbill being distributed in Stromer's district by the Lincoln chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The handbill reminds voters that Stromer voted to kill LB347, the fair employment practices bill, on May 6, and urges them to come to the Capitol to see how Stromer will vote on a substitute measure.

Mrs. Leola Bullock, president of the local NAACP, told The Star Tuesday that about 500 of the handbills are being distributed from door to door, chiefly in the area bounded by R and Vine, 19th and 27th streets.

To be discussed in the Legislature Wednesday is an amendment to LB347 to be introduced by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings. The amendment, which the handbill says is "weaker" than the original measure, would cancel all the provisions of the present bill and substitute a statement that discrimination in hiring on the basis or race, religion, or national origin would be illegal in Nebraska.

Such discrimination is now illegal for firms engaged in manufacturing military or naval equipment for the federal government or the state in Nebraska.

The original LB347, which was killed by the Legislature May 6 and revived Thursday with the understanding that Sen. Marvel would amend it, would have forbidden firms, employment agencies and labor unions to elicit information or keep records concerning race, religion or national origin.

Lawn and garden tips. Local nurserymen write columns in the "Sunday Journal and Star." They tell you when to plant, how to prune, best ways to control weeds and insects, and how to care for your lawn and garden plants.

©1963 VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

Nobody really notices Volkswagens any more.

They're so well known, they sort of blend in with the scenery.

It doesn't matter what the scenery is, either. You can buy a VW in any one of 633 cities in the country. (Or in any one of 136 countries in the world.)

And that takes in lots of scenery. Deserts. Mountains. Hot places. Cold places.

Hot and cold just aren't important. The VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use any water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWs also get along so well wherever they are because the VW people make sure that their service is as good in Toledo as it is in Tasmania.

The only reason you can't buy a VW at the North Pole is that Volkswagen won't sell you one. (No service around the corner.)

Beatrice In New Air Service Move

Beatrice is making another attempt to regain the air service it lost April 1, State Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt disclosed Tuesday.

Sandstedt said the city has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for a special hearing to reconsider its previous decision deleting the city from a segment between Lincoln and Kansas City, Mo.

The CAB turned Beatrice down even though the city made an unprecedented offer to pay the subsidy cost to Frontier Airlines for operating there.

Sandstedt noted that the CAB is not required to grant a rehearing on a final decision.

Beatrice has asked the State Aeronautics Department for assistance, and Sandstedt said it will help if the board agrees to a rehearing.

"They're (Beatrice) quite emphatic from a community standpoint they need this service," Sandstedt commented.

The aeronautics director said Beatrice will probably emphasize that other Nebraska cities received an extension of time to prove they can support commercial air service, while it was denied this opportunity.

The CAB, in dropping service to Beatrice, noted it was only 40 miles from Lincoln and could be served through the Capital City.

Rite Thursday For Railroader F. R. Mullen

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church for Francis R. Mullen, 86, of 2205 Worthington, retired general manager of the Burlington lines west.

Mr. Mullen, who died Tuesday, was born at Pulaski, N.Y. In 1888 he learned to operate the telegraph for a New York railroad.

He came to Lincoln with his family in 1889 and became a telegraph operator in 1893 for the Burlington at Havelock. He was promoted to dispatcher in 1897 and trainmaster in 1907.

From 1911 until 1931 he served successively as superintendent at Sterling, Col., Omaha, Wymore and Lincoln.

In 1932 he was appointed general superintendent at Lincoln and was general manager of the Burlington lines west from 1936 until his retirement in 1947.

He is survived by his widow, Belva; 4 nephews, John F. Lawlor, Charles O. Lawlor and John L. Mullen, all of Lincoln, and James Daly of Syracuse, N.Y., and two nieces, Mrs. Fred Deutsch of Norfolk and Mrs. Frank Jenkins of Omaha.

Newly Tuned Piano's Funny Sound A Good Sign

By TOM KEITH
Star Staff Writer

That piano that sounds out of tune just after the piano tuner finishes his work may be in tune after all — according to the tuners.

Chuck Burbach, recording secretary of the National Piano Tuners' Association (NPTA), said a person "with little or no musical background and used to working with a piano out of tune" may not like how his tuned piano sounds "until he is used to it again."

Odd things turn up inside pianos. "We find all types of things — pennies, pencils," Burbach said. "I even found a tooth once." He thinks he holds a record — finding 28 pencils in one piano.

Surprisingly, many piano tuners — good ones — can't play the instrument. Walter Boshart, NPTA central region vice president, drew a comparison with "an aircraft mechanic: he can repair the airplane but can't fly it."

Tuned For Cliburn

Both Burbach and Boshart have tuned pianos for Van Cliburn, and one NPTA member regularly tunes the White House piano.

Professional tuners tune pianos by taking the basic note with a tuning fork, Burbach said, then they do the rest by ear.

A piano has 10,000 moving parts, and the average tuner "probably tunes on the average of 500 to 750 a year," Boshart noted.

He recommended that a person wanting to keep his piano at the height of perfection "should have it tuned with the change of each season, or 4 times a year. The person who wants to keep his piano in good condition should have it tuned a minimum of twice a year."

Love And Adeptness

To be a piano tuner, he said, "you have to have a sincere love for music and a certain amount of mechanical adeptness."

Boshart explained: "Tuners first made the whole piano by hand. Then when factories started manufacturing them, the tuner was the final man on the assembly line.

"As years went by, tuners worked in stores and formed guilds. Following World War II, the government paid to have tuners learn the trade. Now you either pick it up by apprenticeship or by attending seminars such as this."

He said 1,450 invitations were sent tuners in Nebraska, Iowa and the surrounding area to attend the two-day seminar.

Family Ties

The two tuners agreed that "family ties are frequently responsible for helping a man become a piano tuner. Some tuners are the third of 3 generations." Burbach's grandfather was a tuner, too.

Boshart said several types of wood are used in the mechanism of today's piano — "maple for the action parts, white pine for the keys, and spruce for the sound board."

He summed up: "Today we have a fine instrument in the piano."

Nebraska Tuners Pick Beatrice Man

Shan Dunlap of Beatrice was elected president of the newly formed Nebraska Chapter of the National Piano Tuners' Association Tuesday to climax a two-day seminar.

Also elected were R. W. (Bob) Nally of Omaha, vice president, and Clarence Stout, of Holyoke, Colo., secretary-treasurer.

NAACP Handbills Hit Vote By Sen. Stromer

"Shall we re-elect Sen. Marvin Stromer in 1964?" asks a handbill being distributed in Stromer's district by the Lincoln chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The handbill reminds voters that Stromer voted to kill LB347, the fair employment practices bill, on May 6, and urges them to come to the Capitol to see how Stromer will vote on a substitute measure.

Mrs. Leola Bullock, president of the local NAACP, told The Star Tuesday that about 500 of the handbills are being distributed from door to door, chiefly in the area bounded by R and Vine, 19th and 27th streets.

To be discussed in the Legislature Wednesday is an amendment to LB347 to be introduced by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings. The amendment, which the handbill says is "weaker" than the original measure, would cancel all the provisions of the present bill and substitute a statement that discrimination in hiring on the basis or race, religion, or national origin would be illegal in Nebraska.

Such discrimination is now illegal for firms engaged in manufacturing military or naval equipment for the federal government or the state in Nebraska.

The original LB347, which was killed by the Legislature May 6 and revived Thursday with the understanding that Sen. Marvel would amend it, would have forbidden firms, employment agencies and labor unions to elicit information or keep records concerning race, religion or national origin.

Repeal Bill Passed

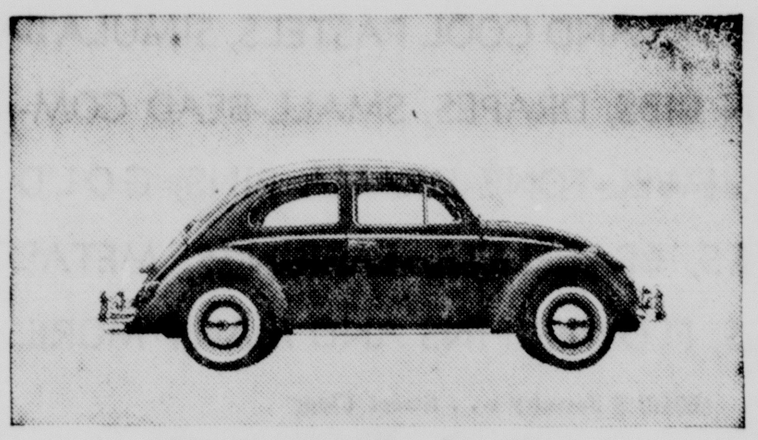
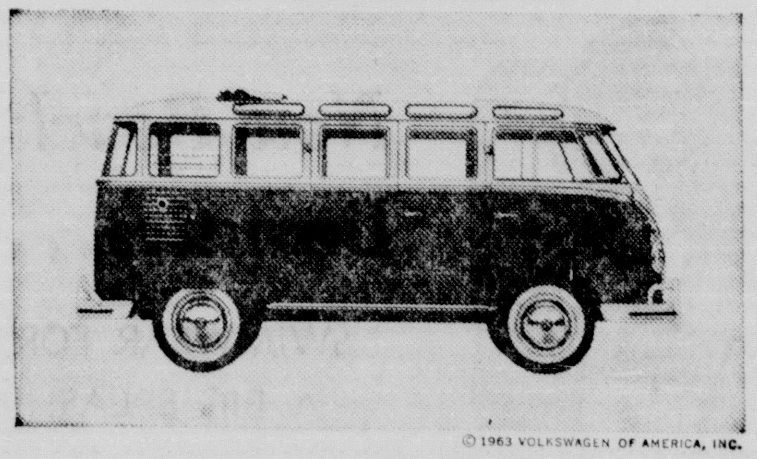
Lawn and garden tips. Local nurserymen write columns in the "Sunday Journal and Star." They tell you when to plant, how to prune, best ways to control weeds and insects, and how to care for your lawn and garden plants.



Some are like beetles.



© 1963 VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

Some are like boxes.

Nobody really notices Volkswagens any more. They're so well known, they sort of blend in with the scenery.

It doesn't matter what the scenery is, either. You can buy a VW in any one of 633 cities in the country. (Or in any one of 136 countries in the world.)

And that takes in lots of scenery. Deserts. Mountains. Hot places. Cold places.

Hot and cold just aren't important. The VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use any water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWs also get along so well wherever they are because the VW people make sure that their service is as good in Toledo as it is in Tasmania.

The only reason you can't buy a VW at the North Pole is that Volkswagen won't sell you one. (No service around the corner.)

Automation Means 'Better' Vote Tallies

Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett Tuesday submitted a report to the Legislature on the electronic vote counting tests conducted in Omaha April 23.

The test, using electronic vote computer machines, was in conjunction with the special University of Omaha mill levy ballot.

Generally, Hassett said, the electronic method was a "huge success."

Phase 2 of the test will be carried out next year in the presidential primary election, Hassett noted.

"There is no doubt in my mind," Hassett said, "as to the increased accuracy of electronic vote counting over the manual method. A majority of the 1,204 members of the counting board would agree with me, I am sure."

Hassett said the board ran numerous spot checks to determine accuracy of the computer system and "it came out close to 100%."

Hassett estimated that by utilizing the computer system next year, Douglas County will save about $10,000 in comparison to the manual system.

Workers Lay Paved Mile In A Day

Kearney (AP)— Roberts Construction Co. of Lincoln has set what has been described as a new state and national record for paving.

Last Thursday Roberts workers laid 5,288 feet of reinforced concrete paving, 24 feet wide and 9 inches thick.

An official of the Portland Cement Association said this is the first time a mile of paving has been laid in Nebraska in a single day.

A new mark also was established in the use of mobile mixers, which are not used in any other states.

The mile of paving was laid on the stretch of Interstate 80 between Wood River and Shelton.

Roberts also holds the paving contract for the Newark-Kearney stretch of the Interstate and the Kearney interchange. A crew is expected to start on this project in about two weeks.

Missouri Valley Construction Co., Grand Island, which holds a contract for grading and paving on the Kearney-Lexington segment, started work south of Odessa Monday, working toward Kearney.

A huge dredger, costing $5,450,000, has been ordered from a Dutch firm for the use in Calcutta's port. The hopper capacity of 5,000 tons will make the dredger India's largest.

Nasserites Threaten Trouble For Ba'athists

Damascus Syria (AP) — Pro Nasser politicians threatened trouble for the new Ba athi Nationalist government of Syria Tuesday They shunned a Ba athist peace offer and stuck to their demands for a major voice in Syrian affairs

The government warned it would tolerate no resumption of pro Nasser rioting It ordered schools closed and sent steel helmeted police to the university compound in Damascus The police withdrew, however, Tuesday afternoon

Curfews remained on in the northern city of Aleppo and several other places But quiet was reported throughout the nation Political circles feared a resumption of last week's rioting would result if the Nasserites were ignored in the formation of the government

Formed Government

Premier Salah Bitar formed the new government Monday dropping all Nasserites who had resigned last week They had charged their voices were muzzled

Bitar announced, however, that his new government would work for the planned union of Syria, Iraq and Egypt in a new Arab federation with President Gamal Abdel Nasser at its head

The Ba'athists were reported still hoping to win cooperation from the Nasserites

But non Ba athist sources reported the Nasserites still insisted on strong representation in the government and the reinstatement of 47 army officers fired by the pro Ba ath military command

Riots

After the Nasserites quit the government last week but ter pro Nasser rioting broke out Bitar resigned as premier but re emerged Monday after Dr Sami Jundi reported he was unable to form a government

Jundi said that after becoming premier designate on Saturday he had offered the Nasserites a 2 1 majority in his cabinet but that they demanded a 4 1 advantage over the Ba'athists

Ba athist control of Syria could hand Nasser a setback in his plans for the Arab federation He proposes the federation based on a one party system that would submerge the Ba athists

However with Ba athists in control in both Syria and Iraq, he can be outvoted 2 1 on federation decisions in Cairo

"Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers, in turn, warrant to owners as follows: That for 24 months or for 24,000 miles*, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by the tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades, brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items."

You can't put a long-term warranty like ours on a short-term car. The '63 Fords have a better warranty because they're built better than any Fords in history. They have more steel in the frame, more strength in the body, stronger, tighter construction all through. You see evidence of this extra toughness in Ford's astounding competitive wins this year.

'63 Fords won the Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, and the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only cars with total performance could roll up so many impressive wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total performance.

*90 days or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, for the 427 C.I.D. 4V or 8V and 289 C.I.D. 4V engines and related power train components

It's Always Fun Time In Suburbia

COTNER TERRACE

Those lazy warm spring days are upon us and, no doubt, many a Suburban family can be found puttering around the yard and flower bed, enjoying these last few weeks of mild temperatures; for if Nebraska runs true to form it won't be long before "heat waves" will make their appearance.

But no matter what the weatherman foresees in his crystal ball, there is activity a-plenty in Suburbia, and since Mother's Day is gone, but not forgotten, we have past news too.

Mr. and Mrs. John Herstein and their children, Julie, and Johnny, for instance, were accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Drake, for the family dinner on Sunday afternoon at Dale's Steak House.

Other family members included Mr. and Mrs. William Herstein and their children, Nancy, Susie, and Jim; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herstein, and their children, Jack and Bob, and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kehn and their daughter Jane.

And in town during the Mother's Day weekend was Mrs. Herstein's niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chinnuck and their children, Mary Jane and Tom, of Hemingford.

While in Lincoln they were the huouseguests of Mrs. Chinnuck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bell.

Not everyone spent Mother's Day at home, however. We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Leland Ward, and their daughter, Patty, spent the weekend camping out near Harlan Dam. The time was devoted to fishing and boating, plus a visit with Mr. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ward.

Also out of town for the Mother's Day weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ritenour and their sons Mark and Mike who attended the baptism of Mrs. Ritenour's nephew, Rod Stewart, in Western.

Other family members joining in the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Stewart, Mrs. Verena Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Drake, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Drake Jr. and their daughter Jody of Daykin.

This seems to be the time of year when everyone is getting together with friends and enjoying a backyard cookout.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rittenberg and their children, Terri, Janell, Lora, Kevin and Karin, joined forces with Mr. and Mrs. James Horan and their children, Mike, Alan, and Russell for an evening barbecue at the Horans' new home in Maple Village.

The Horan family were former Cotner Terrace residents before moving to Maple Village last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dorenbach were host and hostess recently at a multiple celebration. It was a dinner party in honor of three birthdays. The first was that of Steven Dorenbach who was six years old on May 6; the second belonged to Joe Dorenbach who was nine years old on May 5, and the third honoree was Mrs. Dorenbach's nephew, Scott Otley who just turned nine.

Helping the threesome celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. William Otley and their children, Louise, Rodney, and Scott; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Cliffton and their children, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Otley, Tom, Frank, and Mike; Mrs. Burt Johnson and Steven and Joe's brother, Kevin.

soon will be bidding farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Overbeck who are leaving Lincoln to reside in Greeley, Colo. The expected move is to be made on June 1.

Entertaining recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Overbeck are Mr. and Mrs. Don Eckel. An evening of dessert bridge was planned for the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Herman and Mr. and Mrs. Orr Hulbert.

And since last Sunday was Mothers Day, Mr. and Mrs. James Lee entertained their parents at a Mothers Day dinner.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Travels were plentiful last weekend for we have another trip to report. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Martin and their children, Gary, Pam, and Jackie motored to Wolbach to spend the weekend visiting Mr. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin. Joining them in Wolbach on Sunday were Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinrikus of Wood River.

Have some interesting news about these and those this morning—We know of an exciting engagement, too, but we can't mention it at the moment—but any day now and you'll see the announcement.

At this particular moment we wish to extend a greeting to a brand new Kappa legacy, Miss Julie Lynn Ireland, who arrived on Saturday, May 11, in Portland, Ore. Miss Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ireland of Portland, and perhaps you already have guessed that Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ireland of Lincoln are the paternal grandparents.

Also to be included in the baby's circle of admirers are her sister, Suzanne, who is two years-old—and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Boyd of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

If you really want to know if gentlemen prefer blondes there's a good way to find out—The Community Playhouse has chosen the play, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," as its next production—opening Friday evening.

As is traditional with opening night, there will not be coffee during intermission, but there is to be a snack supper following the performance. Hosts and hostesses for the supper period are Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Bernstein and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill.

Serving as coffee hosts and hostesses during the run of the play will be Mr. and Mrs. James McKelvey, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Varvel, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore Mr. and Mrs. Don Gerlach, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howey, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Sommerhauser, Mr. and Mrs. William Marting, Dr. and Mrs. Larry McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morrow, Mr and Mrs. John Spalding, Dr. and Mrs. Dale Capek, Mrs. Don Etmund, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wishnow, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Holliday, Mr and Mrs. Stan Vandersall, Miss Joan Soong, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Devoe, Mr. and Mrs. H. The Bride's Book

A series of prenuptial courtesies has honored Miss Sheral Starck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin L. Starck, who will become the bride of Lloyd N. Riffer, II, of Centralia, Kan., on Saturday, May 25.

This deal was played in a par contest in England. South was expected to reach five hearts on the bidding shown and make the contract.

The apparent losers (looking at all four hands) are a heart, a diamond and a club, and the problem is to cut off one of these losers. Actually, declarer learns the distribution of the East-West cards as he makes his normal sequence of plays, so all he has to do is solve the problem on a double-dummy basis.

West' spade lead is easily read as a singleton. Declarer takes the ace and cashes the A-K-Q of hearts, learning in the process that West started with four trumps. When he then plays the A-K of clubs, he discovers that West also started with four clubs.

The hand is now an open book. West becomes marked as having started with a singleton spade and three four-card suits on the side. Declarer cashes the A-K of diamonds and another high club, at which point this becomes the position:

Dear Abby

Sick Of Psycholcgical Explanations

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am getting a little sick of all those deep-rooted psychological reasons why children do this and that. One, for intance, is the theory that when a child steals something it is a symptom of an unfulfilled need. They say the child who steals a flashlight really wants his mother's love and is not getting it. Couldn't there possibly be another more obvious reason why a child steals a flashlight?

DOUBTING THOMAS

DEAR DOUBTING: Yes, I suppose the child could simply want a flashlight.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: What can a sensible wife do about a husband who is excessively generous to an employee? She is very well paid, so all these extras are uncalled for in my opinion. We get bills from the dentist for Susie's teeth straightening, and from the optician for Robert's glasses. He has lent money to this employee and, as far as I know, she has never paid him back. We are not poor, but if I am going to give away that kind of money I'd rather do it through my Missionary work at church, or CARE.

VERY MUCH ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Tell your husband that every day isn't Christmas, and he is not Santa Claus. I usually advise wives to stay away from their husbands' offices—but in your case I think I'll make an exception.

DEAR ABBY: For the past 16 years an old shipmate of my husband's from World War II has come to spend his summer vacations with us. He stays about three weeks. He never wants to go out. He only wants to sit around and have dinner at home every night. Naturally, I have to cook company meals while he's here. Also I would never think of serving him left-overs, which makes it hard. My husband says that after four days he is no longer a "guest," and I should go back to my normal way of cooking. I can't do that, Abby. To me a guest is a guest as long as he stays. I would appreciate your advice.

JOHN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I think your husband is right. Give your "guest" the company treatment for the first few days, and after that relax and pretend that he is "one of the family." And don't hesitate to serve the left-overs.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO MOTHER MARY: And when HER birthday rolls around, forget the past and remember the present!

☆ ☆ ☆

Yes, Abby will send you a personal reply if you send her a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your problem.

Why Grow Old?

Those Flabby Upper Arms

Josephine Lowman

Do you want to slim those flabby upper arms?.. This exercise will free you from that excess flab.

The flabby upper arms is one figure defect which annoys women from middle age on, and of course, this is even more harassing when wearing more revealing summer clothes. Therefore it seems in order to give you a few corrective exercises at this time of year. Here are a few of them.

1. Stand tall. Raise your arms sideward-upward and clap your hands overhead. Turn your palms outward as you lower your arms to your sides. Continue, clapping overhead and returning arms to sides. Be sure to move the arms sideward-upward and to turn the palms out as the arms move down to the sides.

2. Stand tall. Raise both arms overhead. Palms facing, shoulder width apart. Turn your palms toward the back of the room as you clench your fists and lower your arms very slowly (as though against resistance) until your fists are at chin level. Stretch arms up overhead and continue. Be sure to turn the palms as indicated and to make the clench HARD and the downward movement very slow.

3. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, crossing them in front of your body and then moving them upward overhead and then slowly sideward-downward to starting position. Make these circles as large as comfortable. This one is relaxing to do to music. Waltz time is perfect!

Remember that swimming is a wonderful arm beautifier. Also, the arms require cosmetic aids. No arm is feminine and lovely looking if it has superfluous hair. This can be easily removed with a depilatory. I think this is much better for the arms than shaving since the latter leaves the hair ends stubbier.

Your arms can also profit by the regular use of a softening body lotion. This is especially true in winter weather or when they are subjected to much exposure in the bright summer sun.

If you would like to have my free leaflet, "Armfuls of Beauty," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 11 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Dear Abby

Sick Of Psychological Explanations

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am getting a little sick of all those deep-rooted psychological reasons why children do this and that. One, for intance, is the theory that when a child steals something it is a symptom of an unfulfilled need. They say the child who steals a flashlight really wants his mother's love and is not getting it. Couldn't there possibly be another more obvious reason why a child steals a flashlight?

DOUBTING THOMAS

DEAR DOUBTING: Yes, I suppose the child could simply want a flashlight.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What can a sensible wife do about a husband who is excessively generous to an employee? She is very well paid, so all these extras are uncalled for in my opinion. We get bills from the dentist for Susie's teeth straightening, and from the optician for Robert's glasses. He has lent money to this employee and, as far as I know, she has never paid him back. We are not poor, but if I am going to give away that kind of money I'd rather do it through my Missionary work at church, or CARE.

VERY MUCH ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Tell your husband that every day isn't Christmas, and he is not Santa Claus. I usually advise wives to stay away from their husbands' offices—but in your case I think I'll make an exception.

DEAR ABBY: For the past 16 years an old shipmate of my husband's from World War II has come to spend his summer vacations with us. He stays about three weeks. He never wants to go out. He only wants to sit around and have dinner at home every night. Naturally, I have to cook company meals while he's here. Also I would never think of serving him left-overs, which makes it hard. My husband says that after four days he is no longer a "guest," and I should go back to my normal way of cooking. I can't do that, Abby. To me a guest is a guest as long as he stays. I would appreciate your advice.

JOHN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I think your husband is right. Give your "guest" the company treatment for the first few days, and after that relax and pretend that he is "one of the family." And don't hesitate to serve the left-overs.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO MOTHER MARY: And when HER birthday rolls around, forget the past and remember the present!

* * *

Yes, Abby will send you a personal reply if you send her a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your problem.

Why Grow Old?

Those Flabby Upper Arms

Josephine Lowman

Do you want to slim those flabby upper arms?.. This exercise will free you from that excess flab.

The flabby upper arms is one figure defect which annoys women from middle age on, and of course, this is even more harassing when wearing more revealing summer clothes. Therefore it seems in order to give you a few corrective exercises at this time of year. Here are a few of them.

1. Stand tall. Raise your arms sideward-upward and clap your hands overhead. Turn your palms outward as you lower your arms to your sides. Continue, clapping overhead and returning arms to sides. Be sure to move the arms sideward-upward and to turn the palms out as the arms move down to the sides.

2. Stand tall. Raise both arms overhead. Palms facing, shoulder width apart. Turn your palms toward the back of the room as you clench your fists and lower your arms very slowly (as though against resistance) until your fists are at chin level. Stretch arms up overhead and continue. Be sure to turn the palms as indicated and to make the clench HARD and the downward movement very slow.

3. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, crossing them in front of your body and then moving them upward overhead and then slowly sideward-downward to starting position. Make these circles as large as comfortable. This one is relaxing to do to music. Waltz time is perfect!

Remember that swimming is a wonderful arm beautifier. Also, the arms require cosmetic aids. No arm is feminine and lovely looking if it has superfluous hair. This can be easily removed with a depilatory. I think this is much better for the arms than shaving since the latter leaves the hair ends stubbier.

Your arms can also profit by the regular use of a softening body lotion. This is especially true in winter weather or when they are subjected to much exposure in the bright summer sun.

If you would like to have my free leaflet, "Armfuls of Beauty," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 11 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Air Authority OK's $329,000 Budget

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Airport Authority approved Tuesday a 1963-64 budget of $329,173 with an estimated $59,768 revenue surplus over expenditures.

Major revenue sources are $205,000 in taxes, $10,000 in ground rent (Huskerville housing area) and $22,500 interest on investments.

Estimated expenditures of $269,405 include administration and bond retirement, $212,090; Municipal Airport operations, $43,488, and Union Airport, $13,827.

Construction funds, separately budgeted with state and federal aid payments, total $3,070,014.

The authority also approved specifications for a 10-year lease for fixed-base operations on which operators will be asked to bid in late June.

Board members expressed hope a lease could be executed at the June 9 meeting.

The board also scheduled a special May 23 meeting for awarding a construction contract on the new Federal Aviation Agency general aviation building and for election of board officers.

Authorize Agreement

Also authorized was a new $827,941 grant agreement with the FAA covering the federal share of the new runway paving, access and service roads, and completion of land acquisition.

The new agreement for 1963 funds included modification of a previous grant compact from $1.5 million to $933,400. Officials said this largely amounted to a transfer of federal funds within the overall programming.

Also approved was a $225,771 contract to Behlen Manufacturing Co., Columbus, for construction of a 150-by-150 maintenance hangar. This included $213,289 for the base contract plus $12,482 for a second story on the lean-to addition.

Bids for new T-hangars and for relocating existing T-hangars at Lincoln Municipal Airport were opened Tuesday by the Airport Authority.

Authority officials said contracts would be awarded at a special May 23 meeting following an analysis of bids by a consulting architect.

V. Mel S. Kaufman of Minneapolis, Minn., was the apparent low bidder at $63,790 for relocating 36 existing T-hangars, now at Union Airport, to the municipal field.

Other bidders were Behlen Manufacturing Co., Columbus, $69,000, and Lamphere Building Service Lincoln, $69,367.

Fulfab Inc., Canton, Ohio, was apparent low bidder at $34,826 for 14 multiple T-hangars on a 7-space plan with $17,413 for each additional 7-space unit.

However, an official indicated the Fulfab bid may not have included the specified overhead doors.

Other bidders were Kaufman, $53,400 for 14 units plus $26,500 for each additional 7, and Lamphere, $64,100 and $31,900.

Lamphere was apparent low on T-hangars for the 10-unit plan. The bid was $77,100 for the first 20 units and $38,100 for each additional 10 units compared with Behlen's bid of $92,280 and $46,140.

Open House Set For Central Power Quarters

Holdrege — The Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District will observe the completion of its new headquarters building here by holding open house on Tuesday, May 28, from 9 a.m. through 5 p.m., according to Jack W. Boyd, general manager.

The public is invited to tour the new facility.

Formerly headquartered in Hastings, the district's new building provides for consolidation of all administrative offices at a location in the heart of its project area.

Constructed at a cost of approximately $150,000, the new building is of masonry construction and contains 8,800 square feet of floor space plus a partial basement that houses a lunch room, storage, heating and air conditioning equipment.

The headquarters building is attached to the district's irrigation division building. Office space formerly in the irrigation division building has been moved to the new building, thus enlarging the shop area.

Included on the main floor of the new structure are 13 private offices, a lobby that includes two open-type offices for a receptionist and deputy treasurer, and large rooms for accounting, drafting, printing and irrigation departments.

The Central District provides irrigation water to approximately 122,000 acres in Gosper, Kearney, Phelps and Lincoln counties and can produce over 154,000 kilowatts of electricity with its 3 hydroelectric plants and its Canaday Steam Plant.

Central has irrigation offices at Minden and Bertrand; its 75 mile-long supply canal and hydro plants are operated out of the Gothenburg office, and Lake McConaughy and Kingsley dam are operated from an office at the dam near Ogallala.

NWU Gets Theological Scholarship

Wesleyan University has received a bequest of $3,919 from the estate of the late Miss Verna B. Philips of Holdrege to establish a theological scholarship.

Miss Philips, a native of Bertrand, died in March, 1962, in Holdrege where she had lived since 1920.

Both in Bertrand and Holdrege, Miss Philips was an active worker in the Methodist church with a particular interest in young people.

When making the bequest, Miss Philips told Nebraska Wesleyan officials that she believed it was necessary for the church to train more ministers and that they should have the best training possible.

Interest from the bequest will provide more than $150 a year for one or two theological scholarships according to Pres. Vance D. Rogers.

Open House Set For Central Power Quarters

Holdrege — The Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District will observe the completion of its new headquarters building here by holding open house on Tuesday, May 28, from 9 a m through 5 p m, according to Jack W Boyd, general manager

The public is invited to tour the new facility

Formerly headquartered in Hastings, the district's new building provides for consolidation of all administrative offices at a location in the heart of its project area

Constructed at a cost of approximately $150,000 the new building is of masonry construction and contains 8,000 square feet of floor space plus a partial basement that houses a lunch room, storage, heating and air conditioning equipment

The headquarters building is attached to the district's irrigation division building Office space formerly in the irrigation division building has been moved to the new building, thus enlarging the shop area

Included on the main floor of the new structure are 13 private offices, a lobby that includes two open-type offices for a receptionist and deputy treasurer, and large rooms for accounting, drafting, printing and irrigation departments

The Central District provides irrigation water to approximately 122 000 acres in Gosper, Kearney, Phelps and Lincoln counties and can produce over 151,000 kilowatts of electricity with its 3 hydroelectric plants and its Canaday Steam Plant

Central has irrigation offices at Minden and Bertrand, its 75 mile long supply canal and hydro plants are operated out of the Gothenburg office, and Lake McConaughy and Kingsley dam are operated from an office at the dam near Ogallala

Miss Philips a native of Bertrand died in March, 1962 in Holdrege where she had lived since 1920

Both in Bertrand and Holdrege, Miss Philips was an active worker in the Methodist church with a particular interest in young people

When making the bequest Miss Philips told Nebraska Wesleyan officials that she believed it was necessary for the church to train more ministers and that they should have the best training possible

Interest from the bequest will provide more than $150 a year for one or two theological scholarships according to Pres Vance D Rogers

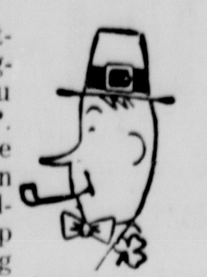
P. J. Moriarty, the publican, has removed himself from the old place at Sixth avenue and 52nd street and is now open at 54th street off Madison.



"It's a matter of progress, do you see," said P. J. "They're tearing down the old building to put up something grand for the insurance people or some such thing. So out we must go."

The new Moriarty's chophouse looks a good deal like the old, praise be. Its walls are antiquely paneled and the bar has a solid look of being polished by whiskey and elbows — this puts a satin patina on a bar that can be accomplished by no other method.

"It's the same customers that come in all the time," said Pat. "They like it old looking. Now if I was to dress it up, y'know — make it like '21' or one of those places, that would be the last you'd see of them.

"It's all newspaper people — the magazine folks and the sports writers and cartoonists and all that come. They want it comfortable and old and an honest drink."

Moriarty's is a haven for the passing journalist. An oasis amid the chrome-and-leather cocktail lounges of Manhattan.

The help is Irish.

Everyone seems to be named Suzie," said P. J. "Here's the dog named Suzie. And there's Suzie in the hat check room. Then there's Suzie who seats the customers.

"If I say 'Susie,' they all jump and half the time, now, I forget which one I was talking to."

☆ ☆ ☆

In the evening, another Moriarty's takes over the evening crowd. (P. J. has three places in Manhattan.)

The evening Moriarty's is at 16th street on Third avenue.

A toy train track runs around the room just below the ceiling. It commemorates the Third avenue "El," torn down these many—has it been that long? It has indeed.

While the train rushes around the track, lights blinking, the clientele discusses the day's news and the shortage of gratitude from management to the toilers in the journalistic vineyards.

"What tales are told in here you wouldn't believe," said P. J. "I've seen them working on expense accounts, I said to myself, 'If the man would devote his efforts to fiction, he'd be another Hemingway.'

"Wonderful things, I've heard when the mood was on. Wonderful!"

☆ ☆ ☆

"It's a place for domestic tranquility when things are not so tranquil at home," said P. J.

"There's nothing now — nothing like newspaper people for getting in trouble at home. Names I couldn't mention but you know them as well as I do.

"There's something about it. They work late and how do you know what the news is going to be. So he thinks if he goes home he's in for it. And he comes here for the courage."

It was about this time an old friend of mine came in and I asked him about his marriage.

"I didn't get married after all," he said. "We had the party—I had to meet all her friends — the very night the Cuba thing broke. It was 11 o'clock before I got to the house and she was sore.

"So I said, 'I suppose you think I engineered it so that Kennedy and Khrushchev put on a fight. Just so I wouldn't have to come to the party.' And that was the end of that."

"Ah, now," said P. J., "if it wasn't then, it might have been later. Maybe you're better off. Who knows."

State Aid For Junior Colleges And OU Killed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday voted 24-16 to kill legislation which would have provided state aid for Nebraska's 4 junior colleges and the University of Omaha.

The kill motion was offered by Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha, and all 7 Omaha senators joined in supporting it.

At issue was LB632 which would have provided state aid on a basis of $45 per resident student per semester in junior colleges at Norfolk, McCook, Scottsbluff and Fairbury, and in the freshman and sophomore classes at OU.

Total aid would have amounted to $95,000 annually to the junior colleges, and $77,000 to OU.

In an effort to prevent junior colleges from springing up all over the state as a result of state aid, the bill proposed that any new such institutions must be based on a minimum assessed valuation of $20 million.

In addition, they would have to receive approval of both the State Board of Education and the Legislature.

Must Choose

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, chief introducer, told the Legislature that it must choose between expansion of facilities at the University of Nebraska and the 4 state normal schools, or "assistance to these other schools so that they may take care of additional students."

In fact, Ruhnke said, without state aid, Fairbury "may have to close down" its junior college, thus increasing the load at other schools or prohibiting higher education for some students.

Ruhnke offered figures to show that the $456 per pupil cost of junior college education is low among public institutions of higher education in the state.

Russillo argued that the bill would have "a serious effect on all private colleges," that it would affect attendance at NU and the teachers colleges, and that "we already have sufficient financial problems for higher education."

State aid to OU is "not necessary," Russillo said, and might tend to prompt Omaha citizens to request a reduction in the OU mill levy.

Has Endorsed

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff noted that the Omaha Board of Education has endorsed the bill, but said he is willing to cut OU out if the Omaha legislative delegation wishes.

Carpenter said the state will spend more money to educate potential junior college students at the University in Lincoln than it would by providing a measure of aid to the junior colleges themselves.

Sen. Peter Claussen of Leigh pointed out that the original junior college legislative enabling act stated that no state aid would ever be asked or provided.

"They started something they can't support," Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City declared. "The state does not owe them a college at their back door."

Other lawmakers who voiced support for the bill were Sens. H. L. Gerhart of Newman Grove, Cecil Craft of North Platte, Don Thompson of McCook, and Clifton Foster of Bradshaw.

Vote on the motion to kill:

For: Bahensky, Bowen, Brandt, Bridenbaugh, Burbach, Claussen, Danner, Fleming, Forrester, Hasebroock, Kjar, Klaver, Kremer, Lysinger, Mahoney, Marvel, Moulton, Nelson, Payne, Russillo, Skarda, Stalder, Syas, Wylie.

Against: Carpenter, Craft, Damrow, Erlewine, Foster, Gerdes, Gerhart, McGinley, Orme, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Reeves, Ruhnke, Stromer, Thompson, Warner.

Not Voting: Adamson, Gottschalk, Stryker.

Power Review Board Bill Is Passed 41-0

A so-called Power Review Board bill apparently destined to be the major public power bill to come out of the 1963 Nebraska legislative session was passed on final reading Tuesday by a vote of 41-0.

The measure, LB220, gives legal recognition to retail service area agreements entered into by public power districts and creates a "Nebraska Power Review Board" with authority to adjudicate disputes.

Although there had been much haggling over details of the measure, all major power interests in the state generally concurred in the legislation.

The measure is expected to ease conflict and competition among power districts for retail customers. It grew out of studies by a Legislative Council committee headed by Sen. Don Thompson of McCook and the deliberations of the Nebraska Public Power Committee created by the 1961 Legislature to seek a solution to power problems.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, head of the Public Works Committee which spent dozens of hours working over the bill, has said that as a result of the legislation, the 1963 Legislature could well go down in history as the one "which took a big step forward to solve Nebraska's public power problems."

The bill was one of 7 passed on final reading Tuesday, the list (E-emergency clause):

LB349 (Stromer, Craft, Warner)—Requiring an annual public accountant's examination of financial records of all school districts except Class 1 districts spending less than $5,000 a year. (30-10).

LB558 (Mahoney) — Setting out which records of building and loan associations shall be preserved, and providing for the destruction of records. (42-0).

LB745 (Burbach, Bowen) — Increasing the size of the Nebraska Centennial Commission from 10 to 15 members. (36-4).

LB479 (Skarda, Mahoney, Orme) — Providing that municipal court judges shall come under the merit plan for judicial selection. (E) (38-3).

LB23 (Carpenter, Mahoney) — Increasing the salary of Nebraska Supreme Court judges from $13,000 to $17,000 per year, and hiking the salary of district court judges from $11,000 to $15,000 per year. (25-15).

LB671 (Payne, E. Rasmussen) — Submitting to voters a constitutional amendment exempting from property taxes the home of a paraplegic veteran or multiple amputee if the home was substantially tion. (40-0).

LB220 (Thompson, Ruhnke, Stryker, Kjar, Gerdes, Claussen, Russillo) — Recognizes retail service area agreements entered into by public power districts and establishing a Nebraska Power Review Board to adjudicate disputes. (41-0).

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Tuesday:

LB795 (Burbach at the request of the governor) — Extending the special one-tenth mill levy for the Agricultural Products Research Fund through 1968.

LB796 (Government and Military Affairs Committee) — Correcting an error in the legislative redistricting bill, LB629.

State Accounting Study Report Slated

The Legislature Tuesday approved 40-0 a motion to allow a representative of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell Co. report on the progress of the first phase of a three-phase accounting study.

The motion was made by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff at the request of the Budget Committee.

E. Waldo Mautiz will explain progress to date, plus necessary changes in the statutes and constitution Monday.

The accounting firm has been working with the Budget Committee in an attempt to reorganize departmental accounting procedures. Earlier, the Legislature appropriated $50,000 for the first phase.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, said the study ultimately will result in additional bills being introduced in the Legislature.

"This could be the greatest step forward in the area of understanding figures of state government," Carpenter said.

State Aid For Junior Colleges And OU Killed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday voted 24-16 to kill legislation which would have provided state aid for Nebraska's 4 junior colleges and the University of Omaha.

The kill motion was offered by Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha, and all 7 Omaha senators joined in supporting it.

At issue was LB632 which would have provided state aid on a basis of $45 per resident student per semester in junior colleges at Norfolk, McCook, Scottsbluff and Fairbury, and in the freshman and sophomore classes at OU.

Total aid would have amounted to $95,000 annually to the junior colleges, and $77,000 to OU.

In an effort to prevent junior colleges from springing up all over the state as a result of state aid, the bill proposed that any new such institutions must be based on a minimum assessed valuation of $20 million.

In addition, they would have to receive approval of both the State Board of Education and the Legislature.

Must Choose

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, chief introducer, told the Legislature that it must choose between expansion of facilities at the University of Nebraska and the 4 state normal schools, or "assistance to these other schools so that they may take care of additional students."

In fact, Ruhnke said, without state aid, Fairbury "may have to close down" its junior college, thus increasing the load at other schools or prohibiting higher education for some students.

Ruhnke offered figures to show that the $456 per pupil cost of junior college education is low among public institutions of higher education in the state.

Russillo argued that the bill would have "a serious effect on all private colleges," that it would affect attendance at NU and the teachers colleges, and that "we already have sufficient financial problems for higher education."

State aid to OU is "not necessary," Russillo said, and might tend to prompt Omaha citizens to request a reduction in the OU mill levy.

Has Endorsed

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff noted that the Omaha Board of Education has endorsed the bill, but said he is willing to cut OU out if the Omaha legislative delegation wishes.

Carpenter said the state will spend more money to educate potential junior college students at the University in Lincoln than it would by providing a measure of aid to the junior colleges themselves.

Sen. Peter Claussen of Leigh pointed out that the original junior college legislative enabling act stated that no state aid would ever be asked or provided.

"They started something they can't support," Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City declared. "The state does not owe them a college at their back door."

Other lawmakers who voiced support for the bill were Sens. H. L. Gerhart of Newman Grove, Cecil Craft of North Platte, Don Thompson of McCook, and Clifton Foster of Bradshaw.

Vote on the motion to kill:

For: Dahensky, Bowen, Brandt, Bridenbaugh, Burbach, Claussen, Danner, Fleming, Forrester, Hasebroock, Kjar, Klaver, Kremer, Lysinger, Mahoney, Marvel, Moulton, Nelson, Payne, Russillo, Skarda, Stahmer, Syas, Wylie.

Against: Carpenter, Craft, Damrow, Erlewine, Foster, Gerdes, Gerhart, McGinley, Orme, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Reeves, Ruhnke, Stromer, Thompson, Warner.

Not Voting: Adamson, Gottschalk, Stryker.

State Accounting Study Report Slated

The Legislature Tuesday approved 40-0 a motion to allow a representative of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell Co. report on the progress of the first phase of a three-phase accounting study.

The motion was made by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff at the request of the Budget Committee.

E. Waldo Mautiz will explain progress to date, plus necessary changes in the statutes and constitution Monday.

The accounting firm has been working with the Budget Committee in an attempt to reorganize departmental accounting procedures. Earlier, the Legislature appropriated $50,000 for the first phase.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, said the study ultimately will result in additional bills being introduced in the Legislature.

"This could be the greatest step forward in the area of understanding figures of state government," Carpenter said.

Power Review Board Bill Is Passed 41-0

A so-called Power Review Board bill apparently destined to be the major public power bill to come out of the 1963 Nebraska legislative session was passed on final reading Tuesday by a vote of 41-0.

The measure, LB220, gives legal recognition to retail service area agreements entered into by public power districts and creates a "Nebraska Power Review Board" with authority to adjudicate disputes.

Although there had been much haggling over details of the measure, all major power interests in the state generally concurred in the legislation.

The measure is expected to ease conflict and competition among power districts for retail customers. It grew out of studies by a Legislative Council committee headed by Sen. Don Thompson of McCook and the deliberations of the Nebraska Public Power Committee created by the 1961 Legislature to seek a solution to power problems.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, head of the Public Works Committee which spent dozens of hours working over the bill, has said that as a result of the legislation, the 1963 Legislature could well go down in history as the one "which took a big step forward to solve Nebraska's public power problems."

The bill was one of 7 passed on final reading Tuesday. the list (E-emergency clause).

LB319 (Stromer, Craft, Warner)—Requiring an annual public accountant's examination of financial records of all school districts except Class 1 districts spending less than $5,000 a year. (30-10)

LB558 (Mahoney) — Setting out which records of building and loan associations shall be preserved, and providing for the destruction of records. (42-0)

LB745 (Burbach, Bowen) — Increasing the size of the Nebraska Centennial Commission from 10 to 15 members. (36-4)

LB479 (Skarda, Mahoney, Orme) — Providing that municipal court judges shall come under the merit plan for judicial selection. (E) (38-3)

LB23 (Carpenter, Mahoney) — Increasing the salary of Nebraska Supreme Court Judges from $13,000 to $17,000 per year, and hiking the salaries of district court judges from $11,000 to $15,000 per year. (25-15).

LB671 (Payne, E. Rasmussen) — Submitting to voters a constitutional amendment exempting from property taxes the home of a paraplegic veteran or multiple amputee if the home was substantially [illegible] (40-0)

LB220 (Thompson, Ruhnke, Stryker, Kjar, Gerdes, Claussen, Russillo) — Recognizes retail service area agreements entered into by public power districts and establishing a Nebraska Power Review Board to adjudicate disputes. (41-0)

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Tuesday:

LB795 (Burbach at the request of the governor) — Extending the special one-tenth mill levy for the Agricultural Products Research Fund through 1968.

LB796 (Government and Military Affairs Committee) — Correcting an error in the legislative redistricting bill, LB629.

Morrison 'Amazed' At Veto Overriding

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday said he was "surprised and amazed" that the Legislature overrode his veto of a political convention delegate bill.

Meanwhile, national committeemen of both parties praised the Legislature's action.

At issue was LB432, providing for state party convention appointment of delegates-at-large to national political conventions.

Morrison vetoed the measure, and the Unicameral voted 28-10 to approve it anyway.

Against Tradition

"This legislation puts in the hands of politicians the right to select delegates," the governor said. This "runs contrary to Nebraska tradition."

But Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle of Omaha said he was "pleased" at the Legislature's action.

"I think each party can be made stronger by the state conventions selecting delegates-at-large," he said. The bill will "increase interest in the voting for delegates to state conventions," he pointed out.

GOP Sees 'Slap'

Republican National Committeeman Don Ross of Omaha said Morrison's veto was "a slap in the face of each senator who voted for the bill."

The measure originally was approved on a 36-4 vote.

"It would seem that the governor is doing this to continue his fight with his own Democratic organization," Ross said.

LB432 is "a means of helping to reawaken the interest of the public in both political parties," he declared.

Legislators Chalk Up Productive Afternoon

Bills advanced Tuesday afternoon included:

LB776 — Authorizing Nebraska to join with other states in a compact for uniformity in motor vehicle safety equipment.

LB777—Authorizing Nebraska to join with other states in a driver license compact, including provision for exchange of information on violations.

LB322 — Deleting the requirement that tests for intoxication in drunk driving cases be under the direction of a physician.

LB559 — Repealing a statute which requires a jury to determine the value of stolen property in larceny cases.

LB547 — Permitting juvenile courts to designate referees to conduct hearings.

LB548 — Clarifying language regarding jury trials for delinquent children and giving juvenile courts concurrent jurisdiction with district courts over feeble-minded persons.

LB566 — Redefining delinquent child and variously revising law relating to juveniles.

LB567 — Revising provisions for summonses and notices in juvenile court.

LB771 — Permitting the reorganization of weed eradication districts without requiring the sale of the district's equipment, thus permitting the reorganized district to continue in existence for another 25 years.

LB589 — Providing for the appointment of juvenile probation officers by the county judge in counties of less than 50,000 population.

LB652 — Providing for temporary custody and release of minors in connection with juvenile courts.

LB653 — Giving juvenile courts concurrent jurisdiction with county courts in the commitment of feeble-minded persons to the Beatrice State Home.

LB638 — Providing that a person who is undergoing job retraining shall be deemed available for employment and thus eligible for unemployment compensation.

LB664 — Permitting fire departments to burn buildings for training purposes without violating arson statutes.

LB663 — Authorizing cities or villages to pay the cost of training more than one member of the fire department at special schools.

LB778 — Correlating Nebraska statutes with federal regulations regarding classifications of wheat so as to eliminate double bonding of grain warehousemen.

LB253 — Making Penitentiary sentence optional rather than mandatory as the penalty for fleeing from arrest while driving with a suspended or revoked license, and providing fine and jail terms as alternative penalties.

Ag Research Life May Hit Shoals

Several senators Tuesday indicated that a bill extending the agricultural products research levy until 1968 may run into some legislative criticism.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton introduced the bill upon request of Gov. Frank Morrison, then asked that the measure be placed on general file without a public hearing.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff objected, declaring that he desires to "see if we are getting our money's worth out of the program."

Some $1.5 million has been spent on the unique program since it was initiated in 1959, Carpenter said.

The .10 mill special levy, due to expire this year, raises some $300,000 annually.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha said he wishes to question hiring policies regarding the program and the use of out-of-state research facilities.

Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City noted that he would like to "explore the possibility of delegating more of the revenue" to the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings also supported a public hearing.

The matter was raised at a budget hearing, and State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan "had no recommendations to make on this subject," Marvel said.

Following the discussion, Burbach agreed to submit the proposal, LB795, to a standing committee for a hearing.

'Sen. Carpenter Is Trying To Confuse Tax Issue'—Bowen

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff is trying to confuse the issue by contending that charitable organizations would be affected by the proposed state income tax bill, State Sen. Kenneth Bowen, champion of LB612, charged Tuesday.

Carpenter has said he has qualified legal opinions that LB612, as written, would tax income of churches, hospitals and other religious and charitable organizations.

But Bowen said he got a different interpretation from lawyers he consulted.

The state attorney general has not given an opinion on this aspect of the bill.

"Sen. Carpenter and his attorneys have set up another smokescreen in attacking a fair and equitable tax for Nebraska," Bowen said.

The Red Cloud senator contended "the bill, as amended, would only tax charitable organizations on that amount now taxed by the federal government; that is, money earned in competition with private industry on which I am sure most people feel they should pay a tax.

"No charitable organization that lives up to the purposes of its creation as such will be taxed under LB612."

Bowen noted "Sen. Carpenter has been a strong proponent of taxing nonprofit corporations which compete in business with private industry and has offered many, many bills to tax them in such a manner as he feels might be equitable."

Carpenter tried to kill LB612 when it first came up on general file a while ago, but failed on an 18-25 vote. He promises to try again when the bill is next considered.

The Legislature previously decided to allow LB612 to rest on general file until the budget is considered, but Bowen plans now to bring it up for a new vote later this week or sometime next week.

Carpenter has also predicted the sponsors of LB612 will move to scrap it and introduce an entirely new income tax bill because the present one is inequitable and cluttered with amendments.

"I think there are so many inequities in the bill that an attempt will be made to substitute an entirely new bill," he said.

Bowen said this is a possibility.

"I think each party can be made stronger by the state conventions selecting delegates-at-large," he said. The bill will "increase interest in the voting for delegates to state conventions," he pointed out.

GOP Sees 'Slap'

Republican National Committeeman Don Ross of Omaha said Morrison's veto was "a slap in the face of each senator who voted for the bill."

The measure originally was approved on a 36-4 vote.

"It would seem that the governor is doing this to continue his fight with his own Democratic organization," Ross said.

LB432 is "a means of helping to reawaken the interest of the public in both political parties," he declared.

Legislators Chalk Up Productive Afternoon

Nebraska's Legislature, in one of its more productive afternoon, advanced 19 noncontroversial bills from general file in a two-hour period Tuesday afternoon.

The assault left 95 bills on general file awaiting first-round approval or rejection.

Bills advanced Tuesday afternoon included:

LB776 — Authorizing Nebraska to join with other states in a compact for uniformity in motor vehicle safety equipment.

LB777—Authorizing Nebraska to join with other states in a driver license compact, including provision for exchange of information on violations.

LB322 — Deleting the requirement that tests for intoxication in drunk driving cases be under the direction of a physician.

LB433 — Establishing the order in which assets of a minor's estate shall be used for the care of the minor.

LB559 — Repealing a statute which requires a jury to determine the value of stolen property in larceny cases.

LB517 — Permitting juvenile courts to designate referees to conduct hearings.

LB518 — Clarifying language regarding jury trials for delinquent children and giving juvenile courts concurrent jurisdiction with district courts over feeble-minded persons.

LB549 — Authorizing Nebraska to enter into compacts with other states relative to handling of juvenile offenders, including the return of escapees.

LB566 — Redefining delinquent child and variously revising law relating to juveniles.

LB567 — Revising provisions for summonses and notices in juvenile court.

LB771 — Permitting the reorganization of weed eradication districts without requiring the sale of the district's equipment, thus permitting the reorganized district to continue in existence for another 25 years.

LB589 — Providing for the appointment of juvenile probation officers by the county judge in counties of less than 50,000 population.

LB652 — Providing for temporary custody and release of minors in connection with juvenile courts.

LB651 — Giving juvenile courts concurrent jurisdiction with county courts in the commitment of feebleminded persons to the Beatrice State Home.

LB638 — Providing that a person who is undergoing job retraining shall be deemed available for employment and thus eligible for unemployment compensation.

LB661 — Permitting fire departments to burn buildings for training purposes without violating arson statutes.

LB663 — Authorizing cities or villages to pay the cost of training more than one member of the fire department at special schools.

LB778 — Correlating Nebraska statutes with federal regulations regarding classifications of wheat so as to eliminate double bonding of grain warehousemen.

LB251 — Making penitentiary sentence optional rather than mandatory as the penalty for fleeing from arrest while driving with a suspended or revoked license, and providing fine and jail terms as alternative penalties.

Ag Research Life May Hit Shoals

Several senators Tuesday indicated that a bill extending the agricultural products research levy until 1968 may run into some legislative criticism.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton introduced the bill upon request of Gov. Frank Morrison, then asked that the measure be placed on general file without a public hearing.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff objected, declaring that he desires to "see if we are getting our money's worth out of the program."

Some $1.5 million has been spent on the unique program since it was initiated in 1959, Carpenter said.

The .10 mill special levy, due to expire this year, raises some $300,000 annually.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha said he wishes to question hiring policies regarding the program and the use of out-of-state research facilities.

Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City noted that he would like to "explore the possibility of delegating more of the revenue" to the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings also supported a public hearing.

The matter was raised at a budget hearing, and State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan "had no recommendations to make on this subject," Marvel said.

Following the discussion, Burbach agreed to submit the proposal, LB795, to a standing committee for a hearing.

'Sen. Carpenter Is Trying To Confuse Tax Issue'—Bowen

Sen. Terry Carpenter of *Scottsbluff is trying to con*fuse the issue by contending that charitable organizations would be affected by the proposed state income tax bill, State Sen. Kenneth Bowen, champion of LB612, charged Tuesday.

Carpenter has said he has qualified legal opinions that LB612, as written, would tax income of churches, hospitals and other religious and charitable organizations.

But Bowen said he got a different interpretation from lawyers he consulted.

The state attorney general has not given an opinion on this aspect of the bill.

"Sen. Carpenter and his attorneys have set up another smokescreen in attacking a fair and equitable tax for Nebraska," Bowen said.

The Red Cloud senator contended "the bill, as amended, would only tax charitable organizations on that amount now taxed by the federal government; that is, money earned in competition with private industry on which I am sure most people feel they should pay a tax.

"No charitable organization that lives up to the purposes of its creation as such will be taxed under LB612."

Bowen noted "Sen. Carpenter has been a strong proponent of taxing nonprofit corporations which compete in business with private industry and has offered many, many bills to tax them in such a manner as he feels might be equitable."

Carpenter tried to kill LB612 when it first came up on general file a while ago, but failed on an 18-25 vote. He promises to try again when the bill is next considered.

The Legislature previously decided to allow LB612 to rest on general file until the budget is considered, but Bowen plans now to bring it up for a new vote later this week or sometime next week.

Carpenter has also predicted the sponsors of LB612 will move to scrap it and introduce an entirely new income tax bill because the present one is inequitable and cluttered with amendments.

"I think there are so many inequities in the bill that an attempt will be made to substitute an entirely new bill," he said.

Bowen said this is a possibility.

Law Enforcement Institute Slated

The annual Nebraska Law Enforcement Institute for 1963 opens at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education Monday and ends Friday.

The Institute, one of the largest and most successful at the Nebraska Center, annually provides Nebraska peace officers with the latest information on crime prevention and control.

Several outstanding speakers and panel members will lecture and demonstrate in their special fields.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Tight Battle Expected For Class C, D Track Titles

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Nebraska's small schools are headed for a real dogfight for Class C and D state track titles.

At least 3 teams are considered threats at each class crown. The C hopefuls are Pender (8 qualifiers), Bertrand (7 qualifiers including triple-threat Jim Schaefer), Grant (which lost to Bertrand in district play), and possibly defending champion Wymore which has half of last year's threat back in sprinter Rick Wood.

In Class D the bargaining will be between De Witt, Loomis, and Culbertson with Sumner and Snyder also in position to score heavily.

Qualifying pace-setters in the two classes were Ravenna with 11 state berths in C and Sumner and Harrisburg with 8 in D.

Champs are Wymore's Wood, who tied the class 220 record of 22.6 last year after running 3rd in the 100; Bertrand's Schaefer in the broad jump but who also is a 100-220 threat; and Pawnee City's Frank Graham in the mile.

Oshkosh heavyweight Larry White has gone 53-10½ in the shot put while that record is 53-1¾. White has consistently been in the 53-foot range.

In Class D, the small school hope for a Gold Medal winner is Dennis Thorell of Loomis who last year shared the high hurdle all-class award with Fairbury's Bob Smith.

Two of the busiest D performers will be De Witt's Roy Smith (who should score — maybe win 3 — in the 220, 440, broad jump, and pole vault) and Snyder's Harlan Metschke, entered in the 100, 220, broad jump, shot put, and discus.

WHITE SOX HOLD AL MARGIN

...Herbert Hurls Shutout; A's Win

By Associated Press

Veteran right-hander Ray Herbert hurled his 4th straight shutout — one short of the major league record — and pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 victory over Detroit Tuesday night.

The victory enabled the American League leading White Sox to retain a one-game margin over Kansas City, which moved into second place with a 5-2 triumph at Cleveland.

Herbert spaced 6 hits in gaining his 5th shutout of the season. The last 4 have come in order. The record is 5 straight by Doc White of the White Sox in 1904.

The 33-year-old Herbert, now 5-1 for the season, has 36 consecutive scoreless innings. The record is 56 by Walter Johnson in 1913.

Kansas City rushed in 4 first inning runs, two on a double by Jerry Lumpe, then entrenched behind the 6-hit pitching of Ed Rakow for the victory over Cleveland.

New York ace Whitey Ford tossed a 5-hitter and got the benefit of an unearned run in the Yankees' 2-1 edge over Minnesota. Hector Lopez singled in the winning run after the Twins messed up two potential double plays in the 8th.

The Los Angeles Angels' game at Boston was rained out.

Braves End Loss String At 3 Games

By United Press International

Lefthander Warren Spahn survived an 11-hit shelling Tuesday night and singled in the winning run for a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals to snap a 3-game Milwaukee Braves losing streak.

The 42-year-old Spahn picked up his 5th win of the season against two losses, while Bob Gibson, who allowed 6 hits in 8 innings, was charged with the loss.

Spahn's key hit came in the 7th and sent home Roy McMillan who had singled and moved to 3rd on another single by Del Crandall.

Spahn almost didn't get through the second inning. With one out in the second, Stan Musial lined a ball at the aging hurler, striking him in the stomach. Spahn managed to make the play for the out and then fell to the ground. The game was delayed several minutes until it was determined he could stay in. The Braves announced Spahn had merely been winded by Musial's blow.

The Houston Colts extended their winning streak to 6 games by defeating the New York Mets, 4-3, on Dick Farrell's 5-hit pitching. Johnny Temple had 4 hits to lead the attack which enabled the Colts to equal the longest winning streak in their history.

Cal McLish pitched a 5-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1. McLish also hit two doubles and scored twice in the Phillies' 8-hit attack that enabled the Phillies to beat Don Drysdale after 13 straight losses to him dating back to 1958.

Gilchrist Decks Policeman; Seven Charges Filed

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Professional football star Carlton (Cookie) Gilchrist floored a policeman with a punch Tuesday after he was arrested for a traffic violation, police said. He was booked on 7 charges, including assault.

Gilchrist, 27, Buffalo Bills fullback and player of the year in the American Football League last season, hit the policeman while handcuffed, police reported. They said 5 policemen were needed to put the 243-pound Gilchrist into a cell.

Gilchrist entered no plea to the charges in City Court. He was released without bail and his case adjourned to May 28.

The charges were second-degree assault, a felony; disorderly conduct; refusing the reasonable request of a policeman; profanity; and failure to stop for a stop sign and failure to produce driver's license and auto registration.

1-Second Balk Rule Eliminated

New York (AP) — The Baseball Rules Committee officially dropped the one-second phrase from the definition of a balk Tuesday as suggested last week by Commissioner Ford Frick and the two league presidents.

Charles Segar, secretary of baseball and chairman of the rules committee, decided to take a telegraphic poll instead of waiting for the next meeting in December. The vote of the 9-man committee was unanimous in favor of the change.

What constituted a balk had been interpreted differently by the two leagues. The National League, adhering strictly to the book rule, insisted on the one-second stop. The American League more liberally accepted a stop with no time limit, although the rules specifically said "one second."

In games through Monday, National League umpires had called 102 balks to only 10 for the American. The score was 96-8 last week when Frick ordered a halt. His action, seconded by President Warren Giles of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American League, in effect ended the one-second rule. However, the committee had to vote to take it out of the book.

Since Frick's action last week, there have been only 6 balks called in the National in 35 games and two in the American in 31 games.

No. 1 And Rightly So

The 1,200 or so fans who wandered over to the Nebraska baseball diamond Saturday morning while waiting for the track meet to start were rewarded with some excellent baseball on the part of Missouri, currently ranked No. 1 in the country and rightly so.

The Tiger team that swept 3 games from the Huskers without even breaking into a sweat could possibly be the best college '9' since the 1961 Southern California team that sent nearly the entire team into professional baseball after winning the College World Series in Omaha.

Missouri's hitters are belting the ball at a .305 clip after the Nebraska series—enough to make a pitcher think about turning his talents to playing the trombone in the school band.

The Tigers have no one who can be considered a patsy with the stick and any of the 5 Husker hurlers who faced this potent lineup the past weekend will testify to this.

Missouri, under the direction of veteran coach John (Hi) Simmons, presents all that a coach could ask for in any baseball team. They have the hitting, tight pitching and a stingy defense. With Rich Peterson, Larry Bohannon, Jack Stroud and Keith Weber as a Big 4, the price of runs comes mighty high.

Stroud's 2.45 ERA is the highest of this quartet with Peterson and Weber both well under 1.00 and Bohannon just over 1.00.

And major league scouts claim the Tigers have pitchers sitting on the bench who could be stars with any other Big 8 outfit.

Missouri's defense gives the hurlers plenty of help with few balls getting through the infield that aren't hit solidly at a hole. The Tigers committed only two errors in 23 innings against the Huskers.

John Simmons Jr., the coach's son, is undoubtedly the best fielding shortstop in the league as the rangy 6-4 sophomore wanders far and wide snagging ground balls.

The Tigers will make the Big 8 an excellent representative in the College World Series, providing they win the Big 8 and then get by their playoff foe—probably Bradley. And unless the entire team comes down with some dread disease, there is no reason to think that they won't make the big show in Omaha.

And causing opposing Big 8 coaches to shudder and maybe hope for a raid from the major leagues is the fact that only two regulars plus two of the pitchers are seniors.

Only centerfielder Carroll McDannold and first baseman Gene McArtor are seniors among the regulars. Bohannon and Peterson are the two pitching aces who are seniors. All 4 are bound to sign pro contracts about the middle of June.

Major league scouts are also casting envious glances at Tiger underclassmen such as catcher John Sevcik and 3rd baseman Dave Harvey, both of whom are hefty stickers.

Missouri's last NCAA championship came in 1954, but as the No. 1 team in the country and on the basis of their showing last weekend, they must be given the favorite's role in this year's College World Series.

Stuart Remembers Lincoln

Hergert, a veteran umpire in the Lincoln area and now working as a scout with the Kansas City A's, visited with Stuart during the Red Sox' last visit to Kansas City.

John reports that Stuart was very much interested in what was happening in Lincoln and inquired about numerous friends, such as Don Bryant and Dick Becker, former sports editors of the Lincoln Star and Lincoln Journal, A. Q. Schimmel, Vaulx Risser, and many others.

Stuart has not forgotten his Western League days in Lincoln and Lincoln certainly will never forget the big slugger's long blasts at Sherman Field.

NU Netters Blank NDS

Jeff Wu dropped the first set to North Dakota State's Dave Herstap, 3-6, but came back to win the next two sets, 7-5, 6-2, to take the only 3-set match.

Dick Gibson (N) def. Dave Nammar, 6-4, 7-5.
Dave Wohlfarth (N) def. Skip Knutson, 6-1, 6-4.
Rick Harley (N) def. Mike Yahna, 6-2, 6-0.
Jeff Wu (N) def. Dave Herstad, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.
Dick Woods (N) def. Pat McDonald, 6-4, 6-2.
Gibson-Wohlfarth (N) def. Nammar-Knutson, 6-2, 6-0.
Harley-Russ Daub (N) def. Herstad-Yahna, 6-0, 6-2.

Illinois Vetoes Bill That Would Ban Noisemakers

Springfield, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House defeated Tuesday a bill seeking a ban on mechanical noisemakers at athletic events.

Rep. Claude Walker, R-Forest Park, who sponsored the bill, said sirens, air horns and cowbells spoil attractions for most spectators.

Rep. Robert Austin, R-East Moline, in leading opposition to the measure, said he was against any law that would penalize the fans.

He also objected because the bill "does not mention the most serious matter of all — throwing pop bottles at officials."

McCloughan May Miss Big 8 Meet

Nebraska's hopes for adding the Big 8 outdoor track championship to the indoor title gained last winter were dealt a severe jolt at Seacrest Field on All Sports Day.

Prize sophomore sprinter Kent McCloughan, who dazzled the football faithful with an 88-yard kickoff return for a Red touchdown, came out of the game with a severe ankle sprain.

Husker track coach Frank Sevigne said Tuesday McCloughan's status "doesn't look very encouraging" and indicated there was a possibility the Broken Bow speedster might not be able to make the trip to Manhattan for the Big 8 show Friday and Saturday.

"We're hoping for the best," Sevigne said. "Kent is slated for more treatment and we hope he can work out this week. But there is a definite possibility he'll be unable to make the trip."

Tight Battle Expected For Class C, D Track Titles

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Nebraska's small schools are headed for a real dogfight for Class C and D state track titles.

At least 3 teams are considered threats at each class crown. The C hopefuls are Pender (8 qualifiers), Bertrand (7 qualifiers including triple-threat Jim Schaefer), Grant (which lost to Bertrand in district play), and possibly defending champion Wymore which has half of last year's threat back in sprinter Rick Wood.

In Class D the bargaining will be between De Witt, Loomis, and Culbertson with Sumner and Snyder also in position to score heavily.

Qualifying pace-setters in the two classes were Ravenna with 11 state berths in C and Sumner and Harrisburg with 8 in D.

Class C has 3 defending champions back plus two lads who are ahead of class records.

Champs are Wymore's Wood, who tied the class 220 record of 22.6 last year after running 3rd in the 100; Bertrand's Schaefer in the broad jump but who also is a 100-220 threat; and Pawnee City's Frank Graham in the mile.

Norfolk Burns quarter-miler Tom McGrane posted a :50.2 time in the district, .4 of a second faster than the state C record.

Oshkosh heavyweight Larry White has gone 53-10½ in the shot put while that record is 53-1¾. White has consistently been in the 53-foot range.

The Class C sprints should be outstanding with Wood drawing competition from Schaefer, Grant sophomore Bill Daiss, Arlington's Steve Bluma, and Utica's Dan Cradick, they may crack 10.0 in the 100.

In Class D, the small school hope for a Gold Medal winner is Dennis Thorell of Loomis who last year shared the high hurdle all-class award with Fairbury's Bob Smith.

Thorell is the favorite in both D hurdle events and the broad jump.

He was second last year in the lows and broad jump.

Anther returning D champion is Elsie high jumper Dennis Colson. But he is an underdog to Diller's Steve Krebs who went 6-3¾ in district action, 1½ inches above Colson's state record set last year.

Two of the busiest D performers will be De Witt's Roy Smith (who should score — maybe win 3 — in the 220, 440, broad jump, and pole vault) and Snyder's Harlan Metschke, entered in the 100, 220, broad jump, shot put, and discus.

Sprint favorite is Culbertson's Jerry Judah who qualified in :10.2 and 22.0. Polk's Arlan Stromburg had the same qualifying times.

WHITE SOX HOLD AL MARGIN

...Herbert Hurls Shutout; A's Win

By Associated Press

Veteran right-hander Ray Herbert hurled his 4th straight shutout — one short of the major league record — and pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 victory over Detroit Tuesday night.

The victory enabled the American League leading White Sox to retain a one-game margin over Kansas City, which moved into second place with a 5-2 triumph at Cleveland.

Herbert spaced 6 hits in gaining his 5th shutout of the season. The last 4 have come in order. The record is 5 straight by Doc White of the White Sox in 1904.

The 33-year-old Herbert, now 5-1 for the season, has 36 consecutive scoreless innings. The record is 56 by Walter Johnson in 1913.

Jim Landis drove in all the White Sox runs on a homer and two-run single.

Kansas City rushed in 4 first inning runs, two on a double by Jerry Lumpe, then entrenched behind the 6-hit pitching of Ed Rakow for the victory over Cleveland.

Robin Roberts won his first of the season after 4 losses for Baltimore, firing a 4-hitter at Washington in the Orioles' 6-1 triumph.

New York ace Whitey Ford tossed a 5-hitter and got the benefit of an unearned run in the Yankees' 2-1 edge over Minnesota. Hector Lopez singled in the winning run after the Twins messed up two potential double plays in the 8th.

The Los Angeles Angels' game at Boston was rained out.

Braves End Loss String At 3 Games

By United Press International

Lefthander Warren Spahn survived an 11-hit shelling Tuesday night and singled in the winning run for a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals to snap a 3-game Milwaukee Braves losing streak.

The 42-year-old Spahn picked up his 5th win of the season against two losses, while Bob Gibson, who allowed 6 hits in 8 innings, was charged with the loss.

Spahn's key hit came in the 7th and sent home Roy McMillan who had singled and moved to 3rd on another single by Del Crandall.

Spahn almost didn't get through the second inning. With one out in the second, Stan Musial lined a ball at the aging hurler, striking him in the stomach. Spahn managed to make the play for the out and then fell to the ground. The game was delayed several minutes until it was determined he could stay in. The Braves announced Spahn had merely been winded by Musial's blow.

The Houston Colts extended their winning streak to 6 games by defeating the New York Mets, 4-3, on Dick Farrell's 5-hit pitching. Johnny Temple had 4 hits to lead the attack which enabled the Colts to equal the longest winning streak in their history.

Cal McLish pitched a 5-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1. McLish also hit two doubles and scored twice in the Phillies' 8-hit attack that enabled the Phillies to beat Don Drysdale after 13 straight losses to him dating back to 1958.

Jack Sanford, aided by the relief of Billy Pierce and Bob Bolin in the 9th, won the 100th victory of his career in the San Francisco Giants' 3-1 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Gilchrist Decks Policeman; Seven Charges Filed

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Professional football star Carlton (Cookie) Gilchrist floored a policeman with a punch Tuesday after he was arrested for a traffic violation, police said. He was booked on 7 charges, including assault.

Gilchrist, 27, Buffalo Bills fullback and player of the year in the American Football League last season, hit the policeman while handcuffed, police reported. They said 5 policemen were needed to put the 243-pound Gilchrist into a cell.

Gilchrist entered no plea to the charges in City Court. He was released without bail and his case adjourned to May 28.

The charges were second-degree assault, a felony; disorderly conduct; refusing the reasonable request of a policeman; profanity; and failure to stop for a stop sign and failure to produce driver's license and auto registration.

No. 1 And Rightly So

The 1,200 or so fans who wandered over to the Nebraska baseball diamond Saturday morning while waiting for the track meet to start were rewarded with some excellent baseball on the part of Missouri, currently ranked No. 1 in the country and rightly so.

The Tiger team that swept 3 games from the Huskers without even breaking into a sweat could possibly be the best college '9' since the 1961 Southern California team that sent nearly the entire team into professional baseball after winning the College World Series in Omaha.

Missouri's hitters are belting the ball at a .305 clip after the Nebraska series—enough to make a pitcher think about turning his talents to playing the trombone in the school band.

The Tigers have no one who can be considered a patsy with the stick and any of the 5 Husker hurlers who faced this potent lineup the past weekend will testify to this.

Missouri, under the direction of veteran coach John (Hi) Simmons, presents all that a coach could ask for in any baseball team. They have the hitting, tight pitching and a stingy defense. With Rich Peterson, Larry Bohannon, Jack Stroud and Keith Weber as a Big 4, the price of runs comes mighty high.

Stroud's 2.45 ERA is the highest of this quartet with Peterson and Weber both well under 1.00 and Bohannon just over 1.00.

And major league scouts claim the Tigers have pitchers sitting on the bench who could be stars with any other Big 8 outfit.

Missouri's defense gives the hurlers plenty of help with few balls getting through the infield that aren't hit solidly at a hole. The Tigers committed only two errors in 23 innings against the Huskers.

John Simmons Jr., the coach's son, is undoubtedly the best fielding shortstop in the league as the rangy 6-4 sophomore wanders far and wide snagging ground balls.

The Tigers will make the Big 6 an excellent representative in the College World Series, providing they win the Big 8 and then get by their playoff foe—probably Bradley. And unless the entire team comes down with some dread disease, there is no reason to think that they won't make the big show in Omaha.

And causing opposing Big 8 coaches to shudder and maybe hope for a raid from the major leagues is the fact that only two regulars plus two of the pitchers are seniors.

Only centerfielder Carroll McDannold and first baseman Gene McArtor are seniors among the regulars. Bohannon and Peterson are the two pitching aces who are seniors. All 4 are bound to sign pro contracts about the middle of June.

Major league scouts are also casting envious glances at Tiger underclassmen such as catcher John Sevcik and 3rd baseman Dave Harvey, both of whom are hefty stickers.

Missouri's last NCAA championship came in 1954, but as the No. 1 team in the country and on the basis of their showing last weekend, they must be given the favorite's role in this year's College World Series.

Stuart Remembers Lincoln

Dick Stuart, former Lincoln slugger and now with the Boston Red Sox, sends greetings, through John Hergert, to his Lincoln friends.

Hergert, a veteran umpire in the Lincoln area and now working as a scout with the Kansas City A's, visited with Stuart during the Red Sox' last visit to Kansas City.

John reports that Stuart was very much interested in what was happening in Lincoln and inquired about numerous friends, such as Don Bryant and Dick Becker, former sports editors of the Lincoln Star and Lincoln Journal, A. Q. Schimmel, Vaulx Risser, and many others.

Stuart has not forgotten his Western League days in Lincoln and Lincoln certainly will never forget the big slugger's long blasts at Sherman Field.

NU Netters Blank NDS

Jeff Wu dropped the first set to North Dakota State's Dave Herstap, 3-6, but came back to win the next two sets, 7-5, 6-2, to take the only 3-set match.

Dick Gibson (N) def. Dave Nammar, 6-1, 7-5.
Dave Wohlfarth (N) def. Skip Knutson, 6-1, 6-4.
Rick Harley (N) def. Mike Yahna, 6-2, 6-0.
Jeff Wu (N) def. Dave Herstad, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.
Dick Woods (N) def. Pat McDonald, 6-4, 6-2.
Gibson-Wohlfarth (N) def. Nammar-Knutson, 6-2, 6-0.

Illinois Vetoes Bill That Would Ban Noisemakers

Springfield, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House defeated Tuesday a bill seeking a ban on mechanical noisemakers at athletic events.

Rep. Claude Walker, R-Forest Park, who sponsored the bill, said sirens, air horns and cowbells spoil attractions for most spectators.

Rep. Robert Austin, R-East Moline, in leading opposition to the measure, said he was against any law that would penalize the fans.

He also objected because the bill "does not mention the most serious matter of all — throwing pop bottles at officials."

McCloughan May Miss Big 8 Meet

Nebraska's hopes for adding the Big 8 outdoor track championship to the indoor title gained last winter were dealt a severe jolt at Seacrest Field on All Sports Day.

Prize sophomore sprinter Kent McCloughan, who dazzled the football faithful with an 88-yard kickoff return for a Red touchdown, came out of the game with a severe ankle sprain.

Husker track coach Frank Sevigne said Tuesday McCloughan's status "doesn't look very encouraging" and indicated there was a possibility the Broken Bow speedster might not be able to make the trip to Manhattan for the Big 8 show Friday and Saturday.

"We're hoping for the best," Sevigne said. "Kent is slated for more treatment and we hope he can work out this week. But there is a definite possibility he'll be unable to make the trip."

Gubbrud Raps Husker Solons

. . . 'STATEMENTS UNFORTUNATE'

Pierre, S.D. (UPI) — Gov. Archie Gubbrud said Tuesday recent statements by two Nebraska legislators were "unfortunate."

Sens. George Syas of Omaha and LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul have vowed to fight the ratification by the Nebraska legislature of a proposed compromise agreement between Nebraska and South Dakota on fishing rights in the Gavins Point Dam tailwaters area.

Bahensky, who said he would join Syas in an attempt to sidetrack the agreement, said the pact is "all in South Dakota's favor."

Gubbrud said, "I felt and I'm sure the Nebraska governor, attorney general and boundary commission agreed, that we had arrived at a very fair compromise for the benefit of everybody concerned."

Bahensky called the agreement, reached in Omaha Friday, an "inequitable compromise" and advised South Dakotans "that they better buy Nebraska licenses when fishing in this state."

He said he was surprised that Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison relinquished fishing rights in the tailwaters to South Dakota.

The agreement, which was proposed by Gubbrud, placed the contested area in Nebraska but provided reciprocal hunting and fishing rights.

Nebraska Game Commis- Director Melvin O. Steen is chief among the opponents of the reciprocal agreement. He has predicted that the Nebraska Legislature will refuse to ratify the agreement.

Gubbrud said Tuesday, "we must remember that this land belongs to and is being developed by the corps of engineers. Neither state owns it and neither state should restrict its use. It should be for the benefit of all."

Eight Records May Fall In Big 8 Meet

By Associated Press

Eight meet records could be surpassed or equalled, 5 by Colorado athletes, in the Big 8 Outdoor Track Championships Friday and Saturday at Manhattan, Kan.

Four meet marks already have been surpassed by Big 8 athletes during the current outdoor season and 4 others have been closely approached —3 of them by a scant one-tenth second.

Pat McNeal of Kansas State twice has dipped under the mile record of 4:06.2 by Oklahoma's Gail Hodgson in 1959. McNeal's best is 4:05.3. He'll be pressed by Jim Griffith, Colorado, who has run 4:09.6, and Mike Fleming of Nebraska, the champion last year in 4:08.1.

The high jump record of 6-8½ by Missouri's Bob Lang in 1956 seems certain to go. Colorado's Leander Durley has cleared 6-8¾ outdoors and set a conference indoor mark of 6-10¼. Larry Eilert of Iowa State, has been over 6-8 several times. Russ Laverty of Oklahoma State and Ross Tunnell of Missouri both have cleared 6-7¼.

Colorado's mile relay team ran 3:10.1 in the Kansas Relays, .4 seconds under the meet record. Dick Burns of Colorado has run the 220 in 20.8, under the 20.9 meet record. Oklahoma State's Charles Strong owns a 20.9.

Missouri's Greg Pelster could break the 880 record of 1:50.0 if pressed. His best is 1:50.4 with unofficial clockings of 1:48.7 and 1:47.5. Nebraska's Ray Knaub has run a 9.5 100 and his career low equals the meet record of 9.4 Burns twice has run 9.6.

Jim Miller of Colorado 3 times has run 14.1 in the high hurdles compared to the meet record of 14.0. Colorado's 40.8 in the 440 relay is just off the record of 40.7 and Nebraska has run 40.9.

Colorado, Missouri and Oklahoma State will battle for the team title with Nebraska's indoor champs holding only a long shot chance. Kansas could break into the top 4.

Gubbrud Raps Husker Solons

. . . 'STATEMENTS UNFORTUNATE'

Pierre, S D (UPI) — Gov Archie Gubbrud said Tuesday recent statements by two Nebraska legislators were "unfortunate"

Sens George Syas of Omaha and LeRoy Bahensky of St Paul have vowed to fight the ratification by the Nebraska legislature of a proposed compromise agreement between Nebraska and South Dakota on fishing rights in the Gavins Point Dam tailwaters area

Bahensky, who said he would join Syas in an attempt to sidetrack the agreement said the pact is "all in South Dakota's favor"

Gubbrud said "I felt and I'm sure the Nebraska governor, attorney general and boundary commission agreed, that we had arrived at a very fair compromise for the benefit of everybody concerned"

Bahensky called the agreement, reached in Omaha Friday, an "inequitable compromise" and advised South Dakotans "that they better buy Nebraska licenses when fishing in this state"

He said he was surprised that Nebraska Gov Frank B Morrison relinquished fishing rights in the tailwaters to South Dakota

The agreement which was proposed by Gubbrud, placed the contested area in Nebraska but provided reciprocal hunting and fishing rights

Nebraska Game Commission Director Melvin O Steen is chief among the opponents of the reciprocal agreement He has predicted that the Nebraska Legislature will refuse to ratify the agreement

Gubbrud said Tuesday, we must remember that this land belongs to and is being developed by the corps of engineers Neither state owns it and neither state should restrict its use It should be for the benefit of all

Rail Advance Helps Market

New York (AP)—Rails rallied on hopes that a national railway strike may be averted and helped keep a flatering stock market on an even keel Tuesday. Trading was moderately active.

Substantial gains were made by a number of leading carriers on news that a presidential panel reported that the issues between the railroads and the brotherhoods have been narrowed and an agreement could be reached. The panel laid down broad guidelines for gradual removal of most firemen from freight and yard trains—the central issue in a work rules dispute that threatens a rail strike June 12.

Pennsylvania Railroad, the nation's biggest, was seventh most active stock and up ⅜ at 16¼. Great Northern advanced 1⅞, Nickel Plate 1⅛, Northern Pacific 1⅝.

The industrial section of the market, however, was down sharply. A 1-point drop by General Motors was linked with a report that sales of Chevrolets and Buicks compared unfavorably with a year ago.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.17 to 719.84 — but the Dow Jones composite average of 30 industrials, 20 rails and 15 utilities gained .10 at 256.02. The rails spurted 1:66 to 166.31.

Of 1,334 issues trade, gainers outnumbered losers by 578 to 495. Highs for the year totaled 127 and lows 10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .1 to 272.6, another of its string of historic highs. Industrials were off 1.6, rails were up 1.8 and utilities .3, both to 1963 highs.

Eight of the 15 most active advanced, 5 declined, and 2 were unchanged.

Gillete was the most active stock, falling 2⅞ to 32½ on 97,000 shares.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Intelligently Planned Budget Boon To Marital Happiness

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

Mastery of the art of money management is a boon to marital happiness.

Much of the public discussion of the high rate of divorce in the United States is off the beam. The statistical compilation of causes of marital breakups is unrealistic. The stated reasons are frequently mere rationalizations and, in view of the rigidity of divorce statutes, the ex parte pleadings tend to be twisted to fall within legalistic concepts.

Spiritual leaders, who intend to cement the marriage relationship, sometimes unwittingly move in the opposite direction by disseminating fallacious concepts about money. In an effort to downgrade materialism and stimulate interest in ideals, there is some confusion of thought. While material wellbeing is certainly not the sole objective of the human adventure, money is a tool which is needed for food, shelter, clothing, comfort goods, and even the pursuit of culture. Money can be disregarded only by those who reject material wellbeing and for philosophic reasons elect a life of poverty—one of "sack cloth and ashes."

The remedy is not to be found in a gimmick, such as a standardized family budget as worked up by financial institutions. Such average budgets, or financial designs for living, at best create a basis for study and analysis. The useful budget is one that is tailored to the peculiar goals and aspirations of a given family unit. Thus, one group might want to economize on housing, motor cars and physical goods in order to expend financial resources available for lectures, concerts, theatre, books, and travel. Another might choose a simple home in order to release funds for a boat.

The key to practical success in budget making is to transform it into a voluntary, cooperative family affair, in which all members, in varying degrees, participate. Unless the spouse and the children have an intelligent understanding of the human considerations behind the technique for self discipline, irritation and conflict inevitably develop. Dad should not be cast in role of the villain in the family drama who is always the "no" man. Other members of the household should be motivated to work together harmoniously for the common good.

In numerous families, there are two or more breadwinners, and this trend helps toward mutual understanding of family money problems. In other cases, where the father is the sole income earner, it has been found to be a prudent division of labor to transform the wife into the family bookkeeper, one of whose duties is to live financially within the budget.

It is visionary to regard dad in emotional terms as an inexhaustable reservoir of funds. This assumption overlooks the fact that he is mortal, and may not be around for the full actuarial expectancy of his own age group. Accordingly, it is in the interest of the entire family to divert some current income from buying things into acquiring intangibles, such as a life insurance contract which will protect the family from the economic catastrophe of his premature death.

Similarly, even if his life tenure is destined to come up to average expectations, he faces other hazards as an income producer—illness, accident, unemployment, business adversity, and eventually outliving his years of optimum productivity. In accounting terms, this means that each year dad is consuming part of his human capital in the form of energy and up-to-dateness. Against this hidden cost it is wise to set aside capital funds — savings out of income — as reserves against contingencies. These reserves can take the form of stocks, bonds, saving accounts, cash surrender value life insurance, mutual funds, Common Trust Funds, and revocable trusts.

Unduly Negative

Psychologically, thrift as ordinarily presented is unduly negative. It is a mistake to merchandise saving and investing merely as something that provides benefits only in the distant future. Properly understood, such imaginative adjustment to the uncertainties of the years ahead yields immediate satisfaction in the form of peace of mind.

It is misleading to view thrift as being in conflict with spending, which brings immediate desirable results. Instead of being the antithesis of spending, saving is a device for assuring the right and the ability to spend throughout the life span. On the other hand, unplanned extravagance here and now robs an old couple of buying power in the future.

The family-life financial plan is consistent with harmony only if it is a co-operative affair — voluntarily subscribed to by all members of the group.

The basis of such discipline is knowledge that income is limited, and that budgeting is a matter of selection and rejection of present offerings.

Any one who thinks that this proposal for a joint family venture involves yielding primarily by the wife and children has missed the basic point. Dad in this new relationship must give up the role of family dictator. He must grant some degree of freedom of choice to the others, though obviously the family's total spendable income puts a ceiling on the expenditure side. It would obviously be destructive for others to gang up on dad and put through schemes which would leave him without incentives.

Co-operation in family planning obviously does not mean giving non-adult members an equal vote. Certainly in the last analysis the income producer, while recognizing the human values in giving discretion to others in the family, must retain a veto power.

All Grains Close Easier To Weak

Chicago (AP) — Moderate to heavy pressure drove the grain futures market into stop loss selling in numerous spots Tuesday on the Board of Trade. It never fully recovered and all commodities finished easier to weak.

May wheat, with the showdown day only a week away on a large opening interest, skidded 4½ cents a bushel. Brokers said the selling was toward evening up of commitments in the contract and withdrawal from further trading in it.

That contract shows the largest open interest of any expiring month on the exchange. At the close of Monday's market it still was a large 22.8 million bushels, almost twice as large as the figure for May soybeans and more than twice that for May corn.

Wheat was unchanged to 4½ cents a bushel lower at the close, May $2.02¾-03; corn ⅜-½ lower, May $1.19⅝-¾; oats ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, May 69¼ cents; rye ¾-1⅛ lower, May $1.27⅛; soybeans 1-1⅝ lower, May $2.62⅜-½.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Intelligently Planned Budget Boon To Marital Happiness

By Merryle S Rukeyser

Rukeyser

Mastery of the art of money management is a boon to marital happiness

Much of the public discussion of the high rate of divorce in the United States is off the beam The statistical compilation of causes of marital breakups is unrealistic The stated reasons are frequently mere rationalizations and, in view of the rigidity of divorce statutes, the ex parte pleadings tend to be twisted to fall within legalistic concepts

Spiritual leaders, who intend to cement the marriage relationship, sometimes unwittingly move in the opposite direction by disseminating fallacious concepts about money In an effort to downgrade materialism and stimulate interest in ideals, there is some confusion of thought While material wellbeing is certainly not the sole objective of the human adventure, money is a tool which is needed for food, shelter, clothing, comfort goods, and even the pursuit of culture Money can be disregarded only by those who reject material wellbeing and for philosophic reasons elect a life of poverty—one of "sack cloth and ashes"

To sneer at money while seeking a high standard of living is to invite trouble and conflict

The remedy is not to be found in a gimmick such as a standardized family budget as worked up by financial institutions Such average budgets, or financial designs for living, at best create a basis for study and analysis The useful budget is one that is tailored to the peculiar goals and aspirations of a given family unit Thus, one group might want to economize on housing, motor cars and physical goods in order to expend financial resources available for lectures, concerts, theatre, books, and travel Another might choose a simple home in order to release funds for a boat

The key to practical success in budget making is to transform it into a voluntary, cooperative family affair, in which all members, in varying degrees, participate Unless the spouse and the children have an intelligent understanding of the human considerations behind the technique for self discipline, irritation and conflict inevitably develop Dad should not be cast in role of the villain in the family drama who is always the "no" man Other members of the household should be motivated to work together harmoniously for the common good

In numerous families, there are two or more breadwinners, and this trend helps toward mutual understanding of family money problems In other cases, where the father is the sole income earner, it has been found to be a prudent division of labor to transform the wife into the family bookkeeper, one of whose duties is to live financially within the budget

It is visionary to regard dad in emotional terms as an inexhaustible reservoir of funds This assumption overlooks the fact that he is mortal, and may not be around for the full actuarial expectancy of his own age group Accordingly, it is in the interest of the entire family to divert some current income from buying things into acquiring intangibles, such as a life insurance contract which will protect the family from the economic catastrophe of his premature death

Similarly, even if his life tenure is destined to come up to average expectations, he faces other hazards as an income producer— illness, accident, unemployment, business adversity, and eventually outliving his years of optimum productivity In accounting terms, this means that each year dad is consuming part of his human capital in the form of energy and up-to-dateness Against this hidden cost it is wise to set aside capital funds — savings out of income — as reserves against contingencies These reserves can take the form of stocks, bonds, saving accounts, cash surrender value life insurance, mutual funds, Common Trust Funds, and revocable trusts

Psychologically, thrift as ordinarily presented is unduly negative It is a mistake to merchandise saving and investing merely as something that provides benefits only in the distant future Properly understood, such imaginative adjustment to the uncertainties of the years ahead yields immediate satisfaction in the form of peace of mind

It is misleading to view thrift as being in conflict with spending, which brings immediate desirable results Instead of being the antithesis of spending, saving is a device for assuring the right and the ability to spend throughout the life span On the other hand, unplanned extravagance here and now robs an old couple of buying power in the future

The family-life financial plan is consistent with harmony only if it is a co-operative affair — voluntarily subscribed to by all members of the group

The basis of such discipline is knowledge that income is limited, and that budgeting is a matter of selection and rejection of present offerings

Any one who thinks that this proposal for a joint family venture involves yielding primarily by the wife and children has missed the basic point Dad in this new relationship must give up the role of family dictator. He must grant some degree of freedom of choice to the others, though obviously the family's total spendable income puts a ceiling on the expenditure side it would obviously be destructive for others to gang up on dad and put through schemes which would leave him without incentives.

Co-operation in family planning obviously does not mean giving non-adult members an equal vote Certainly in the last analysis the income producer, while recognizing the human values in giving discretion to others in the family, must retain a veto power.

All Grains Close Easier To Weak

Chicago (AP) — Moderate to heavy pressure drove the grain futures market into stop loss selling in numerous spots Tuesday on the Board of Trade It never fully recovered and all commodities finished easier to weak

May wheat with the showdown day only a week away on a large opening interest, skidded 4½ cents a bushel Brokers said the selling was toward evening up of commitments in the contract and withdrawal from further trading in it

That contract shows the largest open interest of any expiring month on the exchange At the close of Monday's market it still was a large 22 8 million bushels almost twice as large as the figure for May soybeans and more than twice that for May corn

Wheat was unchanged to 4½ cents a bushel lower at the close May $2 03 [illegible] corn [illegible] lower May $1 19⅜ [illegible] oats [illegible] lower to [illegible] higher May 69¼ cents rye [illegible] lower May $1 27⅛ soybeans [illegible] lower May $2 62¾ [illegible]

Forum Airs Budget Film Pros, Cons

The question of Nebraska's budget procedure was aired at an open facts forum sponsored by the Lancaster County Democratic Women's Club at the Lincoln YWCA Tuesday night.

The controversial film on the Legislature's Budget Committee, produced by the Nebraska State Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Nebraska, was shown.

Following the film William O. Dobler, editor of The Lincoln Star, spoke as a representative of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce's "truth squad." Dobler presented a detailed analysis of the film, pointing out that facts in it were distorted.

He said, for example, that the figure given in the film for state funds spent on the University of Nebraska actually included money received from the federal government, athletics, alumni, gifts and grants.

Audience opinions generally were sympathetic with Dobler's report.

A woman asked whether those who had sponsored the film had also called for a reduction in state services. Dobler answered that as far as he knew they had not.

Attacking the film's statement that Nebraska administrators are controlling the legislators, Dr. A. Winter, professor of political science at the University of Nebraska, commented that the legislators have the power to investigate, appoint, and impeach administrators, and most important, to appropriate funds without which the administrator cannot act.

Another person commented that the film should have given consideration to the position of the executive in the budget making process.

Stromsburg Starts Annual Title Race

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Stromsburg — Off we go again.

The people of this usually peaceful community have launched their annual assualt on arch-rival Oakland.

He said the upcoming Swedish Festival, scheduled for June 21 and 22, should be the best in years.

"We've been planning and working on the thing for a year now," the spokesman said of the Commercial Club project.

Swedish Costumes

Highlighting the festival will be two parades, a baton exhibition by Joyce Burns, and a speech by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Oakland stages its colossal June 24-28 in conjuction with a centennial celebration.

"And you know," the Stromsburg booster noted, "Oakland has asked us to enter a couple floats in its parade. This is the first time they've ever done this."

The main speaker was assistant Postmaster Gen. Charles Ryan of Washington.

Krejdl Receives Merit Certificate For Saving Life

Geneva — A Milligan resident, Emil Krejdl, 39, has been awarded the Certificate of Merit by the American Red Cross for using his Red Cross training in first aid in saving a life. The presentation was made during a Red Cross meeting in Geneva.

Krejdl is credited with saving the life of Sandra Kaye Havel, 15, after an auto accident Dec. 28, 1961, by using mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Sandra was pinned under the wreckage of an auto which struck an iron bridge railing and plunged over the bridge into a gully about 20 feet below. Krejdl with the aid of Bernard Zeleny pulled the girl from the wreckage. By the time the ambulance arrived, the girl had recovered consciousness and had resumed breathing.

Krejdl is the 24th Nebraskan to receive the coveted Red Cross award since it was established in 1913.

Amendment Will Make Liquor Tax Deductible

Present law fails to make clear that the tax is levied against the consumer.

An amendment offered by Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha to a pending bill to increase liquor taxes, LB9, makes the change needed to make the tax deductible. The amendment was accepted without dissent.

good going! when you pack up Brand Names

Men with places to go, things to do, insist on Brand Names for their traveling companions. That's because—at every stop—they can depend on Brand Names apparel to pop out of their luggage fresh and ready. In fashion they're proud to wear. In fabrics and finishes that take any trip. Such wonders could only come from Brand Name makers with their years of know-how and extensive research. From the only makers that can be trusted for complete satisfaction, approved quality and top value. The maker's prestige and reputation, you see, are based on his Brand Name . . . that "good name" he has won against all competition. Good reasons, you'll agree, for you, too, to step out only with Leadership Brands . . . every time!

Forum Airs Budget Film Pros, Cons

The question of Nebraska's budget procedure was aired at an open facts forum sponsored by the Lancaster County Democratic Women's Club at the Lincoln YWCA Tuesday night.

The controversial film on the Legislature's Budget Committee, produced by the Nebraska State Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Nebraska, was shown.

Following the film William O. Dobler, editor of The Lincoln Star, spoke as a representative of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce's "truth squad." Dobler presented a detailed analysis of the film, pointing out that facts in it were distorted.

He said, for example, that the figure given in the film for state funds spent on the University of Nebraska actually included money received from the federal government, athletics, alumni, gifts and grants.

Audience opinions generally were sympathetic with Dobler's report.

A woman asked whether those who had sponsored the film had also called for a reduction in state services. Dobler answered that as far as he knew they had not.

Attacking the film's statement that Nebraska administrators are controlling the legislators, Dr. A Winter, professor of political science at the University of Nebraska, commented that the legislators have the power to investigate, appoint, and impeach administrators, and most important, to appropriate funds without which the administrator cannot act.

Another person commented that the film should have given consideration to the position of the executive in the budget making process.

Stromsburg Starts Annual Title Race

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Stromsburg — Off we go again.

The people of this usually peaceful community have launched their annual assault on arch-rival Oakland.

Both communities lay claim to the title of "Swedish Capital of Nebraska."

However, one Stromsburg backer vowed, "We'll show 'em once and for all this year."

He said the upcoming Swedish Festival, scheduled for June 21 and 22, should be the best in years.

"We've been planning and working on the thing for a year now," the spokesman said of the Commercial Club project.

Swedish Costumes

Most of the club's 75 members have either bought or made special Swedish outfits.

Highlighting the festival will be two parades, a baton exhibition by Joyce Burns, and a speech by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Oakland stages its colossal June 24-28 in conjuction with a centennial celebration.

"And you know," the Stromsburg booster noted, "Oakland has asked us to enter a couple floats in its parade. This is the first time they've ever done this."

Local residents have agreed to furnish a pair of floats.

Postmasters Tab Woman As President

Hastings (UPI)—The Nebraska Postmasters Association Tuesday selected a woman to serve as president during the coming year.

Mrs. Grace Armstrong of Arcadia was elected during the business meeting which closed the annual convention here.

Other officers elected were Virland Hollins, Valley, first vice president; I. J. Gemmell, Ogallala, second vice president, and A. L. Porr, Pawnee City, secretary-treasurer.

Elected to 3-year terms on the board of directors were Austin Scott of Mitchell; C. J. Souchanek of St. Paul, and Fred Schuman of Osceola.

The 1964 convention will be held in Grand Island.

The main speaker was assistant Postmaster Gen. Charles Ryan of Washington.

125 Workers At Cudahy Plant To Lose Their Jobs

Omaha (AP) — The Cudahy Packing Co. announced that it will lay off 125 workers in the next few weeks. The cuts will start this week with 30 workers being laid off.

Edward Cudahy, president of the firm, said two weeks ago that the new Omaha plant, costing $4,500,000, had lost money ever since it opened a year ago and all employes "are facing the problem of saving the plant for Omaha."

Krejdl Receives Merit Certificate For Saving Life

Geneva — A Milligan resident, Emil Krejdl, 39, has been awarded the Certificate of Merit by the American Red Cross for using his Red Cross training in first aid in saving a life. The presentation was made during a Red Cross meeting in Geneva.

Krejdl is credited with saving the life of Sandra Kaye Havel, 15, after an auto accident Dec. 28, 1961, by using mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Sandra was pinned under the wreckage of an auto which struck an iron bridge railing and plunged over the bridge into a gully about 20 feet below. Krejdl with the aid of Bernard Zeleny pulled the girl from the wreckage. By the time the ambulance arrived, the girl had recovered consciousness and had resumed breathing.

Krejdl is the 24th Nebraskan to receive the coveted Red Cross award since it was established in 1913.

Amendment Will Make Liquor Tax Deductible

Nebraska's Legislature moved Tuesday to make state liquor taxes a deductible item on the liquor purchaser's federal income tax return.

Present law fails to make clear that the tax is levied against the consumer.

An amendment offered by Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha to a pending bill to increase liquor taxes, LB9, makes the change needed to make the tax deductible. The amendment was accepted without dissent.

Haiti Avoids Possible U.N. Vote Loss; Not At Finance Meet

The strife-torn Caribbean country is the only U.N. member more than two years overdue on regular assessments, making it subject to loss of voting rights under the charter.

No record vote was taken by the assembly on moves admitting oil-rich Kuwait as its 111th member and tossing to its budgetary committee the problem of how to finance U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Chose Khan

The assembly by acclamation chose Muhammad Zafrullah Khan of Pakistan, president of the last General Assembly, to preside over the special session.

Haiti is expected to stay away from the session until it can make a payment on its arrears and thus become eligible to vote.

The United States took special interest in the situation on the grounds that it could set a precedent for action next year affecting the Soviet Union, France and other U.N. members who refuse to pay for the U.N. Congo or Middle East peacekeeping operations.

Refuse To Pay

All Soviet Bloc countries and France and a number of others have refused to pay for maintaining the U.N. peace force in the Congo. The Soviet Bloc has refused to pay for the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF), as have a number of Arab countries.

The last session of the General Assembly approved a World Court Advisory opinion that the peacekeeping costs should be in the same category as regular assessments.

If the non-paying countries including the Soviet Union and France maintain their present attitude they would be subject to loss of voting rights in any assembly that meets after next January.

Seek Formula

The assembly was called for the purpose of working out a formula for paying for peacekeeping operations that threaten to bankrupt the United Nations.

No agreement was reached in a special study group prior to the assembly session.

DEFENSE BILL PASSED

Washington (AP) — A bill authorizing military purchases totaling more than $15.3 billion cleared Congress Tuesday and was sent to President Kennedy.

The House approved a compromise ironing out differences with the Senate, and sent the measure to the White House at a level $44.4 million below that recommended by the President and the Pentagon.

The spending levels are subject to later appropriations, and Congress could trim them further when it comes time to vote the money.

Haiti Avoids Possible U.N. Vote Loss; Not At Finance Meet

United Nations (AP) — Haiti avoided a possible loss of its U.N. voting rights Tuesday by staying away from the opening session of a special general assembly on finances.

The strife-torn Caribbean country is the only U.N. member more than two years overdue on regular assessments, making it subject to loss of voting rights under the charter.

No record vote was taken by the assembly on moves admitting oil-rich Kuwait as its 111th member and tossing to its budgetary committee the problem of how to finance U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Chose Khan

Haiti is expected to stay away from the session until it can make a payment on its arrears and thus become eligible to vote.

The United States took special interest in the situation on the grounds that it could set a precedent for action next year affecting the Soviet Union, France and other U.N. members who refuse to pay for the U.N. Congo or Middle East peacekeeping operations.

Refuse To Pay

All Soviet Bloc countries and France and a number of others have refused to pay for maintaining the U.N. peace force in the Congo. The Soviet Bloc has refused to pay for the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF), as have a number of Arab countries.

The last session of the General Assembly approved a World Court Advisory opinion that the peacekeeping costs should be in the same category as regular assessments.

If the non-paying countries including the Soviet Union and France maintain their present attitude they would be subject to loss of voting rights in any assembly that meets after next January.

Seek Formula

The assembly was called for the purpose of working out a formula for paying for peacekeeping operations that threaten to bankrupt the United Nations.

No agreement was reached in a special study group prior to the assembly session.

DEFENSE BILL PASSED

Washington (AP) — A bill authorizing military purchases totaling more than $15.3 billion cleared Congress Tuesday and was sent to President Kennedy.

The House approved a compromise ironing out differences with the Senate, and sent the measure to the White House at a level $14.4 million below that recommended by the President and the Pentagon.

And $363.7 million of the military hardware authorization is earmarked for a project the administration opposes—construction of an extra pair of RS70 reconnaissance-strike airplanes.
